Turncoat Mobster Tells All

Isolationism 'Folly,' Kennedy Says

Touring JFK Warns Against Retreat Policy

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—President Kennedy, speaking in a state where strongly conservative doctrines have flourished, warned Thursday night that this nation can never return to the simpler days of isolationism.

"Such a policy of retreat," Kennedy said in his prepared address, "would be folly if we had our backs to the wall. It is surely even greater folly at a time when more realistic, responsible and affirmative policies have wrought such spectacular results."

And here the President gave his optimistic conclusion:

"The most striking thing about our world in 1963 is the extent to which the tide of history has begun to flow in the direction of freedom."

Three-Split-Level Day

His speech ended an unusual, three-split-level day. For at Great Falls, Mont., he lit into the Republicans for what he called blunders and private exploitation of natural resources.

Then the Kennedy tour moved to Hanford, Wash., and a new approach: that a new atomic generator he was dedicating would help keep this nation ahead of the Russians.

Finally, here at Salt Lake City, he turned to foreign affairs.

Speaking in the huge Mormon Tabernacle, Kennedy began with a concession that it is easy to long for the good old days.

He said "two world wars have clearly shown that, try as we may, we cannot turn our backs to the world outside. If we do, we jeopardize our economic prosperity. We jeopardize our political stability."

Three "Musts" To Remember

Kennedy put down these three things to remember:

"We must, first of all, recognize that we cannot remake the world simply by our command.

"Second, we must recognize that every nation determines its policy in terms of its own interest.

"Third, we must recognize that foreign policy in the modern world does not lend itself simply to black-and-white choices of good or evil."

At Hanford, Wash., en route to Salt Lake City, Kennedy dedicated an atomic generator that uses previously wasted steam to develop electricity.

Things like these, Kennedy said, are what keep a nation great.

Kennedy said the Soviet Union has goals designed to pull them from far behind into the front rank.

"Today we are far ahead," the President said, "and I am confident that we will stay ahead. We are able to use as much energy today—as much oil, coal, gas and water power—as the rest of the world combined."

He Wanted To See President

Police place a North Carolinian into a patrol wagon at the White House yesterday after he smashed through the main entrance gates of the Executive Mansion in a small truck. Police said the man had been identified as Doyle Allen Hicks, of Waynesville, N. C. Insistent about seeing President Kennedy about communism in North Carolina, the man barrelled his truck almost to the North Portico, main entrance to the White House, before guards stopped the vehicle. (AP Photofax)

White House Guards Seize Gate Crasher

Truck Driver Creates Consternation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A North Carolinian created alarm and consternation at the White House Thursday by crashing his truck through a street gate and nearly reaching the famed north portico entrance to the executive mansion.

"I want to see the President. The Communists are taking over in North Carolina," the driver, Doyle Allen Hicks, screamed as he was taken into custody by White House guards and secret service agents.

Hicks, 38, of Waynesville, N.C., was later taken to D. C. General Hospital for observation. Police said he was unarmed but the small pickup truck was reported to have narrowly missed a bystander as it sped through the gate and up the driveway to the pillared north portico.

President Kennedy was absent from the White House on his trip to the West but Mrs. Kennedy was on the ground floor of the mansion.

Caroline was attending a first-grade class in the White House at the time, presumably in the upstairs living quarters. John Jr. was out for a ride, a White House source reported.

As Hicks was carried struggling to a patrol wagon, he kept shouting he wanted to see the President.

He kept protesting to the police and secret service men: "I tell you, boys, you'd better get down to North Carolina. I tell you, you'd better get down there and see what's going on. They're killing people like flies."

His abortive effort to break into the heavily guarded White House occurred about noon when lunchtime pedestrian traffic was heavy on the Pennsylvania Avenue side of the President's home.

The two picket-type iron gates at the northwest entry were closed but not locked. The gate is used mainly by newsmen and White House personnel. There is a manned guard house within 10 feet of it and a driveway curves up to the north portico.

An eyewitness said Hicks, driving a truck belonging to the Hicks Heating & Plumbing Co. of Waynesville "came barreling right through, over the sidewalk and through the gates."

Two startled guards at the gate set out in pursuit as the truck sped up the driveway. Another on duty at the north portico rushed down a brief flight of steps to the driveway. Just short of the entry, Hicks brought his truck to a screeching halt and jumped out "screaming and yelling that he wanted to see the President of the United States."

The three guards quickly seized him and turned him over to secret service agents who appeared immediately on the scene.

Spain Extends U.S. Base Rights

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States and Spain agreed Thursday to extend U.S. base rights in Spain for another five years. The United States will give Spain continued aid and a bigger role in defense consultations.

The agreement was announced by Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Spanish Foreign Minister Fernando Castiella only six hours before the scheduled midnight expiration of the old 10-year pact for the U.S. bases.

The United States has operated three large air bases and a naval base in Spain under the agreement. U.S. strategists figure the strategic bases are an important part of Western Allied defense.

In negotiations leading up to the five-year renewal, Spain wanted continued U.S. aid and a greater recognition of its defense role.

Defense Chief Pleased After Viet Nam Tour

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara staged a dawn-to-dusk tour of U.S.-Vietnamese military positions in northern coastal sectors Thursday.

Aides said McNamara, chief of President Kennedy's war survey team, was pleased with what he saw and heard on a swing from Nha Trang, 200 miles northeast of Saigon, to the ancient capital of Hue, 300 miles farther north.

Arthur Sylvester, assistant secretary of defense, told newsmen that U.S. and Vietnamese officers in the field advised McNamara the Buddhist crisis has had no effect on the scale of military operations or the morale of Vietnamese troops.

One of the main reasons for McNamara's visit is to determine whether the political-religious differences that have torn this nation's main cities in the last four months have hurt—or are liable to hurt—the war effort against Communist guerrillas.

Sylvester said reports received by McNamara indicated the impact of demonstrations against the government of President Ngo Din Diem was markedly different in the countryside from that in the cities.

He said American military advisers and Vietnamese military officers who reported to McNamara were unanimous in this opinion. He also said the flow of intelligence from villagers has remained normal.

U.S. planes and helicopters took McNamara, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and their aides to four key regions in the first of several field trips on which McNamara proposes "to look under every bush and rock" to determine how the war is going.

McNamara and Taylor talked with American and Vietnamese officers, with a Communist Viet Cong prisoner and with several men who deserted guerrilla ranks to join the government forces.

IRS Launches Possibly Biggest Of Bookie Raids

WASHINGTON (AP) — Simultaneous gambling raids on bookmaking and numbers lottery operations across the nation were launched Thursday by special agents of the Internal Revenue Service.

A special agent of the IRS Intelligence Service here said this was another of the series of raids IRS has been staging and probably would be its biggest of the year.

Areas to be hit were not revealed and the agent said reports on the results, now coming in gradually, would be announced later.

Last May, on Kentucky Derby Day, IRS conducted a similar series of gambling raids in 43 separate cities in which 115 persons were arrested.

In Baltimore nine special agents of the Intelligence Division, accompanied by local police, arrested three persons after a raid on an apartment.

Charged with failure to have a $50 federal wagering stamp were Jacob J. Jaffa, 55; Patrick F. Bruno, 37, and Leonard A. Cohen, 42. Jaffa had been indicted by a grand jury on the same charge Tuesday.

The IRS said a $5,000 daily horses and numbers operation was being conducted in the apartment. The agents seized telephone equipment and gambling parrphernalia.

In a simultaneous raid in Capitol Heights, Md., just outside Washington, two persons were arrested by IRS agents for failure to have the $50 federal stamp. The two were identified by the IRS as John R. Tilghman, 33, of Hyattsville, Md., and Mrs. Lorea G. Lanier, 30, of Capitol Heights.

Five Havana Deaths Blamed On Weather

HAVANA (AP)—Queer weather conditions brought an outbreak of asthmatic ailments in the greater Havana area Wednesday night. Radio Havana announced five persons died and hospitals registered more than 200 patients.

The Health Ministry said an investigation has been ordered to determine the precise reason for the sudden rise in respiratory troubles. The radio, blaming an abrupt and rough atmospheric change, said all cases developed within an hour.

Hurricane Threatens Hispaniola

Edith Apparently Loses 'Eye'; Packs Winds Of 100 MPH

SAN JUAN, P.R. (UPI) —Hurricane Edith apparently lost its "eye" late Thursday but still packed a powerful punch of 100 mile an hour winds and torrential rains which threatened the Dominican Republic and Haiti.

Hurricane hunter aircraft were unable to locate a definite center to the season's fifth and largest tropical twister, the weather bureau reported.

Forecasters frankly admitted they were unable to interpret this disorganization of the storm immediately.

"Future movement is uncertain, but there are some indications that Edith may be turning to a more northerly course," an advisory said.

Warnings Posted

Even without a well - defined "eye," Edith was a powerful storm and a threat to anything in its path, weathermen emphasized.

The weather bureau estimated Edith to be about 160 miles south west of Ponce, P.R., near latitude 16.5 north, longitude 68.2 west. It was estimated to be going on a west northwest course at about 14 miles an hour.

"People in western Puerto Rico should listen for latest information in case the hurricane changes course and moves closer to western Puerto Rico and the Dominican Republic," the weather bureau warned Thursday night.

Hurricane and gale warnings posted over the politically - troubled island of Hispaniola were continued despite indications the tempest might be turning.

Heavy Seas And Rains

The double black checkered red hurricane flags flew over the Hispaniola peninsulas of Barohona, Dominican Republic, and Presque Isle du Sudoueste, Haiti, thrusting into the Caribbean. Gale warnings were posted elsewhere on the island.

Earlier in the day, forecasters predicted the hurricane would reach about 40 miles south of the southernmost point of the Dominican Republic by Friday morning.

Edith threw heavy sea swells and torrential rains late Thursday against the southern coast of Puerto Rico and police and civil defense crews began evacuation of persons from low lying areas.

U.S. Security Investigator Faces Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department said Thursday a letter of charges, of a nature which could lead to his discharge in 30 days, has been given Otto F. Otepka, chief of the Division of Evaulations in the department's Office of Security.

A State Department spokesman said the 48-year-old security investigator was given 10 days expiring Oct. 3 in which to answer the charges.

Press officer Richard I. Phillips refused to specify the charges. But in Dallas, Tex., Robert Morris, former chief counsel of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee, said he had heard that Otepka was accused of disclosing secret information to the Senate.

Morris said the essence of the charges is the Otepka "collaborated" with the present chief counsel of the subcommittee, J. G. Sourwine.

Morris called the charges "a travesty of justice."

"If Mr. Otepka collaborated with Sourwine, he collaborated with the U.S. Senate itself," Morris said. "this should not be considered a crime."

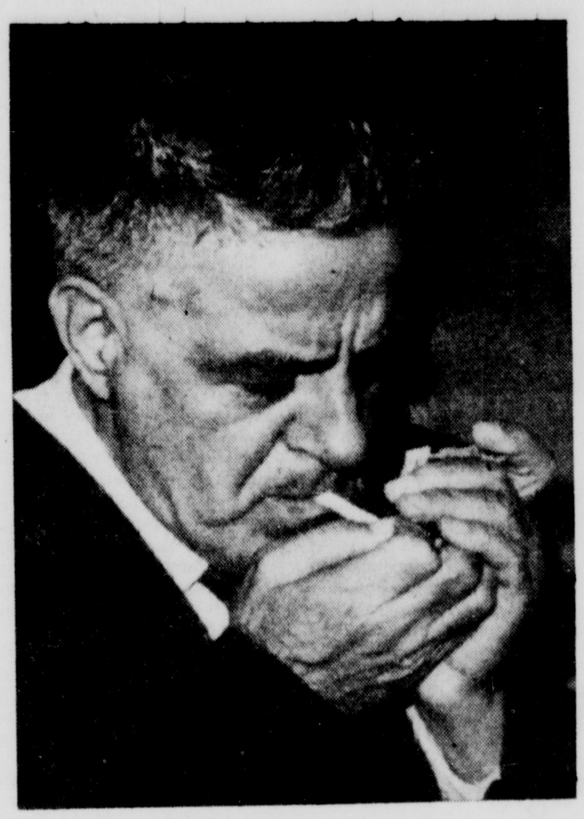

Morris now is president of the Defenders of American Liberty, a Dallas-based organization.

25 Dead, Missing In Mexico Storms

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Howling storms of near-hurricane proportions threatened Mexico Thursday night from both the Gulf of Mexico and Pacific Ocean. Torrential rains flooded sections of the interior.

A Mexico City newspaper reported 25 persons dead or missing.

One storm was reported moving in a line toward Baja California and the Weather Bureau said it would hit the peninsula, probably Friday. The other storm headed across the Gulf of Mexico menacing southern Mexico.

Talks On Wheat Sale To Russia Inconclusive

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Cabinet members met with two House committees Thursday on the subject of selling U.S. wheat to Russia. The result was inconclusive.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman called the meeting "useful and helpful." But Rep. Albert Quie, R-Minn., said it was a "big hassle" that produced no useful information.

Freeman was joined by Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges, who would have to issue the export license for any wheat sale to Russia. They spoke behind closed doors to members of the House Agriculture and Foreign Affairs committees.

After the meeting, there was a babble of conflicting views as dozens of congressmen streamed out.

The Kennedy administration has been trying to clear the way for a possible offer from the Soviet Union to buy surplus U.S. wheat to supplement short Soviet supplies.

An aide to Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman said the administration believes, from contacts that U.S. grain traders have had with the Soviets, that the Reds would like to acquire American wheat.

But it appeared that Moscow is waiting for clarification of U.S. policy on sales to Communist-bloc areas before making a firm offer.

The administration must decide whether it will provide wheat to the Soviets at the world price of $1.30 a bushel which is about 60 cents a bushel below the domestic price, and provide short - term credit.

The United States presently subsidizes exports of wheat to bring them down to the $1.30 per bushel world price level, but is prohibited under export regulations from making such subsidized wheat sales to the Soviets.

The final decision on whether subsidized wheat would be offered if the Soviet Union wants to buy will be made at the White House, with the Agriculture, Commerce and State Departments participating.

Heat Wave Closes Schools In Calif.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Temperatures soared toward record heights here Thursday as the thermometer reached 113 at noon in one suburb and many schools began dismissing classes.

Classes in two San Diego school districts also were closed when the mercury hit 111, tying the all-time high.

At Hollywood High School students staged a sitdown strike and camped on the lawn until the principal talked them out of it.

This was the second day of the worst heat wave in eight years and no relief is in sight. The weatherman said Friday could be even hotter. It was 107 Wednesday. The all-time high set in 1955 is 110.

New Dominican Regime Set Up Following Coup

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — A right-wing, anti-Communist junta installed a three-man provisional civilian government Thursday to replace President Juan D. Bosch, overthrown in a bloodless coup Wednesday.

It jailed 31 persons suspected of being Communists and kept up a hunt for more.

Bosch, a prisoner in his own guarded palace, was visited by his wife, Carmen, who flew in from Puerto Rico accompanied by two leading Puerto Rican officials.

The provisional government apparently will determine the fate of Bosch, who was accused by the military chiefs of being soft on communism and bringing the country to a state of chaos.

The three taking over control of the Dominican government are Dr. Ramon Tapia Espinal, Emilio de los Santos and Manuel Tavares Espaillat.

What would be done with Bosch, 54, a silver-haired, liberal intellectual, was uncertain, but it was believed he would be sent into exile in Puerto Rico.

Caroline And Classmates Taken For Ride In Blimp

WASHINGTON (AP)—Caroline Kennedy and her schoolmates put aside lessons on the first day of the new term at the White House school. They went for a blimp ride, instead.

The exciting adventure Wednesday included First Lady Jacqueline Kennedy and even John F. Jr., now nearly 3 years old.

A 157-foot long blimp waited for them at Dulles International Airport in Virginia. The children rode over in three White House special cars.

In three separate groups, they were taken for rides in the blimp's gondola, with its plexiglass view of the countryside below.

A passing bird, a cow below and the Kennedy's weekend retreat on Rattlesnake Mountain at Atoka, Va., attracted the sightseers.

John and Mrs. Kennedy went on the first of the 20-minute cruises as the blimp "Columbia," captained by James Maloney, native of Fort Smith, Ark., and resident of Los Angeles, piloted them in a slow flight 200 feet aloft.

The youngsters thought the ride was a lot like a boat: "It went up and down," one commented.

The blimp had been at the airport since Saturday, taking invited passengers up for rides and advertising the United Givers' Fund. It stayed over an extra day to take the White House pupils for a ride.

Mrs. Kennedy has thought up a number of excursions for her youngsters and sometimes the schoolmates are included.

Valachi Will Repeat Story On Television

Hoodlum Testifies On Crime Syndicate Before Senators

WASHINGTON (AP) — Turncoat mobster Joseph Valachi emerged from government-guarded hiding Thursday and spent 2½ hours telling senators what he knows about the vast world of crime in which he once moved.

In a closed-door session that amounted to a dress rehearsal for public hearings starting Friday, Valachi gave what senators termed frank and unrestrained testimony about the vast crime syndicate called Cosa Nostra—"our thing."

Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., of the Senate Investigations subcommittee told newsmen afterward that 90 per cent of what Valachi said Thursday probably will be repeated when he goes before television cameras in an open hearing room to talk about his onetime cronies.

Record 45 Years Long

Valachi, whose criminal record stretches through 45 of his 60 years, is said to have turned on his syndicate friends after deciding they had marked him for death as an informer.

The convicted dope peddler and murderer was expressionless, his eyes downcast, as he walked to the hearing room. He looked tense. But when he came out he had a broad, relaxed smile on his wrinkled face.

An escort of husky U.S. marshals towered over the short-stocky hoodlum as he walked the block-long corridor to and from the committee room.

McClellan said part of Valachi's testimony dealt with subjects the subcommittee has decided to keep secret for the present.

The Arkansas senator would not give details of anything Valachi said.

Gray Hair Now Brown

Photographs had shown Valachi—who has been under government wraps for more than a year—as a man with a bushy crop of gray hair.

But now his hair is close cropped and reddish brown. That prompted one reporter to ask McClellan whether it had been dyed in an effort to outwit the syndicate, which is said to want Valachi slain.

"I know nothing about his toilet preparations," said McClellan.

Government officials say crime overlords have put a $100,000 price tag on Valachi's head.

"If we let him out on the street, he'd be dead in half an hour," a Justice Department spokesman has said.

McClellan said he expects it will take five to six days of public hearings to get the story of gangland operations it expects from Valachi. Other witnesses will be put on the stand from time to time, McClellan said, to keep the testimony in focus.

Military Pay Boosts Voted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unanimous Senate passage Thursday sent to the House, for expected quick approval there, a pay increase starting next month for practically all members of the armed forces with over two years' service.

It would provide the fighting forces with their first general pay boost since 1958, at an annual cost of $1.2 billion a year.

The 79-0 Senate vote approved an original Senate version of the detailed pay scale agreed on in a Senate-House conference committee Wednesday. Dropped was a Senate provision which would have added from $20 to $50 a month for officers with less than two years service.

The pay hikes range as high as $120 monthly for majors and lieutenant commanders, a 21.2 per cent raise. Navy lieutenants and captains of the other services get a $115 monthly increase, 24 per cent.

In line for the biggest percentage increase, 25.7 per cent — aimed at keeping young officers in service—are first lieutenants and navy lieutenants, junior grade —a $95 monthly boost provided they have two years' service.

Egg Head Targets

NASA Denies Glenn Chosen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first flight of the Gemini spacecraft may come late next year, and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the crew for that earth-orbiting flight will not be selected until shortly beforehand.

In answer to a report by CBS' news commentator Charles von Fremd that Marine Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr., had been chosen as one member of the two-man flight team, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said:

"No selection of a Gemini crew member has been made, and there will not be any until shortly before the flight."

Most of the speculation by those close to the program has been that Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr., the nation's first astronaut, was the most likely choice to "pilot" the first Gemini flight, with one of the newer astronauts as his co-pilot.

Talks On Wheat Sale To Russia Inconclusive

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Cabinet members met with two House committees Thursday on the subject of selling U.S. wheat to Russia. The result was inconclusive.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman called the meeting "useful and helpful." But Rep. Albert Quie, R-Minn., said it was a "big hassle" that produced no useful information.

Freeman was joined by Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges, who would have to issue the export license for any wheat sale to Russia. They spoke behind closed doors to members of the House Agriculture and Foreign Affairs committees.

After the meeting, there was a babble of conflicting views as dozens of congressmen streamed out.

The Kennedy administration has been trying to clear the way for a possible offer from the Soviet Union to buy surplus U.S. wheat to supplement short Soviet supplies.

An aide to Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman said the administration believes, from contacts that U.S. grain traders have had with the Soviets, that the Reds would like to acquire American wheat.

But it appeared that Moscow is waiting for clarification of U.S. policy on sales to Communist-bloc areas before making a firm offer.

The administration must decide whether it will provide wheat to the Soviets at the world price of $1.30 a bushel which is about 60 cents a bushel below the domestic price, and provide short - term credit.

The United States presently subsidizes exports of wheat to bring them down to the $1.30 per bushel world price level, but is prohibited under export regulations from making such subsidized wheat sales to the Soviets.

The final decision on whether subsidized wheat would be offered if the Soviet Union wants to buy will be made at the White House, with the Agriculture, Commerce and State Departments participating.

Heat Wave Closes Schools In Calif.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Temperatures soared toward record heights here Thursday as the thermometer reached 113 at noon in one suburb and many schools began dismissing classes.

Classes in two San Diego school districts also were closed when the mercury hit 111, tying the all-time high.

At Hollywood High School students staged a sitdown strike and camped on the lawn until the principal talked them out of it.

This was the second day of the worst heat wave in eight years and no relief is in sight. The weatherman said Friday could be even hotter. It was 107 Wednesday. The all-time high set in 1955 is 110.

New Dominican Regime Set Up Following Coup

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — A right-wing, anti-Communist junta installed a three-man provisional civilian government Thursday to replace President Juan D. Bosch, overthrown in a bloodless coup Wednesday.

It jailed 31 persons suspected of being Communists and kept up a hunt for more.

Bosch, a prisoner in his own guarded palace, was visited by his wife, Carmen, who flew in from Puerto Rico accompanied by two leading Puerto Rican officials.

The provisional government apparently will determine the fate of Bosch, who was accused by the military chiefs of being soft on communism and bringing the country to a state of chaos.

The three taking over control of the Dominican government are Dr. Ramon Tapia Espinal, Emilio de los Santos and Manuel Tavares Espaillat.

What would be done with Bosch, 54, a silver-haired, liberal intellectual, was uncertain, but it was believed he would be sent into exile in Puerto Rico.

Valachi Will Repeat Story On Television

Hoodlum Testifies On Crime Syndicate Before Senators

WASHINGTON (AP) — Turncoat mobster Joseph Valachi emerged from government-guarded hiding Thursday and spent 2½ hours telling senators what he knows about the vast world of crime in which he once moved.

In a closed-door session that amounted to a dress rehearsal for public hearings starting Friday, Valachi gave what senators termed frank and unrestrained testimony about the vast crime syndicate called Cosa Nostra—"our thing."

Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., of the Senate Investigations subcommittee told newsmen afterward that 90 per cent of what Valachi said Thursday probably will be repeated when he goes before television cameras in an open hearing room to talk about his onetime cronies.

Record 45 Years Long

Valachi, whose criminal record stretches through 45 of his 60 years, is said to have turned on his syndicate friends after deciding they had marked him for death as an informer.

The convicted dope peddler and murderer was expressionless, his eyes downcast, as he walked to the hearing room. He looked tense. But when he came out he had a broad, relaxed smile on his wrinkled face.

An escort of husky U.S. marshals towered over the short-stocky hoodlum as he walked the block-long corridor to and from the committee room.

McClellan said part of Valachi's testimony dealt with subjects the subcommittee has decided to keep secret for the present.

Gray Hair Now Brown

Photographs had shown Valachi—who has been under government wraps for more than a year—as a man with a bushy crop of gray hair.

But now his hair is close cropped and reddish brown. That prompted one reporter to ask McClellan whether it had been dyed in an effort to outwit the syndicate, which is said to want Valachi slain.

"I know nothing about his toilet preparations," said McClellan.

Government officials say crime overlords have put a $100,000 price tag on Valachi's head.

"If we let him out on the street, he'd be dead in half an hour," a Justice Department spokesman has said.

McClellan said he expects it will take five to six days of public hearings to get the story of gangland operations it expects from Valachi. Other witnesses will be put on the stand from time to time, McClellan said, to keep the testimony in focus.

Military Pay Boosts Voted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unanimous Senate passage Thursday sent to the House, for expected quick approval there, a pay increase starting next month for practically all members of the armed forces with over two years' service.

It would provide the fighting forces with their first general pay boost since 1958, at an annual cost of $1.2 billion a year.

The 79-0 Senate vote approved an original Senate version of the detailed pay scale agreed on in a Senate-House conference committee Wednesday. Dropped was a Senate provision which would have added from $20 to $50 a month for officers with less than two years service.

The pay hikes range as high as $120 monthly for majors and lieutenant commanders, a 21.2 per cent raise. Navy lieutenants and captains of the other services get a $115 monthly increase, 24 per cent.

In line for the biggest percentage increase, 25.7 per cent — aimed at keeping young officers in service—are first lieutenants and navy lieutenants, junior grade —a $95 monthly boost provided they have two years' service.

NASA Denies Glenn Chosen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first flight of the Gemini spacecraft may come late next year, and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the crew for that earth-orbiting flight will not be selected until shortly beforehand.

In answer to a report by CBS' news commentator Charles von Fremd that Marine Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr., had been chosen as one member of the two-man flight team, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said:

"No selection of a Gemini crew member has been made, and there will not be any until shortly before the flight."

Most of the speculation by those close to the program has been that Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr., the nation's first astronaut, was the most likely choice to "pilot" the first Gemini flight, with one of the newer astronauts as his co-pilot.

IRS Launches Possibly Biggest Of Bookie Raids

WASHINGTON (AP) — Simultaneous gambling raids on bookmaking and numbers lottery operations across the nation were launched Thursday by special agents of the Internal Revenue Service.

A special agent of the IRS Intelligence Service here said this was another of the series of raids IRS has been staging and probably would be its biggest of the year.

Areas to be hit were not revealed and the agent said reports on the results, now coming in gradually, would be announced later.

Last May, on Kentucky Derby Day, IRS conducted a similar series of gambling raids in 43 separate cities in which 115 persons were arrested.

In Baltimore nine special agents of the Intelligence Division, accompanied by local police, arrested three persons after a raid on an apartment.

Charged with failure to have a $50 federal wagering stamp were Jacob J. Jaffa, 55; Patrick F. Bruno, 37, and Leonard A. Cohen, 42. Jaffa had been indicted by a grand jury on the same charge Tuesday.

The IRS said a $5,000 daily horses and numbers operation was being conducted in the apartment. The agents seized telephone equipment and gambling parrphernalia.

In a simultaneous raid in Capitol Heights, Md., just outside Washington, two persons were arrested by IRS agents for failure to have the $50 federal stamp. The two were identified by the IRS as John R. Tilghman, 33, of Hyattsville, Md., and Mrs. Lorea G. Lanier, 30, of Capitol Heights.

Five Havana Deaths Blamed On Weather

HAVANA (AP)—Queer weather conditions brought an outbreak of asthmatic ailments in the greater Havana area Wednesday night. Radio Havana announced five persons died and hospitals registered more than 200 patients.

The Health Ministry said an investigation has been ordered to determine the precise reason for the sudden rise in respiratory troubles. The radio, blaming an abrupt and rough atmospheric change, said all cases developed within an hour.

Caroline And Classmates Taken For Ride In Blimp

WASHINGTON (AP)—Caroline Kennedy and her schoolmates put aside lessons on the first day of the new term at the White House school. They went for a blimp ride, instead.

The exciting adventure Wednesday included First Lady Jacqueline Kennedy and even John F. Jr., now nearly 3 years old.

A 157-foot long blimp waited for them at Dulles International Airport in Virginia. The children rode over in three White House special cars.

In three separate groups, they were taken for rides in the blimp's gondola, with its plexiglass view of the countryside below.

A passing bird, a cow below and the Kennedy's weekend retreat on Rattlesnake Mountain at Atoka, Va., attracted the sightseers.

John and Mrs. Kennedy went on the first of the 20-minute cruises as the blimp "Columbia," captained by James Maloney, native of Fort Smith, Ark., and resident of Los Angeles, piloted them in a slow flight 200 feet aloft.

The youngsters thought the ride was a lot like a boat: "It went up and down," one commented.

The blimp had been at the airport since Saturday, taking invited passengers up for rides and advertising the United Givers' Fund. It stayed over an extra day to take the White House pupils for a ride.

Mrs. Kennedy has thought up a number of excursions for her youngsters and sometimes the schoolmates are included.

Egg Head Targets

LONDON (AP) — Six members of an athletic club offered their heads as targets to egg-throwers to raise money for children's sports activities. Marksmen tossed 1,200 eggs at 25 cents a throw, with each hit netting a cigar.

Soviet Guarantees Of Allied Position In Berlin Sought

NEW YORK (UPI)—The United States and Britain agreed Thursday that any non-aggression pact with the Soviet bloc should include specific guarantees of the allied position in Red encircled West Berlin.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and British Foreign Secretary Lord Home came to this conclusion, diplomatic informants said, during a lengthy discussion of a broad range of international issues. Topics included those they expect to discuss at their Saturday meeting with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

Rusk and Home, who met for 2 hours and 40 minutes, also deplored what they consider the "reckless" course being followed by Indonesian President Sukarno. They were understood to have been concerned particularly by his vow in a speech Wednesday to "destroy" the newly created Commonwealth country of Malaysia.

On another Asian front, the British and American ministers were said to have taken a critical view of President Charles de Gaulle's recent statement offering to inject France into the Viet Nam crisis in the role of a neutralizing peacemaker.

Rusk and Home also found themselves agreed in opposing another new proposal by De Gaulle —the French leader's suggestion earlier this week for a European nuclear force founded on the political unity of that area, which Britain might join if it met the terms.

The British and American officials, diplomatic sources said, are still of the opinion that any European nuclear deterrent without United States participation would not be worth much at this stage.

Officials said Rusk and the British minister found themselves unable to agree at this time on the terms under which Britain might participate in forthcoming talks among U.S., German, Italian, Turkish and Greek representatives on formation of the proposed NATO multilateral nuclear force.

'Mac' Rejects Idea Cabinet Members Quit

LONDON (UPI)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan Thursday night rejected suggestions of resignations by some cabinet members in the wake of the Profumo scandal and said he and his ministers had acted justly and honorably.

He told the nation by radio the entire cabinet had been taken in by the deceit of trusted colleague War Minister John Profumo—who lied before the House of Commons about his relations with call girl Christine Keeler.

"I thought that nobody would have been so wrong and so wicked and such a fool to have done such a thing," Macmillan said emotionally.

The prime minister vigorously defended his government's handling of the scandal, following release of a report which pointedly singled out Macmillan for failing in his responsibility.

Opposition Laborites, in full cry at the prospect of victory in forthcoming general elections, were demanding the 69-year-old Macmillan's resignation.

A special 65,000-word report released early Thursday by senior jurist Lord Denning absolved the security forces of blame in the Profumo case but said Macmillan and his colleagues should have known Profumo was lying.

"It was the responsibility of the prime minister and his colleagues and of them only, to deal with this situation; and they did not succeed in doing so," the Denning report said.

Macmillan was asked to comment on this statement during a radio interview with the British Broadcasting Corporation Thursday.

"Of course it was my responsibility," he said. "But we failed. We were deceived. But it puts the question in a form which I personally could not accept. We were deceived and in that sense we failed but that is not a question of integrity, good faith and honor."

Rights Agency Extension Bill Still On Shelf

WASHINGTON (AP) — The on-again, off-again plans of Senate leaders to bring up a bill to extend the life of the Civil Rights Commission were put off again Thursday.

The latest word from Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., the acting majority leader, was that action on the measure now will be sought on Monday.

Monday is the day the commission is to file its final report and technically go out of business, although it will have an additional 60 days in which to wind up its affairs. Meantime, Congress can act on the extender.

Humphrey had said a bill to extend the commission for one year would be brought up Thursday as an amendment to a measure already passed by the House to pay additional death compensation to the widow of an Army major killed in World War II.

Humphrey said he did not expect any major resistance by Southern senators despite their opposition to the creation of the commission in the 1957 civil rights act and to the two-year last-minute extensions of its life in 1959 and 1961.

Earlier in the week Senate leaders proposed indefinite extension of the commission's life and enlargement of its powers, but they abandoned that plan after Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., leader of the Dixie forces, announced it would meet with "very determined opposition."

Most-Wanted Fugitive Seized After Holdup

ANDERSON, S.C. (AP) — A gunman held up a branch of the First National Bank Thursday and minutes later police arrested one of the FBI's 10-most-wanted men in connection with the case.

Carl Close, 48, was in custody four minutes after the 11 a.m. robbery. He had a sackful of bills in $1 to $100 denominations and a loaded gun when arrested. The FBI said $28,262 was taken.

FBI agents verified that Close is on the 10 most wanted list through a fingerprint check.

A detective team cruising in the area arrested Close, who said he is a sheet metal worker from Florida.

The FBI said Close, who had lived and worked in Nakomia, Fla., was placed on the bureau's 10-most-wanted list Wednesday following bank robberies in Baltimore and Roanoke, Va.

The FBI said Close was convicted in 1949 of robbing two banks in Maryland and one in West Virginia and was sentenced to 35 years.

Close was wanted for the $21,078 robbery of the Edmondson Village branch of the Equitable Trust Co. of Baltimore last March 8, the FBI said, and the $6,330 robbery of Colonial American National Bank of Roanoke, Va., last June 4.

Keith Spalding Inaugurated As F&M President

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—Keith Spalding Thursday was formally inaugurated Thursday as president of Franklin and Marshall College.

Spalding was named to the post last February.

Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, president of Johns Hopkins University, set forth five goals in urging — his former assistant at Penn State and at Hopkins — to provide new leadership in education.

Eisenhower said educator must:

"View learning as a vital and continuing human process with emphasis on genuine understanding rather than mere knowledge . . .

"Practice what we preach in our catalogs about character building and love of freedom . . .

"Educate more generalists, more leaders who understand the totality of human existence, who are as skillful at devising a total program of peace and progress as specialists are in constructing the engines of destruction. . .

"Make the humanities more vital in education . . . they are meaningful only if they . . . equip a man to live creatively in his own times and contribute to them. . .

"Teach people to communicate with logic and clarity, for this is the prerequisite to understanding."

Jury Selection In Fraud Case To Start Oct. 14

BALTIMORE (AP) — Federal prosecutors and defense attorneys agreed Thursday to begin selecting a jury Oct. 14 in the mail fraud trial of a Maryland political leader, two Chicago businessmen and a Utah real estate developer.

The trial is expected to begin Oct. 21.

Chief Judge Roszel C. Thomsen accepted the agreement in the fourth day of pretrial arguments. Defense attorneys are arguing eleven motions involving the admission of evidence, moving the trial to a western state, postponement of the trial and sequestering the jury.

Charged in the case are A. Gordon Boone, former speaker of the Maryland House of Delegates; C. Oran Mensik, Chicago financier; his attorney, Henry McGurren, and D. Spencer Grow of Provo, Utah.

The group is charged with forming and operating Security Financial Insurance Corp., formerly the state's only authorized private insurer of funds in savings and loan firms. The government charges the firm used the mails to solicit deposits by using misleading advertising.

The hearing on the pre-trial motions is to continue next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Two other Baltimore County men were charged in the March 1 indictment against the four now on trial.

Charles F. Culver, a former delegate to the Maryland House, pleaded no contest to the charges and waits sentencing. J. Thomas Ellicott, attorney and insurance man, was granted a separate trial after his conviction in another mail fraud case involving savings and loan firms.

Maryland News In Brief

BALTIMORE (AP) — Theodore R. McKeldin, Republican mayor of Baltimore, says the administration of Sen. Barry Goldwater, if he were elected president, would resemble that of former President Dwight Eisenhower.

McKeldin, former Maryland governor, said he would support Goldwater if the Arizonian won the Republican presidential nomination although he would prefer a more liberal candidate, such as New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.

Goldwater "knows you can't unscramble the eggs," McKeldin said, adding that set policies would have to be followed and obligations met.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The trial of Mrs. Jane D. Zantzinger on disorderly conduct and assault charges has been postponed. Her attorney had to appear in court on another matter Thursday, when the trial had been scheduled.

Mrs. Zantzinger is accused with assaulting Patrolman Warren Todd last Feb. 9 at a society ball. Her husband, William Zantzinger, was arrested at the same dance on charges of striking barmaid Hattie Carroll.

Mrs. Carroll died next day and Zantzinger later was convicted of manslaughter and is serving a six-month jail sentence.

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI praised the work of Georgetown University and extended his blessing to all Roman Catholics in the United States Thursday in a special telecast beamed to Washington, D.C., via the Telstar satellite.

The pontiff spoke in English in an address commemorating the 175th anniversary of the founding of the Jesuit University in Washington, D.C. He said he was extending a special blessing "to all our children in the United States of America."

His message was addressed to the rector, faculty, students and alumni of Georgetown University.

EMMITSBURG, Md. (AP) — St. Joseph College will confer an honorary degree on Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, mother of President Kennedy, at a convocation Oct. 5.

Other honorary degrees will go to the Most Rev. Lawrence J. Shehan, Catholic archbishop of Baltimore, and Miss Sarah Christie, assistant superintendent of schools in New Jersey.

The convocation speaker will be the Very Rev. Edward J. Burke, president of St. John's University in New York.

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland Association of Real Estate Boards will hold its annual fall conference Oct. 18-19 in Hagerstown.

J. Fred Flowers of Salisbury, chairman of the conference, said officers and directors would be elected. The current president is Woodrow W. Nelson of Princess Anne.

State Sen. George E. Snyder, D-Washington, will address the real estate men on how economic development in Maryland helps their business.

South Africa Bloc's Target

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The strong African bloc is putting finishing touches on a strategic campaign aimed at depriving South Africa of its vote at the current session of the General Assembly.

This was reported Thursday by sources close to the leadership of the 32-nation group, the largest single bloc at the United Nations.

Portugal is also the target of the group, but final strategy against that nation has not yet been decided. The group is made up mainly of newly independent African nations who are bitter foes of South Africa's racial segregation laws and Portugal's policies in her African territories.

Senegalese Foreign Minister Doudou Thiam surprised the assembly Wednesday by declaring that the African nations would present a resolution calling for expulsion of Portugal. But the sources close to the African leadership said a final decision is still to be reached.

Lodge Labels 'Dragon Lady' Remark Cruel

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu dueled at long range Thursday about her description of U.S. junior officers in Saigon for the anti-Communist war as irresponsible "little soldiers of fortune."

Lodge charged the remark was cruel and insulting.

It was leveled by South Viet Nam's chic, vitriol-tongued first lady at a Rome news conference Sunday against subordinate officers in the U.S. military mission.

In his first public political statement directed against a member of President Ngo Dinh Diem's official family since he arrived in Saigon Aug. 22 at the height of the Buddhist crisis, Lodge said:

"It is incomprehensible to me how anyone can speak so cruelly. It is a shocking statement. These junior officers are risking their lives every day. Some of them have been killed side by side with their Vietnamese comrades."

The sister-in-law and official hostess of Diem brushed aside Lodge's criticism and declared there were adventurers and saboteurs within the officers' ranks, opposing Washington policy.

"South Viet Nam, with a population of only 14 million people and a tight control due to war, cannot always prevent infiltration and sabotage in the ranks of its officials," Mrs. Nhu told Rome newsmen.

"It is normal that the United States, with a population of hundreds of millions (sic) and maybe a looser control, can find certain adventurers and saboteurs among their junior officials who do not hesitate to betray the official policy of their government."

Rain-Making Try Set At York

YORK, Pa. (AP)—A professional rain-making firm will try to relieve the York area's critical water shortage, two York County water companies and a paper manufacturer reported Thursday.

A spokesman said, "a continued lack of rainfall will create a crisis which will force the closing of industrial plants and will cause spread unemployment."

The water shortage is the most critical since 1954, when the paper manufacturer — P. H. Glatfelter Co., Spring Grove—hired the rainmaking firm to produce rainfall in its area.

The firm is W. E. Howell and Associates of Cambridge, Mass.

The 1954 rainmaking effort was successful, the local spokesman said.

Participating with Glatfelter in hiring the Cambridge firm were the York and Hanover Water companies.

The spokesman said Howell has equipment ready to go as soon as rain clouds appear in the area. Howell uses silver iodide crystals which are formed into a mist that can rise up to 10,000 feet to reach cloud banks.

Touring JFK

In theory this is a nonpartisan trip, but it didn't take as astute a politician as Kennedy long to discover that nonpartisanship can be frightfully dull.

Perhaps that's the reason why earlier in Great Falls, Mont., he unleashed his sharpest attack of what otherwise has often been a listless tour.

"In the past three years," Kennedy said, "there have been no Hells Canyon blunders. Our land has not been exploited by private mineral interests without full compensation to the public."

The Hells Canyon reference was to a decision by the Dwight D. Eisenhower administration not to build a big public dam and later to permit three smaller ones to be constructed by private power companies.

Miners Meet, Plan Strategy

WASHINGTON (AP)—A group of dissident coal miners from Pennsylvania and West Virginia met with President W. A. (Tony) Boyle of the United Mine Workers Thursday and reportedly were satisfied with what they heard.

But the union declined to make public any details of the meeting.

A spokesman said it would be up to the group to announce results of the conference to representatives of six UMW districts at a meeting scheduled for Sunday at Crucible, Pa.

A spokesman for the coal miners said last Sunday that a strike would be called if the meeting with Boyle did not satisfy their demands for a reopening of contract negotiations.

About 100 miners from UMW Districts 2, 3, 4, 5, and 31 in Pennsylvania and District 6 in West Virginia met at Crucible last Sunday to plan their strategy for Thursday's meeting.

The miners are pressing for a reopening of contract negotiations to improve their present contract which was signed in 1958. The parent union has said several times during the last several months that it feels coal operators cannot afford a more expensive contract because of depressed conditions in the industry.

Disbarred Lawyer's Plea Turned Down

BALTIMORE (AP)—Baltimore's Supreme Bench refused to reconsider its disbarment of Louis R. Milio after a hearing disclosed that the attorney had used funds from his clients' estates to finance his writing and printing a book.

Milio, who contended he planned to return the money once the book became popular, Thursday petitioned the judges to return complimentary copies of the book which he gave them several years ago. The book is titled "Faith, Hope and Charity."

'Freddy' Called Train Robbery Mastermind

AYLESBURY, England (AP)—A mysterious man named Freddy was named Thursday as one of the masterminds behind Britain's great mail train robbery as 10 men and three women appeared in court to face charges arising from it.

One of the accused—Roger Corderey, 42—was alleged to have told police he was asked to help plan the raid by a man he knew only as Freddy. He refused to elaborate.

Legislator Assails Plan To Tear Up Road

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — A Montgomery County legislator charged Thursday that a relatively new $2 million portion of dual lane highway is earmarked for destruction in the Capital Beltway project. He called it a "shameless waste" of taxpayers' money.

Del. Charles Bresler, R-Montgomery, told the Ken-Rock Women's Club that the last beltway contract awarded specified that the portion of road now being used between Wisconsin Avenue and Connecticut Avenue entering Routes 270 and 70s "should be torn out."

He said he was advised the highway is less than four years old and cost over $2 million, including a bridge over Cedar Lane which also will be destroyed.

Eliminating the road will cost nearly $250,000 Bresler said, "plus the untold hours of frustration and time lost by Montgomery County inhabitants and interstate travelers."

Divorce Is Awarded Lillian Roth, Husband

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A Superior Court judge granted a divorce Thursday to singer Lillian Roth and her husband, saying blame for their breakup must be shared by both parties.

The award to both was made possible shortly after noon when Miss Roth filed a cross-complaint in the suit brought by her husband, Thomas Burt McGuire Jr., of Sedona, Ariz.

'Mac' Rejects Idea Cabinet Members Quit

LONDON (UPI)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan Thursday night rejected suggestions of resignations by some cabinet members in the wake of the Profumo scandal and said he and his ministers had acted justly and honorably.

He told the nation by radio the entire cabinet had been taken in by the deceit of trusted colleague War Minister John Profumo—who lied before the House of Commons about his relations with call girl Christine Keeler.

"I thought that nobody would have been so wrong and so wicked and such a fool to have done such a thing," Macmillan said emotionally.

The prime minister vigorously defended his government's handling of the scandal, following release of a report which pointedly singled out Macmillan for failing in his responsibility.

Opposition Laborites, in full cry at the prospect of victory in forthcoming general elections, were demanding the 69-year-old Macmillan's resignation.

A special 65,000-word report released early Thursday by senior jurist Lord Denning absolved the security forces of blame in the Profumo case but said Macmillan and his colleagues should have known Profumo was lying.

"It was the responsibility of the prime minister and his colleagues and of them only, to deal with this situation; and they did not succeed in doing so," the Denning report said.

Macmillan was asked to comment on this statement during a radio interview with the British Broadcasting Corporation Thursday.

"Of course it was my responsibility," he said. "But we failed. We were deceived. But it puts the question in a form which I personally could not accept. We were deceived and in that sense we failed but that is not a question of integrity, good faith and honor."

Rights Agency Extension Bill Still On Shelf

WASHINGTON (AP) — The on-again, off-again plans of Senate leaders to bring up a bill to extend the life of the Civil Rights Commission were put off again Thursday.

The latest word from Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., the acting majority leader, was that action on the measure now will be sought on Monday.

Monday is the day the commission is to file its final report and technically go out of business, although it will have an additional 60 days in which to wind up its affairs. Meantime, Congress can act on the extender.

Humphrey had said a bill to extend the commission for one year would be brought up Thursday as an amendment to a measure already passed by the House to pay additional death compensation to the widow of an Army major killed in World War II.

Humphrey said he did not expect any major resistance by Southern senators despite their opposition to the creation of the commission in the 1957 civil rights act and to the two-year last-minute extensions of its life in 1959 and 1961.

Earlier in the week Senate leaders proposed indefinite extension of the commission's life and enlargement of its powers, but they abandoned that plan after Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., leader of the Dixie forces, announced it would meet with "very determined opposition."

Most-Wanted Fugitive Seized After Holdup

ANDERSON, S.C. (AP) — A gunman held up a branch of the First National Bank Thursday and minutes later police arrested one of the FBI's 10-most-wanted men in connection with the case.

Carl Close, 48, was in custody four minutes after the 11 a.m. robbery. He had a sackful of bills in $1 to $100 denominations and a loaded gun when arrested. The FBI said $28,262 was taken.

FBI agents verified that Close is on the 10 most wanted list through a fingerprint check.

A detective team cruising in the area arrested Close, who said he is a sheet metal worker from Florida.

The FBI said Close, who had lived and worked in Nakomia, Fla., was placed on the bureau's 10-most-wanted list Wednesday following bank robberies in Baltimore and Roanoke, Va.

The FBI said Close was convicted in 1949 of robbing two banks in Maryland and one in West Virginia and was sentenced to 35 years.

Close was wanted for the $21,078 robbery of the Edmondson Village branch of the Equitable Trust Co. of Baltimore last March 8, the FBI said, and the $6,330 robbery of Colonial American National Bank of Roanoke, Va., last June 4.

Keith Spalding Inaugurated As F&M President

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—Keith Spalding Thursday was formally inaugurated Thursday as president of Franklin and Marshall College.

Spalding was named to the post last February.

Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, president of Johns Hopkins University, set forth five goals in urging — his former assistant at Penn State and at Hopkins — to provide new leadership in education.

Eisenhower said educator must:

"View learning as a vital and continuing human process with emphasis on genuine understanding rather than mere knowledge . . .

"Practice what we preach in our catalogs about character building and love of freedom . . .

"Educate more generalists, more leaders who understand the totality of human existence, who are as skillful at devising a total program of peace and progress as specialists are in constructing the engines of destruction. . .

"Make the humanities more vital in education . . . they are meaningful only if they . . . equip a man to live creatively in his own times and contribute to them. . .

"Teach people to communicate with logic and clarity, for this is the prerequisite to understanding."

Jury Selection In Fraud Case To Start Oct. 14

BALTIMORE (AP) — Federal prosecutors and defense attorneys agreed Thursday to begin selecting a jury Oct. 14 in the mail fraud trial of a Maryland political leader, two Chicago businessmen and a Utah real estate developer.

The trial is expected to begin Oct. 21.

Chief Judge Roszel C. Thomsen accepted the agreement in the fourth day of pretrial arguments. Defense attorneys are arguing eleven motions involving the admission of evidence, moving the trial to a western state, postponement of the trial and sequestering the jury.

Charged in the case are A. Gordon Boone, former speaker of the Maryland House of Delegates; C. Oran Mensik, Chicago financier; his attorney, Henry McGurren, and D. Spencer Grow of Provo, Utah.

The group is charged with forming and operating Security Financial Insurance Corp., formerly the state's only authorized private insurer of funds in savings and loan firms. The government charges the firm used the mails to solicit deposits by using misleading advertising.

The hearing on the pre-trial motions is to continue next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Two other Baltimore County men were charged in the March 1 indictment against the four now on trial.

Charles F. Culver, a former delegate to the Maryland House, pleaded no contest to the charges and waits sentencing. J. Thomas Ellicott, attorney and insurance man, was granted a separate trial after his conviction in another mail fraud case involving savings and loan firms.

Maryland News In Brief

BALTIMORE (AP) — Theodore R. McKeldin, Republican mayor of Baltimore, says the administration of Sen. Barry Goldwater, if he were elected president, would resemble that of former President Dwight Eisenhower.

McKeldin, former Maryland governor, said he would support Goldwater if the Arizonian won the Republican presidential nomination although he would prefer a more liberal candidate, such as New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.

Goldwater "knows you can't unscramble the eggs," McKeldin said, adding that set policies would have to be followed and obligations met.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The trial of Mrs. Jane D. Zantzinger on disorderly conduct and assault charges has been postponed. Her attorney had to appear in court on another matter Thursday, when the trial had been scheduled.

Mrs. Zantzinger is accused with assaulting Patrolman Warren Todd last Feb. 9 at a society ball. Her husband, William Zantzinger, was arrested at the same dance on charges of striking barmaid Hattie Carroll.

Mrs. Carroll died next day and Zantzinger later was convicted of manslaughter and is serving a six-month jail sentence.

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI praised the work of Georgetown University and extended his blessing to all Roman Catholics in the United States Thursday in a special telecast beamed to Washington, D.C., via the Telstar satellite.

The pontiff spoke in English in an address commemorating the 175th anniversary of the founding of the Jesuit University in Washington, D.C. He said he was extending a special blessing "to all our children in the United States of America."

His message was addressed to the rector, faculty, students and alumni of Georgetown University.

EMMITSBURG, Md. (AP) — St. Joseph College will confer an honorary degree on Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, mother of President Kennedy, at a convocation Oct. 5.

Other honorary degrees will go to the Most Rev. Lawrence J. Shehan, Catholic archbishop of Baltimore, and Miss Sarah Christie, assistant superintendent of schools in New Jersey.

The convocation speaker will be the Very Rev. Edward J. Burke, president of St. John's University in New York.

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland Association of Real Estate Boards will hold its annual fall conference Oct. 18-19 in Hagerstown.

J. Fred Flowers of Salisbury, chairman of the conference, said officers and directors would be elected. The current president is Woodrow W. Nelson of Princess Anne.

State Sen. George E. Snyder, D-Washington, will address the real estate men on how economic development in Maryland helps their business.

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP — A six-man delegation from Pakistan left for Peking on Thursday to participate in Communist China's 14th independence celebrations beginning Oct. 1.

South Africa Bloc's Target

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The strong African bloc is putting finishing touches on a strategic campaign aimed at depriving South Africa of its vote at the current session of the General Assembly.

This was reported Thursday by sources close to the leadership of the 32-nation group, the largest single bloc at the United Nations.

Portugal is also the target of the group, but final strategy against that nation has not yet been decided. The group is made up mainly of newly independent African nations who are bitter foes of South Africa's racial segregation laws and Portugal's policies in her African territories.

Senegalese Foreign Minister Doudou Thiam surprised the assembly Wednesday by declaring that the African nations would present a resolution calling for expulsion of Portugal. But the sources close to the African leadership said a final decision is still to be reached.

Lodge Labels 'Dragon Lady' Remark Cruel

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu dueled at long range Thursday about her description of U.S. junior officers in Saigon for the anti-Communist war as irresponsible "little soldiers of fortune."

Lodge charged the remark was cruel and insulting.

It was leveled by South Viet Nam's chic, vitriol-tongued first lady at a Rome news conference Sunday against subordinate officers in the U.S. military mission.

In his first public political statement directed against a member of President Ngo Dinh Diem's official family since he arrived in Saigon Aug. 22 at the height of the Buddhist crisis, Lodge said:

"It is incomprehensible to me how anyone can speak so cruelly. It is a shocking statement. These junior officers are risking their lives every day. Some of them have been killed side by side with their Vietnamese comrades."

The sister-in-law and official hostess of Diem brushed aside Lodge's criticism and declared there were adventurers and saboteurs within the officers' ranks, opposing Washington policy.

"South Viet Nam, with a population of only 14 million people and a tight control due to war, cannot always prevent infiltration and sabotage in the ranks of its officials," Mrs. Nhu told Rome newsmen.

"It is normal that the United States, with a population of hundreds of millions (sic) and maybe a looser control, can find certain adventurers and saboteurs among their junior officials who do not hesitate to betray the official policy of their government."

Rain-Making Try Set At York

YORK, Pa. (AP)—A professional rain-making firm will try to relieve the York area's critical water shortage, two York County water companies and a paper manufacturer reported Thursday.

A spokesman said, "a continued lack of rainfall will create a crisis which will force the closing of industrial plants and will cause spread unemployment."

The water shortage is the most critical since 1954, when the paper manufacturer — P. H. Glatfelter Co., Spring Grove—hired the rain-making firm to produce rainfall in its area.

The firm is W. E. Howell and Associates of Cambridge, Mass.

The 1954 rainmaking effort was successful, the local spokesman said.

Participating with Glatfelter in hiring the Cambridge firm were the York and Hanover Water companies.

The spokesman said Howell has equipment ready to go as soon as rain clouds appear in the area. Howell uses silver iodide crystals which are formed into a mist that can rise up to 10,000 feet to reach cloud banks.

Touring JFK

In theory this is a nonpartisan trip, but it didn't take as astute a politician as Kennedy long to discover that nonpartisanship can be frightfully dull.

Perhaps that's the reason why earlier in Great Falls, Mont., he unleashed his sharpest attack of what otherwise has often been a listless tour.

"In the past three years," Kennedy said, "there have been no Hells Canyon blunders. Our land has not been exploited by private mineral interests without full compensation to the public."

The Hells Canyon reference was to a decision by the Dwight D. Eisenhower administration not to build a big public dam and later to permit three smaller ones to be constructed by private power companies.

Disbarred Lawyer's Plea Turned Down

BALTIMORE (AP)—Baltimore's Supreme Bench refused to reconsider its disbarment of Louis R. Milio after a hearing disclosed that the attorney had used funds from his clients' estates to finance his writing and printing a book.

Milio, who contended he planned to return the money once the book became popular, Thursday petitioned the judges to return complimentary copies of the book which he gave them several years ago. The book is titled "Faith, Hope and Charity."

Miners Meet, Plan Strategy

WASHINGTON (AP)—A group of dissident coal miners from Pennsylvania and West Virginia met with President W. A. (Tony) Boyle of the United Mine Workers Thursday and reportedly were satisfied with what they heard.

But the union declined to make public any details of the meeting.

A spokesman said it would be up to the group to announce results of the conference to representatives of six UMW districts at a meeting scheduled for Sunday at Crucible, Pa.

A spokesman for the coal miners said last Sunday that a strike would be called if the meeting with Boyle did not satisfy their demands for a reopening of contract negotiations.

About 100 miners from UMW Districts 2, 3, 4, 5, and 31 in Pennsylvania and District 6 in West Virginia met at Crucible last Sunday to plan their strategy for Thursday's meeting.

The miners are pressing for a reopening of contract negotiations to improve their present contract which was signed in 1958. The parent union has said several times during the last several months that it feels coal operators cannot afford a more expensive contract because of depressed conditions in the industry.

'Freddy' Called Train Robbery Mastermind

AYLESBURY, England (AP)—A mysterious man named Freddy was named Thursday as one of the masterminds behind Britain's great mail train robbery as 10 men and three women appeared in court to face charges arising from it.

One of the accused—Roger Corderey, 42—was alleged to have told police he was asked to help plan the raid by a man he knew only as Freddy. He refused to elaborate.

Divorce Is Awarded Lillian Roth, Husband

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A Superior Court judge granted a divorce Thursday to singer Lillian Roth and her husband, saying blame for their breakup must be shared by both parties.

The award to both was made possible shortly after noon when Miss Roth filed a cross-complaint in the suit brought by her husband, Thomas Burt McGuire Jr., of Sedona, Ariz.

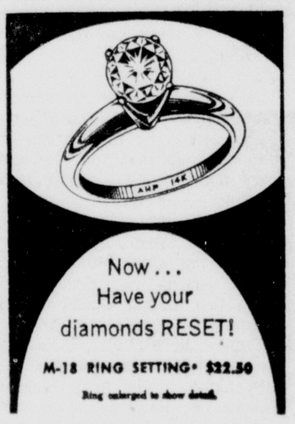

Legislator Assails Plan To Tear Up Road

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — A Montgomery County legislator charged Thursday that a relatively new $2 million portion of dual lane highway is earmarked for destruction in the Capital Beltway project. He called it a "shameless waste" of taxpayers' money.

Del. Charles Bresler, R-Montgomery, told the Ken-Rock Women's Club that the last beltway contract awarded specified that the portion of road now being used between Wisconsin Avenue and Connecticut Avenue entering Routes 270 and 70s "should be torn out."

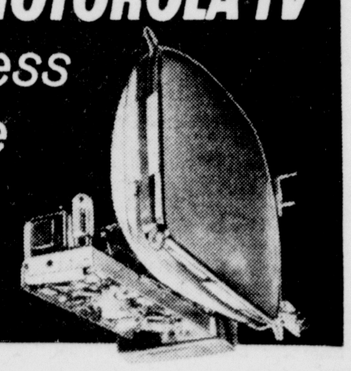

He said he was advised the highway is less than four years old and cost over $2 million, including a bridge over Cedar Lane which also will be destroyed.

Eliminating the road will cost nearly $250,000 Bresler said, "plus the untold hours of frustration and time lost by Montgomery County inhabitants and interstate travelers."

Reapportionment Based On Per Capita Equality Urged In Justice Dept. Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Justice has taken the position that apportionment of seats in a state legislature should be based on per capita equality of representation.

"The equal protection clause of 14th Amendment guarantees qualified electors against arbitrary and unreasonable discrimination in the apportionment of seats in a state legislature," the department said in a brief filed with the Supreme Court.

The brief was filed as "a friend of the court" in a case involving the Maryland Legislature. But it said the controlling factors set forth were applicable to all the four apportionment cases now before the court. The other cases involving Virginia, New York and Alabama.

Each of the four cases can be decided without ruling upon whether the 14th Amendment always requires substantially equal representation per capita in both houses of a state legislature, the brief said.

It continued: "For even if there are permissible objectives of legislative apportionment which would justify some departure from equal representation per capita, the discrimination in each of these four cases must be held so arbitrary and capricious as to deny the victims equal protection of the laws. Thus, the court can decide these cases while leaving the broader issues to a later day."

The court will hear arguments on the four cases in its term opening Oct. 7.

In a Tennessee case 18 months ago, the court said that state legislative apportionment systems can be tested in federal law suits.

In its brief, the department said the four cases bring before the Supreme Court for the first time the question of what criteria are to be applied in carrying out the Tennessee decision.

The brief said that the present apportionment of the Maryland Legislature denies equal protection of the laws, that the apportionment of the Maryland Senate discriminates without rhyme or reason in favor of voters in both the rural counties and Baltimore City and against voters in Baltimore, Prince Georges and Montgomery counties.

It said also the apportionment of the Maryland Legislature subordinates popular representation to the representation of political subdivisions to such a degree as to create gross inequalities among voters and give control to small minorities in both houses of the legislature.

Two Baltimore Demos Say JFK Would Win Md.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Two Baltimore Democrats said Thursday they believe President Kennedy would win Maryland next year with an even greater majority than he did in 1960.

"He will maintain his majority in the city and probably will increase his majority in the counties through the percentage that goes along with the incumbent," said Thomas D'Alesandro III.

"He will do as well if not better than the last time," said Philip H. Goodman.

D'Alesandro, who won the city council presidency this year, and Goodman, who lost in a try for mayor, were replying to a forecast that Kennedy's popularity in Maryland has declined. That prediction was made by Harry Troth Gross, Democratic state chairman, and George W. Della, former state senate president.

Kennedy trailed Richard M. Nixon by almost 11,000 votes in returns from Maryland's 23 counties in 1960. He carried the state, however, by winning by a margin of 88,000 votes in Baltimore City.

"Democratic candidates for both the Senate and Congress will win or lose on their merits," said Goodman. "But it will help them to run as a Democrat on a ticket with President Kennedy."

D'Alesandro said of Kennedy: "Once he begins campaigning, his personal magnetism will fire up the party, and the momentum of the President's campaign will carry the local candidates."

Welfare Dept. Asks $63.6 Million Budget

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State Department of Public Welfare submitted its budget request of $63.6 million dollars Thursday for the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

Raleigh C. Hobson, who took over as head of the agency this summer, said the budget reflects a sizable increase in aid to families of dependent children. It also includes funds for 406 new jobs in the department.

The budget request is $13.5 million dollars higher than what the agency now receives. Some $5.5 million of the increase would be derived from federal sources.

Two Deaths Raise Maryland Traffic Toll To 425

By The Associated Press

Two persons died in Maryland traffic accidents Wednesday night and Thursday, raising the highway death toll for the year to 425. At the corresponding time a year ago, there were 415 dead.

Paul Davis, 46, of Barton, Allegany County, was killed Thursday when a car in which he was riding ran off Charles Street Avenue just north of Baltimore.

Davis was pronounced dead at Union Memorial Hospital. The driver of the car, Marvin E. Barron, 36, of Martinsburg, W. Va., was treated at the hospital for cuts and bruises and released.

William Mackell, 27, of Galesville, was fatally injured Wednesday night when a car overturned on Maryland 2 near Harwood in southern Anne Arundel County. Mackell died while being transferred to a Baltimore hospital.

The victim was riding with a family of nine. All escaped serious injury except Chesterfield Sharps, of Harwood, father of the family and driver of the car. He suffered head and back injuries and was reported in fair condition Thursday at Anne Arundel General Hospital.

Freeman To Meet With Pa. Farmers

Reapportionment Based On Per Capita Equality Urged In Justice Dept. Brief

The '64s from Ford are here:
The Year of the Test Drive starts today!
Ford cars have changed. Only a test drive can tell you how much. Races and rallies, economy runs, braking and acceleration tests have bred into our 1964 models the kind of total performance you just can't create on the test track alone. They are hard-muscled, fast-moving, sure-footed. Open competition helped make them that way. They offer you substantially more car than anything at their price. You don't have to take our word for it. We're willing to rest our case on our cars.
TRY TOTAL PERFORMANCE FOR A CHANGE!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

A Second Glance At First Impressions

Here's how one executive summed up his most recent round of career-interviews with prospective stenographers: "I chose the one girl who LOOKED the way I hoped her work would be!"

The girl was attractively dressed in a conservative style . . . scrupulously neat, radiating the sort of freshness that fairly sang out the care she'd taken to attend to every grooming detail . . . right up to the moment of her interview.

Her competitors for the job had equally illuminating lists of job experiences, letters of recommendation just as glowing as hers. But she had the quality that counted most when it was most needed—at the very moment her future boss was ready and waiting to receive his "first impression" of her.

Inevitably, first impressions influence judgment. They carry an impact far more personal and direct than letters of recommendations.

"Sometimes first impressions are all wrong," the executive was willing to admit, knowing that performance is the greatest proof of competence. But he hastened to add that the radio of wrong impressions was very small. "We've learned that we can sense a girl's attitude toward her work by her appearance."

Some of his interviewees, to his regret, missed "making the finals" by a very small margin. "They could have made a better impression if they'd bothered to take a fast look in a mirror before they walked into my office."

This neglect of a "final check" bothered him; he could picture the same girl neglecting that all-important last survey of company letters, contracts and records.

Could all his interviewees take a "final check"? According to him, all they needed was the impulse to do so . . . and five extra minutes. "Our building has public restrooms. Most business establishments do. Even when they don't, a girl who wants to look nice for an interview has probably got a mirror in her purse—and all the gimmicks she would need to take care of a shiny nose or a straggly hair . . . or dandruff on her collar."

I asked him for more specific examples of "impression slayers," the kind that can't be cured quickly.

"Cigarette breath!" was his first rejoinder. Perhaps the office ground-rules permit smoking . . . but the flavor of the habit, at the time of the interview, is grounds for bad taste.

"Gum chewing!" was his second answer. The fragrance of gum, chewed BEFORE the interview, could be an asset. But the act of chewing, throughout conversation, rated a definite minus.

Secrets Of Charm

A Second Glance At First Impressions

Here's how one executive summed up his most recent round of career-interviews with prospective stenographers: "I chose the one girl who LOOKED the way I hoped her work would be!"

The girl was attractively dressed in a conservative style . . . scrupulously neat, radiating the sort of freshness that fairly sang out the care she'd taken to attend to every grooming detail . . . right up to the moment of her interview.

Her competitors for the job had equally illuminating lists of job experiences, letters of recommendation just as glowing as hers. But she had the quality that counted most when it was most needed—at the very moment her future boss was ready and waiting to receive his "first impression" of her.

Inevitably, first impressions influence judgment. They carry an impact far more personal and direct than letters of recommendations.

"Sometimes first impressions are all wrong," the executive was willing to admit, knowing that performance is the greatest proof of competence. But he hastened to add that the radio of wrong impressions was very small. "We've learned that we can sense a girl's attitude toward her work by her appearance."

Some of his interviewees, to his regret, missed "making the finals" by a very small margin. "They could have made a better impression if they'd bothered to take a fast look in a mirror before they walked into my office."

This neglect of a "final check" bothered him; he could picture the same girl neglecting that all-important last survey of company letters, contracts and records.

Could all his interviewees take a "final check"? According to him, all they needed was the impulse to do so . . . and five extra minutes. "Our building has public restrooms. Most business establishments do. Even when they don't, a girl who wants to look nice for an interview has probably got a mirror in her purse—and all the gimmicks she would need to take care of a shiny nose or a straggly hair . . . or dandruff on her collar."

I asked him for more specific examples of "impression slayers," the kind that can't be cured quickly.

"Cigarette breath!" was his first rejoinder. Perhaps the office ground-rules permit smoking . . . but the flavor of the habit, at the time of the interview, is grounds for bad taste.

"Gum chewing!" was his second answer. The fragrance of gum, chewed BEFORE the interview, could be an asset. But the act of chewing, throughout conversation, rated a definite minus.

SAO PAULO, Brazil (UPI)—The recent sergeants' mutiny in Brasilia was a direct challenge to the Brazilian military hierarchy, and it may result in some important changes in the constitution.

But two weeks after the small group of non-commissioned officers demonstrated against a ruling preventing them from running for elective office, the Brazilian armed forces still stand as the bulwark and foremost guardian of the country's democratic system.

Although there was some grumbling support in the ranks for the short-lived sergeants' revolt, not one of the 90,000 active and reserve non-coms scattered through out Brazil followed the example of their comrades.

The sergeants did not intend to overthrow the government of President Joao Goulart in their amateurish attempt to take control of some of Brasilia's strategic buildings. They were merely sounding a voice of protest against "injustices and political discrminations" whch has been the lot of the non-commissoned officer in Brazil for more than 100 years.

Victory For Democracy

They succeeded in that, but the failure of the revolt to spread is viewed here as a victory for Brazil's democracy and the strength of the armed forces.

"The Brazilian army is the bulwark of the democratic system of our country," said Herbert Levy, president of the opposition United Democratic National party, in an interview. "As long as it exists in its present form, there is no danger of a dictatorship of either the right or the left." He made the statement before the revolt, and it still has validity.

The grievances of non-coms date back to the days of the Brazilian empire in the early 19th century. The 1824 constitution said no one could run for elective office who earned less than 400 milreis a year—a salary considerably less than that paid army sergeants.

Other constitutions down through the years contained similar provisions.

A constitution adopted in 1946, gave sergeants the right to vote, but said they could not hold political office.

The federal superior electoral tribunal, which interprets the constitution, has been lenient in some cases and a few sergeants have been permitted to run for election.

It is true that some non-coms have been the object of Communist persuasion. Sergeants usually have their own clubs, live in the same neighborhoods, and are a close-knit group.

Until last year, it was the policy of the sergeants' groups to support politicians who promised to defend their interests. About a year ago, however, they said they were "deceived repeatedly by the promises of politicians who conveniently forget about us as soon as they were elected."

'Hi-Fi' Sound And Music

NEW YORK (UPI) — High fidelity's recent plunge into space age science is not the first unearthly attempt to reproduce music faithfully.

The quest for realistic sound, which has resulted in applying to home entertainment systems the sold state devices used in rockets and missiles, has spawned some odd noises throughout musical history.

One French composer, striving for authenticity, had a huge airplane propeller put in motion during a portion of Ballet Mecanique, according to researchers of Pilot Radio Corp. It produced the effect he wanted but almost blew the audience out of the theater.

Brake drums from old automobiles were used as percussion instruments once by Leopold Stokowski in rendering Canticle No. 3. Radio technicians, armed with tuning forks, rounded them up from local junkyards just before the performance.

An American composer designates that balloons be burst during his score and another has iron chains rattled at regular intervals.

Other non-musical instruments employed to add a note of realism include automobile horns, typewriters, cannons and firemen. The

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — Breathes there a woman who hasn't had a broken nail, a moment of frustration or a spell of embarrassment—over hunting for an unfindable in her pocketbook?

It's there—that charge-plate, lipstick or safety pin. But the sought after object suddenly becomes an untouchable—especially when it is needed in a hurry.

The fault's not so much with milady as it is with the designers of purses.

This nation which hopes to put a man on the moon, has come up with zip-codes to speed the pony express, developed electric tooth brushes and calculators even to write music has yet to produce a genius capable of designing an efficient purse.

Perhaps part of the fault stems from the fact that no one ever has developed a national norm for purse sizes. Too often, it's brain-straining to tell where a purse leaves off and a tote bag begins.

The possibility of efficient design bogs down when one must consider coming up with the blueprint for a bag that holds—in addition to a purse's normal oddments—rainboots, sweater, walking shoes and lunch.

Courageous inventive sorts willing to take on the challenge of a purse that stores everything within fingertip reach must agree that the ideal purse doesn't serve as a tote bag.

Females who want to can carry an extra bag for the wearables. Such things, logic dictates, belong someplace besides in milady's purse.

—Numerous compartments, separately opened by the touch of a button on a control panel within fingertip reach. The master panel would have buttons operating openings on storage cubicles containing small change, folding money, cosmetics—alphabeti zed, buttons, safety pins, hat pins, new stamps, cleansing tissue, book of phone numbers and addresses.

—Easily reachable envelope-sized compartments for checkbook, gloves, letters, pictures of loved ones.

—Easily touchable outside compartments for magazines, newspapers, unopened mail.

—A zipped outer pocket for keys only. It would help if the pocket had two sections: One for house keys and one for keys to the car.

Longies Saved His Skin

CHATTANOOGA (AP) — City Patrolman Charles W. Bonner owes his skin to his long underwear. When he arrested Buddy Mowdy Jarvis, 24, on a public profanity charge, he said Jarvis pulled a knife and stuck it in his arm.

Bonner was rushed to a hospital for emergency treatment. The knife was removed — from the thick insulated underwear. He suffered only a minor scratch.

N.Y. Headquarters Becomes Branch

BALTIMORE (AP) — Pulling a switch on the traditional procedure, a hospital supplies distributing firm has transferred its headquarters from New York to the Baltimore area and left a branch office in New York.

The change was announced Wednesday by Meinecke & Company, Inc., in the opening of its new offices in nearby Baltimore County.

Gov. Tawes, in a speech for ceremonies opening the headquarters, said the move "indicates a confidence in the future growth of our state."

Founded in 1893, Meinecke was recently purchased from the Armstrong Cork Co. by a Baltimore group headed by George E. Banks III.

Molasses, known in Egypt as black honey, is an important part of the Egyptian menu.

KEEP 'EM MOVING—Part of a herd of 2,000 cattle being moved by rancher Roy Houck across the South Dakota prairie crosses the Cheyenne River near Mission Ridge, S. D. Drovers (left) prod the cattle along. The crossing came at a ford about 80 yards wide and four feet deep. Houck is moving the herd 125 miles from his summer ranch to his winter spread near Ft. Pierre, S. D. (AP Photofax)

About 90 persons are killed in the United States in auto accidents on an average day.

Diamonds are found in various colors — yellow, green, red and blue.

A cork tree is stripped about once every 10 years after it is 20 or 30 years old.

Hero Awards Announced

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The Carnegie Hero Commission cited 20 persons in 11 states and Canada today for acts of bravery. Five of the awards were made posthumously.

Ventura Urquidez Jr., 21, a Tucson, Ariz., laundry worker who rescued seven women when an explosion and fire ravaged one-story laundry and dry cleaning plant, was among those honored.

The blast and fire erupted in the plant last March 29, killing seven persons instantly. Urquidez, despite the smoke and flames and the threat of crumbling walls, made three trips into the building to rescue the seven women. He was given a silver medal and $1,000.

Ethel C. Robinson of Nashville, Tenn., received $600 and a bronze medal for an attempt by her nephew, Booker C. Olden, 33, to save two children from a fire. Olden and the children perished.

Six sticks of dynamite exploded prematurely at a copper mine in Oracle, Ariz., Aug. 14, 1962, injuring Wilbur D. Nelson, 48, and his partner, Merley C. Fairless. Nelson, disregarding the inevitability of another explosion and despite his painful injuries, dragged Fairless to safety just before the other dynamite charges let go. Nelson was awarded a silver medal and $500.

Other medals and cash benefits were made posthumously to Gilsole R. Romito and Benedict M. Wolanski, both of Bedford, Ohio, for their efforts to save a fellow worker from a gas-filled sanitary sewer.

Apple Growers Oppose Labor Recruit Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spokesman for commercial apple growers strongly opposed Thursday a bill to provide for a program of Labor Department recruitment and placement of domestic farm workers for seasonal jobs.

Although participation in the program by farmers and workers would be voluntary, witnesses at a Senate Labor subcommittee hearing said the bill would give the Labor Department too much power.

Those testifying were Fred Burrows, executive vice president of the International Apple Association Inc.; Delmer Robinson Jr., of Winchester, Va., representing the National Apple Institute and the Frederick County, Va., Fruit Growers' Assn.; and Carroll Miller, secretary of the West Virginia State Horticultural Society.

Burrows said the measure would make the Labor Department "the judge and jury" on worker contracts, wages, working conditions, housing, transportation, availability of workers and other matters.

Robinson expressed sympathy with the bill's policy declarations, but testified many of its provisions are "dangerous, unworkable, impractical, arbitrary, and dictatorial."

Miller said the bill would be a long step toward putting the control of fruit growing in the hands of the Labor Department. He said it is interested in labor but has "little interest in and knowledge of fruit growing."

Minister, Wife Are Remarried

MISHAWAKA, Ind. (UPI) — While their three daughters and their congregation looked on, the Rev. and Mrs. Adolph Lacy were married in the First General Baptist Church.

The Rev. Mr. Lacy said he only recently learned their 1947 marriage in Cleburne County, Arkansas, might be illegal because he was only 17 and state law required the groom to be 18.

The Lacys said they would try to figure out whether to observe their wedding anniversary after the Sept. 8 date of the Arkansas ceremony or the Sept. 22 date of their Indiana marriage.

A Big Seller

LONDON (UPI—The Denning report on the nation's sex and security scandal became an immediate best seller as soon as it went on sale Thursday.

The government printing office, known as Her Majesty's Stationery Office, said 80,000 of the 90,000 copies ordered have been sold or ordered.

It said 60,000 have been sold while mail orders have arrived for a further 2,0000 copies.

"We are keeping the machines turning to keep pace with the demand," a spokesman said.

Burrows said the measure would make the Labor Department "the judge and jury" on worker contracts, wages, working conditions, housing, transportation, availability of workers and other matters.

Robinson expressed sympathy with the bill's policy declarations, but testified many of its provisions are "dangerous, unworkable, impractical, arbitrary, and dictatorial."

Miller said the bill would be a long step toward putting the control of fruit growing in the hands of the Labor Department. He said it is interested in labor but has "little interest in and knowledge of fruit growing."

Minister, Wife Are Remarried

MISHAWAKA, Ind. (UPI) — While their three daughters and their congregation looked on, the Rev. and Mrs. Adolph Lacy were married in the First General Baptist Church.

The Rev. Mr. Lacy said he only recently learned their 1947 marriage in Cleburne County, Arkansas, might be illegal because he was only 17 and state law required the groom to be 18.

The Lacys said they would try to figure out whether to observe their wedding anniversary after the Sept. 8 date of the Arkansas ceremony or the Sept. 22 date of their Indiana marriage.

A Big Seller

LONDON (UPI—The Denning report on the nation's sex and security scandal became an immediate best seller as soon as it went on sale Thursday.

The government printing office, known as Her Majesty's Stationery Office, said 80,000 of the 90,000 copies ordered have been sold or ordered.

It said 60,000 have been sold while mail orders have arrived for a further 2,0000 copies.

"We are keeping the machines turning to keep pace with the demand," a spokesman said.

Deaths And Funeral Notices In The Tri-State Area

Accident Victim's Services Slated

PARSONS, W. Va. — A funeral service for Robert Samuel Mills, 20, of Route 1, Montrose, who died Wednesday as a result of injuries sustained in a two-car collision eight miles north of Elkins on Route 219, will be conducted tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. at the Greenlief Funeral Chapel.

Rev. Forrest Murray, EUB minister here, will officiate and burial will be in the Parsons family cemetery near this community.

Frederick Ferguson, 30, and Robert F. Gainer, 34, both of Kerens, were also killed in the collision. Gainer's brother, David, who is 20, was reported in critical condition last night at an Elkins Hospital.

Mills was born May 18, 1943 in Parsons and was a son of Roy and Mabel M. (Kisamore) Mills. Surviving are his father who lives in Keyser and his mother and stepfather Mr. and Mrs. Herbert V. Tosti, Fairmont.

Also surviving are a half sister, Vickie Tosti, of Fairmont and his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Kisamore, Route 1, Montrose.

Mills was an employe of the Dutch Oven Bakery in Elkins. Friends will be received at the funeral home after 10 a.m. today.

Keedy Returns To Davis-Elkins

KEYSER—Gary L. Keedy was among a group of students selected by Dr. Edward V. Perkins, Dean of Students at Davis and Elkins College in Elkins, to return to the campus a week prior to the beginning of classes to assist in the administration of the freshman testing program. Keedy served as an assistant to the faculty administrator of the SCAT test, five of the STEP tests, and the Cooperative English Test.

Keedy is a senior at Davis and Elkins College and is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Keedy, 70 Old Orchard Drive, Keyser.

There are approximately 120,000 technical journals being published throughout the world.

Barton Native Killed In Crash

Paul Raymond Davis, 46, formerly of Barton, was killed in an auto accident early yesterday in Baltimore.

Mr. Davis was a son of Mrs. Jane (Kirk) Davis, 67 Main Street, Lonaconing, and the late Joseph Davis.

Mr. Davis was riding with Marvin E. Barron, 36, Martinsburg, when their northbound car went out of control at 12:40 a. m. on Charles Street Avenue near Bellona. He died about 7 a. m. in Union Memorial Hospital where Barron was treated for cuts and bruises and released.

Police investigating the mishap said the car went off the road. No other retails were avaiable.

Born in Barton Mr. Davis attended school there and Pennsylvania High School in Cumberland before leaving the area in 1956. He had worked at the Boal Funeral Home for ten years.

At the time of his death, Davis was employed at Shenandoah Downs by a Buffalo, N. Y., sports service as an expediter and food checker. He had worked for the firm five years. Before that he was employed by the Bond Baking Company in Baltimore.

Survivors, in addition to his mother, include four brothers, Richard Davis, Baltimore; Fuller and Joseph Davis, Frostburg, and Nelson Davis, Lonaconing, and a sister, Mrs. Norma Lea Bosley, RN, wife of Maryland State Police Sgt. Harry S. Bosley, Lonaconing.

The body will be taken to the Boal Funeral Home.

Work Started On Route 40 Bypass Job

Work was started this week by the Nello Teer Company of Durham, N. C., on a huge highway project east of Cumberland which will relocate U. S. Route 40 to bypass Green Ridge Mountain, according to John D. Bushby, district engineer for the State Roads Commission.

Bushby said the contract price is $2,755,364.43 and will comprise the grading, drainage and other work along a 3.205 mile stretch from Mountain Road to Davis Road. The work will connect with a similar project in the Polish Mountain area.

The contract includes a dual lane bridge across 15-Mile Creek and also three large box culverts. The highway will eventually be a dual lane type road.

The Teer firm will excavate 2,150,000 cubic yards of earth and rock in its work. This is believed to be the largest amount of excavation on a single highway contract in this area. The company will clear and grub out the route of the roadway and then start excavation.

Bushby said that blasting work on rock strata involved can be continued through winter months and that the bridge and culvert work can also be done during the winter period.

There will be no curtailment of traffic on U.S. Route 40 as the new route is to the south of the mountain some distance away from the present highway. The new dual lane highway will eliminate the tortuous route across the mountain and no grade will exceed six percent, Bushby stated.

Her Honor, The Mayor

NEW ALBANY, Kan. (AP) — Spring elections left women in control of New Albany city government as they have been since 1930.

Mrs. Susie Murphy became the first woman mayor of New Albany in 1930 and there has been a woman in the mayor's chair ever since.

Mrs. Winfred Hoover, incumbent mayor, drew no opposition this year and succeeded herself in office.

In the 17th Century, Skopje, Yugoslavia's population was periodically decimated by wars, plagues and fires.

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 305 Maj. Gen. D. H. Hill wrote afterward about the Confederate common soldier: "Of the shoulder-to-shoulder courage, bred of drill and discipline, he knew nothing and cared less. Hence, on the battlefield, he was more of a free lance than a machine. Whoever saw a Confederate line advancing that was not as crooked as a ram's horn? Each ragged rebel yelling on his hook and aligning on himself."

After two years of war, such conduct was somewhat wiser than D. H. Hill evidently regarded it as being. Far-reaching improvements in arms and ammunition had made it foolish for commanders to adhere to the mass frontal assaults, by men in shoulder-to-shoulder alinements, which had been drilled and disciplined in military procedure all the way from Roman times.

The frontier bred individualist who came into either Confederate or Union armies after fighting Indians—Indian fashion—naturally tended to strike out for himself.

Officers who remembered too well what they had been taught about Napoleon's tactics (without remembering, too, the disaster into which he fell) were still, in 1863, costing their forces heavy casualties in the face of hand weapons and cannon of unprecedented accuracy and range. But some commanders had let themselves learn that irregularly spaced advancing lines cost fewer lives, that log-faced entrenchments gave an immense defense advantage. Extensive earthworks were dug at Vicksburg, at Petersburg [see left]. The shovel became co-important with the rifle, as warfare entered a new phase.

Arson Cause Of Auto Fire

Arson has been determined the cause of a fire Wednesday that destroyed a parked automobile which once served as a home.

The car had been parked on a lot in the rear of Ort Brothers Bakery on Franklin Street and was owned by an Edna Lohoff, who reportedly has left the city, fire department officers said.

Neighbors in the vicinity were reported as saying that the car had been used for living quarters. It was learned that the County Health Department ruled some time ago the unknown family had to terminate the car's use for residential purposes.

Fire Chief Virgil Parker said the car had no wheels and no license plates. He said the blaze which started it "definitely" was a case of arson.

East Side firemen responded at 6:13 p.m. when Box 38 at the bakery was pulled. A minute later firemen from Central station went to Columbia and Holland streets when Box 36 was pulled.

They said it was parked on a lot owned by the Bennett Transfer Company. The destroyed car was near a truck belonging to the company, and a small building.

The bandy-legged whooping crane is the largest bird on the North American continent.

Two City Playlots Being Sought

The Recreation Department in a report of the past season for supervised playgrounds, noted today that efforts are being made to work out plans for reactivation of the Ridgedale Playground at a new site and for continued operation of a city site next to the new North End Junior High School.

The Ridgedale site was absorbed in expansion plans of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company; and North End playground was taken over by the new school. C. Eugene Mason, recreation director, said arrangements are being discussed with the Allegany County Board of Education for land adjacent to the new school for a playground.

The report said one playground —Jane Frazier—was added during the nine-week season which ended in August and a total of 2,680 were registered for the summer. Playgrounds were open five days weekly or 270 hours for each ground, a total of 3,780 hours of supervised play during the season.

The number of children attending during the nine weeks was 46,307 but adults and others swelled the over-all attendance figure to 58,526. Count of adults on the playgrounds with their children was 2,191. There were 4,700 participants in dancing events and 5,328 taking part in special events sponsored by the playgrounds.

Special events during the year and attendance are as follows: Fishing rodeo, 1,600; intra-city pet show, 200; picnic, 800; talent show, 2,000; games event, 112 contestants, 100 spectators; comedy skit night, 1,200; handicraft display, 350; and the three-man basketball, 21 teams, 84 players and 100 spectators.

In addition, playground swimming lessons attracted 314 children for instruction at Constitution Park pool. Ten swimming sessions were held with total attendance of 3,140 over a six-week period. There was no charge for the course given by a qualified Red Cross instructor and certificates were awarded to those completing it.

Playgrounds under supervision of the department are Centre Street, Columbia Street, Fort Cumberland, Gephart, Johnson Heights, Mapleside, Mt. Royal, North End, Pennsylvania Avenue, Pine Avenue, Post, Virginia Avenue, West Side and Jane Frazier.

Raw soybeans have about 33 per cent protein.

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — State legislators were caught with their lack of zoological knowledge showing.

A senate bill providing for the tattooing of identification numbers on ears of nutria, a rodent-like fur-bearing animal, had to be amended. Seems the little fellow's ears aren't big enough to put numbers on. The measure was amended to provide that they be placed instead on the nutria's "big webbed feet."

◇ K Q 8 4
♣ 8 3

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♡	Pass	1 NT	Pass
3 ◇	Pass	4 ◇	Pass
4 ♡	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: King of ♣

A cleverly contrived defensive effort upset today's four heart contract which had left the post as an odds on favorite.

West led the king of clubs. East overtook with the ace and was on the verge of returning the jack when he paused to reflect on the situation. South's diamond bid had presumably marked him with four of that suit which meant that West was void of diamonds.

Giving West one ruff in the suit would merely be breaking even however, for East had a natural trick in diamonds. If the declarer had two clubs, East spotted a way to give his partner a second ruff provided that the latter lent his full cooperation to the project.

At trick two East returned the deuce of diamonds, which West of course trumped. The temptation might be to return a spade at this point in an attempt to get partner back in, since the dummy has nothing in this suit. However, East's play of the lowest diamond is a clear cut suit preference signal stating that his reëntry is in clubs, the lower ranking of the two plain suits.

Altho his queen of clubs was the master card, West followed his partner's instructions and returned a small club. East's jack won the trick and another diamond lead enabled West to ruff for the setting trick.

Observe that West's play of a small club cannot lose because his partner had indicated that he has a control in the suit. If East's ace of clubs was a singleton, he will be able to ruff the next lead. If he has the ace-jack doubleton, however, it is of the essence to put him in with the jack before declarer can take charge of the proceedings.

Finnigan's Hollywood

BY JOSEPH FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — To describe actor Victor Buono as chubby falls short of the mark by more than 300 pounds.

Victor inundates the scales at 340, give or take a few pounds.

Buono, a personable chap like most heavy fellows, is currently being boomed as Hollywood's latest villain in his movie "The Strangler" where he goes about choking ladies.

He is a relative newcomer to filmland, having arrived on the scene from his San Diego home in 1960. His movie debut was an auspicious one as he was nominated for an Academy Award this year for his role in "What Ever Happened to Baby Jane."

Nobody was quite sure what "happened to Baby Jane" because she was probably hiding behind Buono. A small elephant could be overshadowed by Vic.

When Buono hove into Hollywood some folks thought he was an advance contingent of a San Diego Navy flotilla.

The late Sidney Greenstreet, no midget himself, would have looked at Vic with stars in his eyes. Next to Buono, everybody else looks like John Carradine.

Besides his poundage, Buono brings talent and principle to his acting craft.

Recently on "The Strangler" set Buono rebelled when asked to choke a scantily clad lady. He wouldn't squeeze her throat until she put on a robe.

"I don't think we have to add anything else in the way of shock," he said when asked about his protest. "The audience will be shocked enough without dwelling on the attire at the time I kill."

At 340 pounds, Victor is one of the biggest actors in Hollywood, or anyplace else. But he's paring down his hide a little.

"I'm taking off some weight," he revealed. "But I won't change my silhouette. The only style of clothing that fits my physique is a toga. It conceals, it lies. My tailor is coming up from San Diego to survey me for three suits. My dinner jacket was getting frayed so I called him up and told him to cut up a few tents and make me a new one."

The 25-year-old Buono is competing in Hollywood's toughest category, character acting. There are many good character actors in town and not enough roles to go around.

"I've done about 40 television shows," he said. "They have prepared me for the longer more arduous motion picture roles.

"I've worked with some fine actors and learned some nasty little scene grabbing tricks from them."

Buono never considered his bulk as a deterrent in the acting profession.

"I feel this is a business where individuality is paramount," he said. If pounds are a mark of individuality, Buono has more than enough.

Damage Suit Filed In Circuit Court

Suit was docketed Wednesday in Circuit Court by Wesley C. Lee, 48 Humbird Street, against Marvin F. Davis, 565 Spring Street, Bedford, in connection with an accident on U. S. Route 220 just north of Cumberland.

The declaration states that the plaintiff was driving north on the highway in a taxicab and as he started to turn into Knob Road the vehicle driven by Davis attempted to pass. A collision ensued.

Lee claims injuries and hospital expenses and loss of wages.

Morse Code Class Planned

The Mountain Radio Club will conduct class again this year in Morse Code for those wishing to become amateur radio operators.

Those interested may attend regardless of age or sex, according to a club spokesman. An effort will be made to assist all those completing the course to obtain an amateur radio license.

Registration will be held at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday, October 2, in the Civil Defense building in Constitution Park. A small fee will be charged.

Classes will begin Wednesday, October 9, and will be held each Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in the Civil Defense building in Constitution Park.

It Didn't Rub Off

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP)—Checking the personal effects of an accident victim, hospital attendants found a "safe driving award." They asked the man, whose car had hit a tree, if the award was his. "Oh no, I just found it," the driver replied from the emergency room cot.

City Police To Crack Down On Speeders

The Police Department is making a concerted effort to reduce speeding in the Frederick Street, Bedford Street, Bedford Road section, Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan said today.

Particular attention is being paid to the hours when children are going to and from school but emphasis is also on other hours in the day, he said.

The 25-mile-an-hour limit is being strictly enforced and "Where school children are concerned, drivers must abide by the law. There is no excuse," the commissioner added.

Keegan said the Gephart School PTA, in a letter signed by its president, Emory V. Turner, had protested the threat to childrens' lives posed by speeders. Mentioned particularly was the time period 8:15 a. m. to 8:40 a. m. It has gotten to the point, Turner said, where parents must accompany their children to see that they get on school buses safely. Turner said he was speaking for 214 families with 160 bus-riding children.

Keegan said the situation is made more dangerous on Bedford Road because of the lack of sidewalks and curbs. Children stand along the road, he added.

Police radar equipment is being operated fulltime and a number of arrests have been made.

Keegan also announced he plans to place a sign in the 1900 block of Bedford Street warning motorists of the presence of children.

Buck Night Slated

Buck night will be held Saturday by Knobley Mountain Post 136, Ridgeley American Legion, from 8:30 to 11:30 p. m. Music for dancing will be provided by Pete Harper's Trio.

Theft Is Reported

Joseph Shriver, of 22 Washington Street, complained to City Police Wednesday that a transistor radio and 100 feet of tape were stolen from his automobile two weeks ago while it was parked at a Greene Street supermarket.

Not Earmarked

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — State legislators were caught with their lack of zoological knowledge showing.

A senate bill providing for the tattooing of identification numbers on ears of nutria, a rodent-like fur-bearing animal, had to be amended. Seems the little fellow's ears aren't big enough to put numbers on. The measure was amended to provide that they be placed instead on the nutria's "big webbed feet."

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 306 The Civil War made staples of "canned" foods everywhere. As summer came in 1863, the federal government had found keeping armed men in the field and on naval crafts supplied with the foods necessary for health, energy and morale was too big a problem for old methods. "From Eastport, Me., to Bridgeville, Del.; from the eastern shore of Maryland to the Middle West, large and small canneries . . . profited by a discovery which had become common property—the calcium chloride of Isaac Solomon," it is recalled in Earl Chapin May's history, "The Canning Clan: A Pageant of Pioneering Americans" (pub. by Macmillan).

Preserving of foods in jars went back centuries, but "putting up" edibles and potables in glass was new in the 1820s, when Boston plants were producing pickles, sauces, jellies, jams, fish, meat pastes in containers for ship fare, inland trade and export. A venturesome Bostonian, Wm. Underwood, put tomatoes on the market in glass at a time when this fruit was deemed by many either (a) poisonous or (b) an evil stimulant, and he did much to end prejudice against "the love apple."

New impetus was given to food packing in the 1830s by Thomas Kensett's and Ezra Daggett's introduction of preserves in tin-plated sheet iron canisters—soon contracted to "tin cans." Corn, peas, asparagus, peaches were added to the list of "canned" goods successfully.

The process was made much more successful commercially by the aforementioned Solomon device of adding calcium chloride to the boiling kettles in the canneries, to raise the temperatures high enough for contents to be "cooked" or sterilized quickly. Gail Borden was enabled to "can" (condense) milk much safer for babies than the fresh milk commonly marketed then.

The industry remained small until the impetus given it by the war.

Insects Have Own Repellents

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Entomology researchers at the New York State College of Agriculture, Cornell University, have discovered that certain insects manufacture their own poisons and repellents in impermeable chambers that prevent the poisons from being harmful to the insects themselves.

The scientists report that some insects can spray three feet, hitting their enemy accurately. Some spray concentrated vinegar, some hydrogen cyanide, and one specie of ant secretes citronella.

Parole Violation Charged To Man

A 24-year-old Cresaptown man has been lodged in Allegany County Jail following his arrest by FBI and State Police authorities for violation of federal parole.

George Baber Jr. was arrested yesterday at his home. He had been paroled after conviction of a federal count and a parole violation warrant was issued for his not maintaining contact with his parole officer.

Baber was arrested by the FBI, Cpl. Jack Browning and Trooper Roger Reynolds of the State Police.

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Judge Herndon Inge Jr. of Mobile's Domestic Relation Court registered surprise when a couple seeking a divorce agreed to continue joint ownership of a cemetery plot.

"Does this mean that you don't want to live with this man but plan to be buried alongside him?" he asked.

"Oh, no," replied the woman. "It's a three-grave plot and there will be grave between us."

Inge approved the settlement and granted the divorce.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a boy 13 years old and I read your column every day. I have learned a lot from it.

The letter about the boy who got lonesome at camp and called up his mother to come and get him was interesting. It sounded like something that could happen to me. It probably won't happen to me because I'm scared to go to camp and my mother says I don't have to go if I don't want to.

Two years ago I was invited to spend a night at my friend's house and I never had a worse experience in my whole life. I got so homesick it was terrible. There were two other boys there and they seemed to have a swell time. I felt embarrassed so I hid my loneliness but I didn't sleep a wink.

I realize I have to get over these feelings sometime. It can't go on like this forever. Can you help me with my problem?

—KENNY

DEAR KENNY: Your battle is half won because (1) you recognize that you DO have a problem and (2) you have a genuine desire to do something about it.

The best way to conquer fear is by doing the thing you are afraid to do—over and over—until you have it licked. Ask your mom if she will let you sleep at a friend's house next Friday night. Make up your mind you're going to have a good time. And good luck.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: With all the serious problems that cross your desk I feel guilty taking your time, but this annoyance has made me so angry that sometimes I find myself breaking out in a rash because of it.

I have a dear friend who has a habit of interrupting people when she wishes to speak. She has done this to me time without number. Of course it's bad manners but it's even more than that. It's gross inconsideration and total disregard for the opinions and feelings of others.

There were times when I thought surely this woman must be hard of hearing and unaware that someone else was speaking. I know better now. Please tell me how to deal with this.

—HIVEY HILDA

DEAR HIVEY: People who impose this objectionable habit on others often do not realize the effects it has.

A sure cure is this: When the clod cuts in on you, simply say, "Please don't interrupt. I would like to finish what I'm saying." You will probably be ignored and the clod will continue to talk—but don't relinquish the floor. Repeat the words—emphatically — until she stops talking. If you stick to this routine you will break her of the habit.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I are having a disagreement. It's too late to do anything about the recent occurrence but I would appreciate it if you would settle this for next time.

A business associate of my husband lost his mother last week. The woman was in her 80s but had been in good health and was quite active until the week she died.

We did not know the woman well, but I felt we should attend the funeral because of my husband's association with her son. My husband refused to go to the funeral because, according to him, "We were not invited."

I tried to explain that people do not issue invitations to funerals. My husband stubbornly insisted that since he was not called and notified the woman's death, his presence was not wanted. What about this? —STAYED HOME

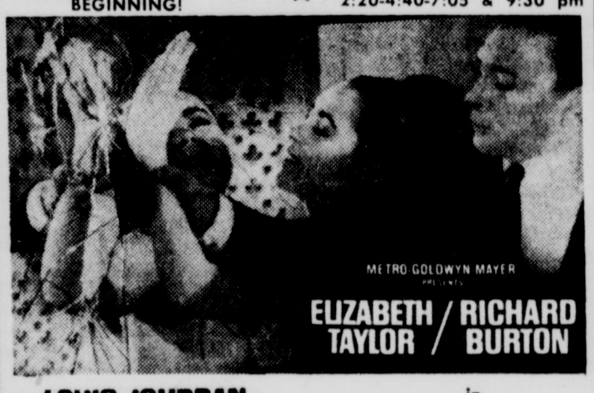

DEAR STAYED: You are right. No invitations are issued for a funeral except in special instances when the funeral is a private one. Private funerals are announced as such in the newspaper.

To learn the booby-traps of teenage drinking, write for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teenage Drinking," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 306 The Civil War made staples of "canned" foods everywhere. As summer came in 1863, the federal government had found keeping armed men in the field and on naval crafts supplied with the foods necessary for health, energy and morale was too big a problem for old methods. "From Eastport, Me., to Bridgeville, Del.; from the eastern shore of Maryland to the Middle West, large and small canneries . . . profited by a discovery which had become common property—the calcium chloride of Isaac Solomon," it is recalled in Earl Chapin May's history, "The Canning Clan: A Pageant of Pioneering Americans" (pub. by Macmillan).

Preserving of foods in jars went back centuries, but "putting up" edibles and potables in glass was new in the 1820s, when Boston plants were producing pickles, sauces, jellies, jams, fish, meat pastes in containers for ship fare, inland trade and export. A venturesome Bostonian, Wm. Underwood, put tomatoes on the market in glass at a time when this fruit was deemed by many either (a) poisonous or (b) an evil stimulant, and he did much to end prejudice against "the love apple."

New impetus was given to food packing in the 1830s by Thomas Kensett's and Ezra Daggett's introduction of preserves in tinplated sheet iron canisters—soon contracted to "tin cans." Corn, peas, asparagus, peaches were added to the list of "canned" goods successfully.

The process was made much more successful commercially by the aforementioned Solomon device of adding calcium chloride to the boiling kettles in the canneries, to raise the temperatures high enough for contents to be "cooked" or sterilized quickly. Gail Borden was enabled to "can" (condense) milk much safer for babies than the fresh milk commonly marketed then.

The industry remained small until the impetus given it by the war.

Insects Have Own Repellents

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Entomology researchers at the New York State College of Agriculture, Cornell University, have discovered that certain insects manufacture their own poisons and repellents in impermeable chambers that prevent the poisons from being harmful to the insects themselves.

The scientists report that some insects can spray three feet, hitting their enemy accurately. Some spray concentrated vinegar, some hydrogen cyanide, and one specie of ant secretes citronella.

Fire Prevention Data Offered By Boy Scouts

Members of Troop 4, Boy Scouts, sponsored by Centre Street Methodist Church, did their "good deed for the day" by distributing posters and pamphlets to business places in observance of Fire Prevention Week—October 6 to 12.

John E. Trost, fire inspector for the Cumberland Fire Department, said a team of 16 Boy Scouts under the leadership of George R. Scarlett, scoutmaster, distributed the posters and pamphlets.

They include John Paulman, Vernon and Kenneth Scarlett, John Bradfield, Michael Graham, Howard Hendricks, John Isiminger, Edward Messmer, James Hockaday, Charles Frederick, Jeffrey Storer, Steve Fryer, Ricky Jewell, Buddy Twigg, and Keith Zembower.

Mr. Trost said the troop has done a similar job in the past.

Commenting on Fire Prevention Week, Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker urges residents not to wait until a fire strikes to learn how to call the fire department.

Know how to reach them and report a fire by telephone, is the advice of the fire chief, who also urges residents to acquaint themselves with the nearest fire alarm box in the neighborhood and how to use.

In the event a fire is reported by use of an alarm box the individual who pulls the box is reminded to remain at the site to show firemen the exact location of the blaze.

Chief Parker also points out that a good way to stop smoking — and living — is to smoke in bed. "Get rid of this habit before it gets rid of you," he said.

Telephone Rate Increase Sought In Two Counties

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The Duncan Telephone Co., Davis, Tucker County, will receive a hearing before the Public Service Commission Oct. 24 on an application to increase rates by $16,000 a year.

The company said the money is needed in combining exchanges and providing new direct distance dialing facilities for residents of Aurora and Eglon, Preston County, and Davis, Thomas and Parsons, Tucker County.

The company said the plan would eliminate toll charges for calls between the two counties for its 2,000 customers. Rates generally would be increased 50 cents a month.

Man Hurt In Auto Crash Is 'Serious'

John Gledhill, 39, of Pittsburgh, remained in "serious" condition last night in Bedford County Memorial Hospital where he was admitted earlier in the day with injuries sustaned in a one-car accident about 10 miles north of Everett on Route 26.

Pennsylvania State Police said he suffered a crushed chest and internal injuries when the car went out of control about 3:17 a.m. (EST) and smashed into a bridge abutment.

They said he was traveling north on the highway when he failed to negotiate a right hand curve and rammed into the abutment. Gledhill was thrown clear of the car, which was demolished.

Credit Union Makes Over 12,000 Loans

The Kel-Co Federal Credit Union, serving 2,547 employes of the Kelly-Springfield, has granted more than 12,000 loans since it was organized in 1955, according to S. J. Domenick, managing director of the Maryland Credit Union League, Inc.

The loans totaled $10,592,178 on August 31, Mr. Domenick said.

Kel-Co's assets total $1,620,220 and loans outstanding total 1,446 for $1,575,934. Reserves and undivided earnings are listed at $110,000.

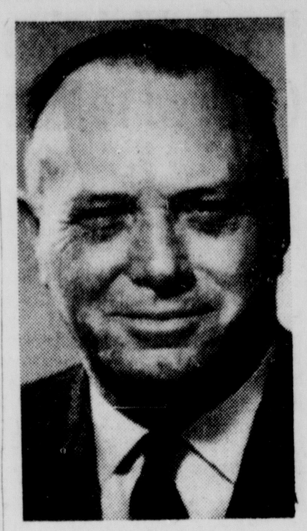

Kel-Co is located in its own building at 200 South Lee Street, Cumberland.

CHESTER A. CRABTREE

JOHN S. WILSON

Gas Company Honors Two Employes For Service

Two Cumberland employes of Columbia Gas of Maryland have been honored by the utility for 25 years service.

Inducted into Columbia's Quarter Century Club at a meeting yesterday at the Cumberland Country Club were John S. Wilson, 1235 Braddock Road, LaVale, and Chester A. Crabtree, 107 Race Street. Each received a gold watch and gold service pin.

Mr. Wilson is manager of Columbia's sprawling District Eight which includes Allegany and Garrett counties in Maryland and Adams and Franklin counties in Pennsylvania.

He started his career with the Columbia Gas System as a laborer at Steubenville, Ohio, on May 27, 1938. He later worked as a customer serviceman, utilityman and utility inspector at Steubenville before being named foreman at Alliance, Ohio, in September 1953.

Mr. Wilson came to Cumberland as assistant district manager on November 7, 1954. He was named to his present position on May 1, 1962.

A World War II Army veteran, he is a member of LaVale Methodist Church, Rotary International, the Masonic Lodge, the Cumberland Country Club and the board of directors of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce. He and his wife, Jane, are parents of a daughter, Mrs. Jane Mullaney, Columbus, Ohio, and a son, Timothy, at home.

Mr. Crabtree, a utility inspector, has spent his entire 25 years with the gas company in Cumberland. He started as a laborer on March 15, 1938, and later worked as a utilityman and street serviceman.

Members of the Cumberland First United Brethren Church, Mr. Crabtree and his wife Belva are parents of three daughters, Janet, at home; Mrs. Lois Rowan, Bowling Green, and Mrs. Faye Hook, Cumberland, and one son, Gerald, Oakland.

Columbia's Quarter Century Club meets annually to induct new members and welcome active and retired club members. The utility has more than 600 employes with 25 or more years of service, or one of every five employed.

Langenfelder Gets Wineow Street Job

The awarding of another contract of the Cumberland Thruway was announced yesterday by John B. Funk, chairman-director of the Maryland State Roads Commission.

The $1,098,099.95 contract for constructing a bridge on the South Approach of the Thruway over the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks and the grading, draining and surfacing of a dual highway from the intersection of Cresap and Thomas streets to Williams Street has been awarded to C. J. Langenfelder and Son, Inc., Baltimore.

It was one of the contracts totaling $1,190,603 awarded this week by the SRC.

APW Projects Are Approved

A field engineer for the Housing and Home Finance Agency yesterday approved the construction of two projects completed here under federal Accelerated Public Works program.

James F. Carroll, Pittsburgh, inspected the Haddon Avenue sewer project and the Ridge Terrace-Thompson Avenue water and sewer project.

He told City Engineer C. R. Nuzum, who accompanied him on the inspection, that the work was satisfactory and that he will so certify to the HHFA.

The receipt of the certification will make it possible for the HHFA to forward to the city its 50 per cent share of the costs.

While here, Mr. Carroll made a preliminary inspection of the proposed Frederick Street storm sewer extension project.

The city was notified early this week that the Community Facilities Administration will grant $46,500 toward the $93,000 project.

Equity Suits Filed

Two new equity suits were filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled Wanda Elizabeth Hansel vs. Robert Dale Hansel and Dorlean V. Groves vs. Howard J. Groves.

Fire Prevention Data Offered By Boy Scouts

Members of Troop 4, Boy Scouts, sponsored by Centre Street Methodist Church, did their "good deed for the day" by distributing posters and pamphlets to business places in observance of Fire Prevention Week—October 6 to 12.

John E. Trost, fire inspector for the Cumberland Fire Department, said a team of 16 Boy Scouts under the leadership of George R. Scarlett, scoutmaster, distributed the posters and pamphlets.

They include John Paulman, Vernon and Kenneth Scarlett, John Bradfield, Michael Graham, Howard Hendricks, John Isiminger, Edward Messmer, James Hockaday, Charles Frederick, Jeffrey Storer, Steve Fryer, Ricky Jewell, Buddy Twigg, and Keith Zembower.

Mr. Trost said the troop has done a similar job in the past.

Commenting on Fire Prevention Week, Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker urges residents not to wait until a fire strikes to learn how to call the fire department.

Know how to reach them and report a fire by telephone, is the advice of the fire chief, who also urges residents to acquaint themselves with the nearest fire alarm box in the neighborhood and how to use.

In the event a fire is reported by use of an alarm box the individual who pulls the box is reminded to remain at the site to show firemen the exact location of the blaze.

Chief Parker also points out that a good way to stop smoking — and living — is to smoke in bed. "Get rid of this habit before it gets rid of you," he said.

Telephone Rate Increase Sought In Two Counties

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The Duncan Telephone Co., Davis, Tucker County, will receive a hearing before the Public Service Commission Oct. 24 on an application to increase rates by $16,000 a year.

The company said the money is needed in combining exchanges and providing new direct distance dialing facilities for residents of Aurora and Eglon, Preston County, and Davis, Thomas and Parsons, Tucker County.

The company said the plan would eliminate toll charges for calls between the two counties for its 2,000 customers. Rates generally would be increased 50 cents a month.

Man Hurt In Auto Crash Is 'Serious'

John Gledhill, 39, of Pittsburgh, remained in "serious" condition last night in Bedford County Memorial Hospital where he was admitted earlier in the day with injuries sustaned in a one-car accident about 10 miles north of Everett on Route 26.

Pennsylvania State Police said he suffered a crushed chest and internal injuries when the car went out of control about 3:17 a.m. (EST) and smashed into a bridge abutment.

They said he was traveling north on the highway when he failed to negotiate a right hand curve and rammed into the abutment. Gledhill was thrown clear of the car, which was demolished.

Credit Union Makes Over 12,000 Loans

The Kel-Co Federal Credit Union, serving 2,547 employes of the Kelly-Springfield, has granted more than 12,000 loans since it was organized in 1955, according to S. J. Domenick, managing director of the Maryland Credit Union League, Inc.

The loans totaled $10,592,178 on August 31, Mr. Domenick said.

Kel-Co's assets total $1,620,220 and loans outstanding total 1,446 for $1,575,934. Reserves and undivided earnings are listed at $110,000.

Kel-Co is located in its own building at 200 South Lee Street, Cumberland.

CHESTER A. CRABTREE

JOHN S. WILSON

Gas Company Honors Two Employes For Service

Two Cumberland employes of Columbia Gas of Maryland have been honored by the utility for 25 years service.

Inducted into Columbia's Quarter Century Club at a meeting yesterday at the Cumberland Country Club were John S. Wilson, 1235 Braddock Road, LaVale, and Chester A. Crabtree, 107 Race Street. Each received a gold watch and gold service pin.

Mr. Wilson is manager of Columbia's sprawling District Eight which includes Allegany and Garrett counties in Maryland and Adams and Franklin counties in Pennsylvania.

He started his career with the Columbia Gas System as a laborer at Steubenville, Ohio, on May 27, 1938. He later worked as a customer serviceman, utilityman and utility inspector at Steubenville before being named foreman at Alliance, Ohio, in September 1953.

Mr. Wilson came to Cumberland as assistant district manager on November 7, 1954. He was named to his present position on May 1, 1962.

A World War II Army veteran, he is a member of LaVale Methodist Church, Rotary International, the Masonic Lodge, the Cumberland Country Club and the board of directors of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce. He and his wife, Jane, are parents of a daughter, Mrs. Jane Mullaney, Columbus, Ohio, and a son, Timothy, at home.

Mr. Crabtree, a utility inspector, has spent his entire 25 years with the gas company in Cumberland. He started as a laborer on March 15, 1938, and later worked as a utilityman and street serviceman.

Members of the Cumberland First United Brethren Church, Mr. Crabtree and his wife Belva are parents of three daughters, Janet, at home; Mrs. Lois Rowan, Bowling Green, and Mrs. Faye Hook, Cumberland, and one son, Gerald, Oakland.

Columbia's Quarter Century Club meets annually to induct new members and welcome active and retired club members. The utility has more than 600 employes with 25 or more years of service, or one of every five employed.

Langenfelder Gets Wineow Street Job

The awarding of another contract of the Cumberland Thruway was announced yesterday by John B. Funk, chairman-director of the Maryland State Roads Commission.

The $1,098,099.95 contract for constructing a bridge on the South Approach of the Thruway over the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks and the grading, draining and surfacing of a dual highway from the intersection of Cresap and Thomas streets to Williams Street has been awarded to C. J. Langenfelder and Son, Inc., Baltimore.

It was one of the contracts totaling $1,190,603 awarded this week by the SRC.

APW Projects Are Approved

A field engineer for the Housing and Home Finance Agency yesterday approved the construction of two projects completed here under federal Accelerated Public Works program.

James F. Carroll, Pittsburgh, inspected the Haddon Avenue sewer project and the Ridge Terrace-Thompson Avenue water and sewer project.

He told City Engineer C. R. Nuzum, who accompanied him on the inspection, that the work was satisfactory and that he will so certify to the HHFA.

The receipt of the certification will make it possible for the HHFA to forward to the city its 50 per cent share of the costs.

While here, Mr. Carroll made a preliminary inspection of the proposed Frederick Street storm sewer extension project.

The city was notified early this week that the Community Facilities Administration will grant $46,500 toward the $93,000 project.

Equity Suits Filed

Two new equity suits were filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled Wanda Elizabeth Hansel vs. Robert Dale Hansel and Dorlean V. Groves vs. Howard J. Groves.

Mr. Khrushchev Sends His Clowns

The Moscow State Circus is one of the world's greatest. It has made tours of Europe, South America, and the Far East. It is now making the friendliest Russian invasion of the United States in the five-and-a-half year history of U. S. - U.S.S.R. cultural exchanges.

After an initial appearance in Philadelphia, the Moscow Circus is playing Madison Square Garden in New York City. After a two-week run there, it goes on to Boston, Pittsburgh, Chicago, Milwaukee and Minneapolis.

The Russians prefer to exchange like to like, and so in the 1963 program the Moscow Circus was swapped for the visit to Russia last July of a group of stars from the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus. The exchange was welcome on both sides, for the circus tradition in America goes back to the days when the land was young, and abroad it goes back for centuries. Indeed, the word traces to the Circus Maximus, the third century, B. C., home of the Roman races.

The first circus as we know it today was conceived by Philip Astley, a Londoner, who in 1768 did trick riding in an indoor ring. He added acrobats, ropewalkers and clowns, and the modern circus was born. The idea soon spread to the Continent and thence to the entire world.

The Moscow Circus is known for its clowns. Of these, the favorite is Oleg Popov who will star on the American tour with his routine on the slack wire. Also there are performing bears and other animals, Cossack riders, aerialists, and more clowns.

To make the circus visit possible, the American Guild of Variety Artists is overlooking its constitutional ban on known Communist Party members. Inasmuch as the Moscow Circus presumably has a few of these in its troupe, the American impresario, Morris Chalfen, is contributing $10,000 to the union's sick and relief fund in lieu of initiation fees and dues.

These Days

What Khrushchev Wants

The recent meeting of Khrushchev and Tito in Yugoslavia had a play-acting quality. There were the embraces in front of the photographers, there were the flowers offered by children. But what did either of the dictators walk away with that was worth the expensive show of amity?

Certainly nothing of a tangible nature was exchanged. Khrushchev apparently gave no assurances to Tito that he could have anything more from Russia than what had already been promised in a previous trade agreement (industrial equipment in exchange for ships and tractors). As for Tito's gifts to Russia, they consisted only of Aeiterations that Yugoslavia was anti-Mao and anti-Albanian, which Khrushchev knew anyway.

The intangibles of the meeting, however, will pay huge dividends to both dictators in the masquerade of "peace" that the Kremlin has decreed for the next epoch in the history of the West. For Tito, there is the benefit of knowing that his ways of organizing his economy (decentralized workers' councils, individual peasant agriculture) have had the tacit blessing of the Kremlin as a "variant orthodoxy" in following the path to socialism. Marxist theoreticians outside of China and Albania will henceforth cease to pick on him, which should please his ego immensely.

As for Khrushchev, the existence of Tito is about to present the Soviets with a foreign policy gambit that could be worth forty divisions, not to mention a couple of sixty megaton bombs. Titoism, in the future, could be Khrushchev's unanswerable secret weapon, a ploy that will enable him to have his cake and eat it, too.

This is so obvious that it is amazing that official Washington has said nothing about it. Despite pious disclaimers, the inclination of our policy-makers is to bet on Khrushchev's trustworthiness. Crediting Khrushchev with honor, Kennedy has been patiently waiting for the Russians to take their soldiers out of Cuba. Well, if Khrushchev is to capitalize on the "image" of trustworthiness (and there is every indication that he intends to), he must somehow seem to disassociate himself from Marxist revolutions wherever they threaten. To get the benefit of "peace" while he is retrieving his mistakes in agriculture, Khrushchev must stop "exporting" revolutions.

He could, of course, turn over the business of fomenting socialist upheavals in South America, Africa and Southeast Asia to Mao Tse-tung.

But this would present Mao with an international propaganda victory that the Soviets have sworn to prevent. However, if a revolution can be decked out in Titoist colors, Moscow can safely deny any official connection with it and still reap the benefits.

Tito's visit to Latin America provides the Kremlin with a tremendous opportunity of cashing in on the have-cake-and-eat-it-too policy. The more successful the Tito triumphal parade can be made to seem, the better for all of Khrushchev's purposes. If Chile, for example, should vote a Communist-oriented government into office in the future, Khrushchev will be able to tell Washington that it was just part of Tito's persuasiveness. Merely an example of "idigenous" socialism, you know. Merely an exhibition of that "variant orthodoxy" that permits any nation to go socialist in its own way.

The danger in all this is compounded for the simple reason that our foreign policy blessed Titoism long before Khrushchev himself got around to it. We have given more than $2 billion in aid to Yugoslavia to finance its own "indigenous" socialism. How, then, could we logically refrain from blessing a "Titoist" takeover in Chile, or in Venezuela, or in British Guiana, or in Brazil?

Khrushchev may even get away with the miracle of throwing the protective mantle of Titoism over Fidel Castro. All he has to do is to remove his soldiers and technicians from Cuba, meanwhile permitting them to be replaced by technicians from East European satellites who can be supplied with "dissident" Communist backgrounds. Then, at an appropriate moment, Castro can announce himself to be a Titoist — and a penitential candidate for U. S. recognition. How, logically, would we be able to withhold this recognition?

Of course, Mao may get to Castro ahead of fake Titoist emissaries from Moscow. Let us, for the sake of clarity, hope that he does.

Guerrilla War In Viet Nam Can Still Be Won

By Joseph Alsop

SAIGON

The Communists are trying to capitalize on the bitter backwash of the Buddhist crisis by another round of grenade-tossing in this grenade-accustomed city. The American Administration, apparently not content to rely on an exceedingly able Ambassador, has sent a second investigative mission to Viet Nam on the very heels of a lower level, just departed mission.

On the surface, in short, both the local situation and the American response to it leave few grounds for encouragement. For the short run, moreover, Pollyanna-ism about the crucially important position here in South Viet Nam is sadly out of place.

The resentment of the government of President Ngo Dinh Liem, which has been so long, so often, and so profusely reported by the local anti-Diem crusaders, was largely a fiction until quite recently. Local politicians out of a job, many of them former French collaborators, blathering about "Vietnamese democracy," provided the main evidence for this famous resentment until just the other day.

Now, however, the Buddhist crisis has had the political effect of a broken mainspring. One result of the crisis has been to cause President Diem himself to lose all sureness of touch. The other and more important result has been to make all those reports of resentment come true at last. There is real bitterness towards the regime now, and the combination of this bitterness with the singular state of affairs in Gia Long palace certainly raises grave questions about the viability of the Diem regime.

There is no cause, however, for the kind of panic to which Washington seems to have succumbed. On any practical calculation, President Diem will either take the needed steps to make his government viable again or strong internal forces will eventually take steps to secure a new government, which will be viable. The odds are very heavy that these are the real alternatives.

On this calculation, patience and calm are the prescriptions for Washington. It is hard to imagine a more ridiculous spectacle than the government of the United States of America reacting like a bee-stung adolescent to the egomaniacal maunderings of Mme. Ngo Dinh Nhu. Surely it ought to be possible to ignore Mme. Nhu—which she will greatly dislike.

The spectacle is rendered alarming as well as ridiculous by Sen. Frank Church, with his resolution designed to undermine the U. S. effort here, and his attendant chorus of experts on guerrilla wars who have never seen a guerrilla war, but still speak ex cathedra about the impossibility of victory. This is a war which must be won, and experience teaches that it can be won.

Today, if you go out and have a look at operations in the countryside, the area that matters most, this war is still going remarkably well. Later, if the government is not somehow rendered more viable, the feeling in the big cities will spill over into the villages; and then the war will not go well. But this has not happened as yet.

It is a pretty moving experience, moreover, to go out into the provinces and see what is happening. To begin with, the American officers and men who are daily fighting this war, shoulder to shoulder with the Vietnamese, are a rather special breed who make you proud of your country. A great many of them are men to whom that normally awful adjective, "dedicated," can be applied with accuracy. See them in action, and you find yourself recalling that line of Kipling's, "Ye little know of England who only England know"; for they are somewhat unexpected products of the soft affluent society.

Furthermore, these Americans who daily fight the war do not wail that the war cannot be won, or say that the Vietnamese people will not fight for their own freedom and independence. In fact, they say the precise opposite.

The proof of their good judgment is there, in the open, for anyone to see, moreover. It is there in the villages, whose humble, courageous, hard-working people matter so much than more than anyone else in Viet Nam. The central fact in the whole situation here is the simple fact that under the strategic hamlet program, the villagers have been given very modest arms to defend themselves against Communist terrorism; and they have used those arms to defend themselves, often against repeated attacks and heavy odds.

If the people in the villages did not wish to defend themselves, or were ready to turn their new arms against the government forces—as some feared when the hamlet program was launched—this would indeed be a war impossible to win. But the great test was made. The big gamble was taken. And despite variations in the quality of the strategic hamlets from province to province, there is no doubt that the gamble has paid off.

This spring, therefore, this war was being won. It can still be won. And those who wish to lay down the burden the U. S. has assumed here, simply because we are going through a political bad patch, are merely serving the interests of that great humanitarian and democrat, Chairman Mao Tse-tung.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

ONE-HOSS SHAY?—In light of the large issues at stake, Senator Barry Goldwater's method of running his pre-campaign operation is appalling to the political professionals in Washington. It's a one-man show.

Goldwater personally handles requests for speeches and appearances as they pile up in his office. He fills as many as he can. Oftentimes, he takes only one hastily typed copy of his speech with him, thinking nothing about supplying copies for local publicity in the area in which he will speak.

He usually travels alone, not even accompanied by a political aide or researcher. There is seldom any follow-up to this appearance. He sort of lets after-publicity blossom as it will.

This behavior is in sharp contrast to the slick operations carried out in the recent past by such political pros as John F. Kennedy and Richard M. Nixon. Their campaigns were models of nothing overlooked and getting the absolute top mileage out of anything political they did.

In recognition of this, the Senate Republican Committee's top political pro recently approached Goldwater with some ideas on how to modernize and make more efficient his pre-campaign efforts.

"I hate to suggest it, senator," said the official, "but the least you can do is take somebody along to keep a record of the people you meet. It's standard procedure."

Replied Goldwater, grinning, "You leave me alone. I'm doing all right just popping along."

President Wonders If He Went Too Far With Racial Programs

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—There's been a lot of soul-searching and politics-probing inside the White House regarding the race issue, with the President and his brother, the Attorney General, wondering whether they have stuck their necks out too far.

The suburban Philadelphia mob which tried to prevent a Negro family from moving into a new home outside the one-time "City of Brotherly Love," together with the rip-roaring support given Barry Goldwater, plus the political polls showing Negro bias strong in the North as well as the South—all have been carefully noted at the White House.

Noted also is the fact that anti-Kennedy feeling is so strong in the South that any Southern Senator or Congressman opposes the President on the test ban treatry, tax cuts or anything else gets a plus with the voters back home.

All of this was behind a quiet talk Justice Department aides had with Negro leaders last week. Just a few days after the Birmingham tragedy, Negro leaders were called in and told that the civil rights bill would have to be trimmed down if it was to pass Congress. Two trims were proposed:

1. Abandon the FEPC. Ever since the days of Franklin Roosevelt, civil rights leaders have been trying to set up a Fair Employment Practices Commission to prevent racial or religious discrimination in hiring workers. But the South has always blocked it. Southern Senators will do their best to block it today.

2. Knock out the "Mrs. Murphy's boarding house" provision which would integrate small, privately-owned businesses.

Regarding the latter, Sen. Everett Dirksen, R-Ill., the GOP leader, is flatly opposed and his support is needed to get enough votes to end a Southern filibuster through cloture. Dirksen and many Southern Senators backed cloture last year to end the Kefauver filibuster against American Telephone and Telegraph domination of the communications satellite corporation. They broke the filibuster.

Last month Kefauver was speaking against more money being voted to American Tel and Tel when he was stricken on the Senate floor and shortly thereafter died. However, Dirksen and several key Republicans are holding back against cloture on civil rights and the President figures their votes are essential.

This was the word passed on to Negro leaders at the Justice Department on the heels of the Birmingham tragedy.

Note—Biggest factor influencing the President is the tax-cut bill. Southern Senators know they have potent legislative blackmail. By talking for weeks against the civil rights bill they can block a tax cut until the end of the year, thereby making it impossible to reduce taxes in 1963.

JFK has gambled most of his economic program on a tax cut this year just as he gambled most of his program on a trade bill in 1962. He sacrificed other legislation to get the trade bill passed, following which de Gaulle made it useless by blocking British and U. S. membership in the Common Market. This year he is sacrificing other legislation, including civil rights, to pass the tax bill.

America's Conscience Fund

All sorts of people from all over America have dug into their pockets with typical American generosity to help rebuild the bombed-out Baptist Church in Birmingham and aid the bereaved families. They ranged from Harry Guggenheim of New York, the former ambassador to Cuba, to Peter Strauss, who staged a collection on WMCA in New York, to the Hyde Park Community Methodist Church in Cincinnati, to the First Presbyterian Church of Annandale, Va. Collections were also taken up in many churches all over the country.

Significantly, donations are not coming from the North alone. One of the most active money-raisers has been TV Station WBRC in Birmingham itself. R. T. Schlinkert, vice president, started a money-raising campaign immediately and got a fine response from the people of Birmingham.

America's Conscience Fund is chairmanned by Gov. Edmund Brown of California and Charles Taft of Cincinnati and includes a list of distinguished Americans.

Contributions can be sent to America's Conscience Fund, Washington, D. C., 20007.

School Dropouts

Ex-Sen. Bill Benton of Connecticut, the man who introduced the censure motion against Joe McCarthy, and who now is head of Encyclopedia Britannica and U. S. Ambassador to UNESCO, dropped in to see President Kennedy the other day.

"Tell me about Britannica Schools," JFK asked him out of the clear blue.

"Where did you hear about them?" Benton asked.

"From Hubert Humphrey," the President replied.

"Well, I'm going to make Hubert a millionaire like the Kennedys," replied Benton, "so he won't have to grub around to make $500 fees for speaking before druggists.

"The principle is very simple," Benton continued. "Britannica School is appealing to the great mass of students who have dropped out of high school and regret their mistake. We give them a course which will permit them to pass the College Board examinations. The other day we took an ad in the Chicago Tribune which brought us in $50,000 in tuition fees in a period of about six days."

Note—The President is intensely interested in trying to get youngsters who have dropped out of high school back to school again. He has been working with citizens' groups all over the country on the dropout program.

Parents' Attitude Important In School Phobia

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

A widely known tranquilizer corrected school phobia in 8 out of 9 Augusta, Ga., youngsters 8 to 11 years old. The medicine helped them fight that scary feeling about leaving home, enabling them to attend school regularly. What really happened was that the children were enabled to release the tenacious hold on mother's apron strings and get on with the business of learning.

School phobia is a form of separation anxiety and is partial to the only child as well as to the timid, sensitive, and spoiled. Mother tends to be overprotective and overanxious—the type that specializes in "smother love." One authority describes her as being dominated by her children as she had been dominated by her mother.

In some, school phobia begins after a long illness or a change of home or school that allowed a prolonged absence from classes. Others dislike school because they have been teased, ridiculed, bullied, or punished for a poor performance, or for other reasons.

The reaction basically is one of fear; some actually develop physical symptoms such as tummyache, nausea, or headache. These youngsters should not be confused with those who feign illness just because they don't feel like going to school.

The tranquilizer helps the tot get back to class, but usually more than a pill is needed. Mother must be weaned away from her excessive dependence upon the child. The husband also helps by giving emotional support to the wife. The personality and attitudes of the parents play an important role in resolving this situation.

Dr. Gabriel D'Amato compared the results obtained with the tranquilizer with those of 11 children who were given regular psychiatric care without the use of drugs. There was considerable difference, especially in the ease with which the youngsters responded.

TESTS FOR TB

A. M. writes: Is there some definite test that will tell definitely yes or no as to whether a person has tuberculosis?

REPLY

Yes. The tuberculin skin test and chest-X rays offer indirect evidence. Finding the causative organisms in the sputum or other discharges is positive evidence. The secretions can be injected into guinea pigs and a positive diagnosis is made when the animal develops tuberculosis.

Try And Stop Me

John Straley tells about the young Wall Street clerk who was summarily discharged, allegedly having stolen $500 in postage stamps. A crusading lawyer, convinced of the young man's innocence, volunteered to take his case and boasted, "We'll sue that former boss of yours for false arrest, mental cruelty, defamation of character, and several other things I'll think of later. My fee will be $500."

"I haven't got that in cash," admitted the young man. "Can I give it to you in postage stamps?"

In Buffalo, a young lady spotted this ad in the Help Wanted section: "I need a Girl Friday. Starting salary: $300 a month." One applicant arrived at 6:00 a. m. and waited with ill-concealed impatience for the office to open. "You've just got to give me the job," she told the employment clerk. "Who ever heard of getting $300 a month for working only one day a week!"

A snake charmer was introduced to a lady undertaker, and after a whirlwind courtship, persuaded her to marry him. One of their most cherished wedding gifts was a set of towels, marked — how else? — "Hiss" and "Hearse."

A hermit in an obsolete jalopy was apprehended driving at 70 miles an hour. The charge, of course, was recluse driving.

The Dodger baseball team is really a group of Brooklyn boys who cleaned their fingernails and became West Coast remittance men. I am opposed to nuts who disavow a colorful heritage to act like aloof popinjays. The Dodgers have always been crazy. They are the only players who continue to use that greasy kid stuff when they're bald.

Their history really begins in April, 1913, when they opened Ebbets Field in Brooklyn. There was a big crowd on opening day, but somebody forgot to bring the key to the stadium. When the band finally got to the foot of the flagpole, someone remembered that the Dodgers had no flag. The old joke about the Dodgers having three men on base, and a fan asking innocently: "What base?" is not funny.

What other team can say: We had a rookie who was rifled out of the box in the first inning, and refused to leave the mound? None. Who but that Easter egg of managers, Wilbert Robinson, would watch a pitcher get his brains knocked out, and then turn bitterly to his wife and say: "You told me to let him pitch. I hope you're satisfied."

The nuttiness of the team and its players is baseball history. It has been covered by Corum, Graham, Daley, Steiger, Robinson, Parker, Cannon, Kase, and Considine. Arthur Daley once wrote an article in which he stated that Uncle Wilbert, the manager, said that he was starting a bonehead club and that anyone who pulled a rock would have to pay a $10 fine. So saying, he walked out to home plate and handed the umpire the wrong lineup.

Another time, he complained that all his players were missing signals. "The hell with them," he said. "Let's play ball without signs." Of course, Uncle Wilbert was a nut too. He was coaching at third in one game. It was a scoreless tie going into the ninth. Zach Wheat tripled to open the inning.

"Attaboy, kid!" Uncle Wilbert said. "Put 'er there." So Zach ran over to the coach's box to accept congratulations from his boss, and was tagged out. One of the best hitters they ever had—Babe Herman—caught fly balls off his forehead. Another time an old player wanted to coach. "Sure," said the manager. "Go down to third. Nuthin' ever happens there."

Those were amiable happy days, when the fans were no more surprised at what was going on down on the field than the players. Herman once complained to Frank Graham that he was tired of being portrayed as a nut. The writer promised to stop. Herman said "Thanks" and pulled a burned out cigar butt from his jacket pocket. Graham offered a match. "Never mind," said the Babe, puffing. "It's lit."

Tom Meany remembers the time the Babe hit a clutch single. On his way to first, he heard the cheers of the fans and lifted his hat and tripped on the bag and fell flat on his face.

On another occasion, when Chick Fewster, Dazzy Vance, and Hank deBerry found themselves on third base at the same time, someone muttered: "That's the first time all season those guys have been together on anything."

Arthur Daley tells one that is new to me. He says that when Frenchy Bordagaray was on the Dodgers (a ballplayer loses his senses the minute he dons the uniform), he chased a long fly ball, lost his cap, went back, picked it up, and still made the catch.

Casey Stengel was a Dodger. Today he looks like a prune that has been run over by a truck, but once he was young and dizzy. He stepped up to the plate at Ebbets Field and the fans booed him. He raised his cap and a spparow flew out. Duke Snider was a great Dodger. A few weeks ago, he stood in the Polo Grounds and cried because the place is being closed.

That's where Sal Maglie knocked his brains out and where the Giants swindled the Dodgers out of a pennant in 1951. Leo Durocher made pretty good sense when he was a Cardinal. He put on a Dodger uniform and someone told him to beware of the unforseen. "There ain't gonna be no unforeseen," he said.

I'm not certain, but I think the Dodgers are the only team ever to have postponed a game because of fog. Some of it, of course, was internal. In the old days, their announcer was worth the price of admission. One day he got on the loudspeaker to intone: "A child has been found lost." By the time the fans figured out what he meant, the Dodgers had dropped another one.

The Mets and their antics are but pale imitations of the old Dodgers. And the current Dodgers are a zircon imitation of the executive-image Yankees. Baseball isn't baseball anymore. It's big business. It's bookkeeping. It's percentages. The pitchers doze with the ball in their hands, while the batters dig shallow graves with their cleats, and hope the pitcher never throws it.

I'll take the nutty days when baseball and laughter were one...

Mr. Khrushchev Sends His Clowns

The Moscow State Circus is one of the world's greatest. It has made tours of Europe, South America, and the Far East. It is now making the friendliest Russian invasion of the United States in the five-and-a-half year history of U. S. - U.S.S.R. cultural exchanges.

After an initial appearance in Philadelphia, the Moscow Circus is playing Madison Square Garden in New York City. After a two-week run there, it goes on to Boston, Pittsburgh, Chicago, Milwaukee and Minneapolis.

The Russians prefer to exchange like to like, and so in the 1963 program the Moscow Circus was swapped for the visit to Russia last July of a group of stars from the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus. The exchange was welcome on both sides, for the circus tradition in America goes back to the days when the land was young, and abroad it goes back for centuries. Indeed, the word traces to the Circus Maximus, the third century, B. C., home of the Roman races.

The first circus as we know it today was conceived by Philip Astley, a Londoner, who in 1768 did trick riding in an indoor ring. He added acrobats, ropewalkers and clowns, and the modern circus was born. The idea soon spread to the Continent and thence to the entire world.

The Moscow Circus is known for its clowns. Of these, the favorite is Oleg Popov who will star on the American tour with his routine on the slack wire. Also there are performing bears and other animals, Cossack riders, aerialists, and more clowns.

To make the circus visit possible, the American Guild of Variety Artists is overlooking its constitutional ban on known Communist Party members. Inasmuch as the Moscow Circus presumably has a few of these in its troupe, the American impresario, Morris Chalfen, is contributing $10,000 to the union's sick and relief fund in lieu of initiation fees and dues.

These Days

What Khrushchev Wants

The recent meeting of Khrushchev and Tito in Yugoslavia had a play-acting quality. There were the embraces in front of the photographers, there were the flowers offered by children. But what did either of the dictators walk away with that was worth the expensive show of amity?

Certainly nothing of a tangible nature was exchanged. Khrushchev apparently gave no assurances to Tito that he could have anything more from Russia than what had already been promised in a previous trade agreement (industrial equipment in exchange for ships and tractors). As for Tito's gifts to Russia, they consisted only of Aeiterations that Yugoslavia was anti-Mao and anti-Albanian, which Khrushchev knew anyway.

The intangibles of the meeting, however, will pay huge dividends to both dictators in the masquerade of "peace" that the Kremlin has decreed for the next epoch in the history of the West. For Tito, there is the benefit of knowing that his ways of organizing his economy (decentralized workers' councils, individual peasant agriculture) have had the tacit blessing of the Kremlin as a "variant orthodoxy" in following the path to socialism. Marxist theoreticians outside of China and Albania will henceforth cease to pick on him, which should please his ego immensely.

As for Khrushchev, the existence of Tito is about to present the Soviets with a foreign policy gambit that could be worth forty divisions, not to mention a couple of sixty megaton bombs. Titoism, in the future, could be Khrushchev's unanswerable secret weapon, a ploy that will enable him to have his cake and eat it, too.

This is so obvious that it is amazing that official Washington has said nothing about it. Despite pious disclaimers, the inclination of our policy-makers is to bet on Khrushchev's trustworthiness. Crediting Khrushchev with honor, Kennedy has been patiently waiting for the Russians to take their soldiers out of Cuba. Well, if Khrushchev is to capitalize on the "image" of trustworthiness (and there is every indication that he intends to), he must somehow seem to disassociate himself from Marxist revolutions wherever they threaten. To get the benefit of "peace" while he is retrieving his mistakes in agriculture, Khrushchev must stop "exporting" revolutions.

He could, of course, turn over the business of fomenting socialist upheavals in South America, Africa and Southeast Asia to Mao Tse-tung.

But this would present Mao with an international propaganda victory that the Soviets have sworn to prevent. However, if a revolution can be decked out in Titoist colors, Moscow can safely deny any official connection with it and still reap the benefits.

Tito's visit to Latin America provides the Kremlin with a tremendous opportunity of cashing in on the have-cake-and-eat-it-too policy The more successful the Tito triumphal parade can be made to seem, the better for all of Khrushchev's purposes. If Chile, for example, should vote a Communist-oriented government into office in the future, Khrushchev will be able to tell Washington that it was just part of Tito's persuasiveness. Merely an example of "idigenous" socialism, you know. Merely an exhibition of that "variant orthodoxy" that permits any nation to go socialist in its own way.

The danger in all this is compounded for the simple reason that our foreign policy blessed Titoism long before Khrushchev himself got around to it. We have given more than $2 billion in aid to Yugoslavia to finance its own "indigenous" socialism. How, then, could we logically refrain from blessing a "Titoist" takeover in Chile, or in Venezuela, or in British Guiana, or in Brazil?

Khrushchev may even get away with the miracle of throwing the protective mantle of Titoism over Fidel Castro. All he has to do is to remove his soldiers and technicians from Cuba, meanwhile permitting them to be replaced by technicians from East European satellites who can be supplied with "dissident" Communist backgrounds. Then, at an appropriate moment, Castro can announce himself to be a Titoist — and a penitential candidate for U. S. recognition. How, logically, would we be able to withhold this recognition?

Of course, Mao may get to Castro ahead of fake Titoist emissaries from Moscow. Let us, for the sake of clarity, hope that he does.

Guerrilla War In Viet Nam Can Still Be Won

By Joseph Alsop

SAIGON

The Communists are trying to capitalize on the bitter backwash of the Buddhist crisis by another round of grenade-tossing in this grenade-accustomed city. The American Administration, apparently not content to rely on an exceedingly able Ambassador, has sent a second investigative mission to Viet Nam on the very heels of a lower level, just departed mission.

On the surface, in short, both the local situation and the American response to it leave few grounds for encouragement. For the short run, moreover, Pollyanna-ism about the crucially important position here in South Viet Nam is sadly out of place.

The resentment of the government of President Ngo Dinh Diem, which has been so long, so often, and so profusely reported by the local anti-Diem crusaders, was largely a fiction until quite recently. Local politicians out of a job, many of them former French collaborators, blathering about "Vietnamese democracy," provided the main evidence for this famous resentment until just the other day.

Now, however, the Buddhist crisis has had the political effect of a broken mainspring. One result of the crisis has been to cause President Diem himself to lose all sureness of touch. The other and more important result has been to make all those reports of resentment come true at last. There is real bitterness towards the regime now, and the combination of this bitterness with the singular state of affairs in Gia Long palace certainly raises grave questions about the viability of the Diem regime.

There is no cause, however, for the kind of panic to which Washington seems to have succumbed. On any practical calculation, President Diem will either take the needed steps to make his government viable again or strong internal forces will eventually take steps to secure a new government, which will be viable. The odds are very heavy that these are the real alternatives.

On this calculation, patience and calm are the prescriptions for Washington. It is hard to imagine a more ridiculous spectacle than the government of the United States of America reacting like a bee-stung adolescent to the egomaniacal maunderings of Mme. Ngo Dinh Nhu. Surely it ought to be possible to ignore Mme. Nhu—which she will greatly dislike.

The spectacle is rendered alarming as well as ridiculous by Sen. Frank Church, with his resolution designed to undermine the U. S. effort here, and his attendant chorus of experts on guerrilla wars who have never seen a guerrilla war, but still speak ex cathedra about the impossibility of victory. This is a war which must be won, and experience teaches that it can be won.

Today, if you go out and have a look at operations in the countryside, the area that matters most, this war is still going remarkably well. Later, if the government is not somehow rendered more viable, the feeling in the big cities will spill over into the villages; and then the war will not go well. But this has not happened as yet.

It is a pretty moving experience, moreover, to go out into the provinces and see what is happening. To begin with, the American officers and men who are daily fighting this war, shoulder to shoulder with the Vietnamese, are a rather special breed who make you proud of your country. A great many of them are men to whom that normally awful adjective, "dedicated," can be applied with accuracy. See them in action, and you find yourself recalling that line of Kipling's, "Ye little know of England who only England know"; for they are somewhat unexpected products of the soft affluent society.

Furthermore, these Americans who daily fight the war do not wail that the war cannot be won, or say that the Vietnamese people will not fight for their own freedom and independence. In fact, they say the precise opposite.

The proof of their good judgment is there, in the open, for anyone to see, moreover. It is there in the villages, whose humble, courageous, hard-working people matter so much than more than anyone else in Viet Nam. The central fact in the whole situation here is the simple fact that under the strategic hamlet program, the villagers have been given very modest arms to defend themselves against Communist terrorism; and they have used those arms to defend themselves, often against repeated attacks and heavy odds.

If the people in the villages did not wish to defend themselves, or were ready to turn their new arms against the government forces—as some feared when the hamlet program was launched—this would indeed be a war impossible to win. But the great test was made. The big gamble was taken. And despite variations in the quality of the strategic hamlets from province to province, there is no doubt that the gamble has paid off.

This spring, therefore, this war was being won. It can still be won. And those who wish to lay down the burden the U. S. has assumed here, simply because we are going through a political bad patch, are merely serving the interests of that great humanitarian and democrat, Chairman Mao Tse-tung.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

ONE-HOSS SHAY?—In light of the large issues at stake, Senator Barry Goldwater's method of running his pre-campaign operation is appalling to the political professionals in Washington. It's a one-man show.

Goldwater personally handles requests for speeches and appearances as they pile up in his office. He fills as many as he can. Oftentimes, he takes only one hastily typed copy of his speech with him, thinking nothing about supplying copies for local publicity in the area in which he will speak.

He usually travels alone, not even accompanied by a political aide or researcher. There is seldom any follow-up to this appearance. He sort of lets after-publicity blossom as it will.

This behavior is in sharp contrast to the slick operations carried out in the recent past by such political pros as John F. Kennedy and Richard M. Nixon. Their campaigns were models of nothing overlooked and getting the absolute top mileage out of anything political they did.

In recognition of this, the Senate Republican Committee's top political pro recently approached Goldwater with some ideas on how to modernize and make more efficient his pre-campaign efforts.

"I hate to suggest it, senator," said the official, "but the least you can do is take somebody along to keep a record of the people you meet. It's standard procedure."

Replied Goldwater, grinning, "You leave me alone. I'm doing all right just popping along."

Parents' Attitude Important In School Phobia

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

A widely known tranquilizer corrected school phobia in 8 out of 9 Augusta, Ga., youngsters 8 to 11 years old. The medicine helped them fight that scary feeling about leaving home, enabling them to attend school regularly. What really happened was that the children were enabled to release the tenacious hold on mother's apron strings and get on with the business of learning.

School phobia is a form of separation anxiety and is partial to the only child as well as to the timid, sensitive, and spoiled. Mother tends to be overprotective and overanxious—the type that specializes in "smother love." One authority describes her as being dominated by her children as she had been dominated by her mother.

In some, school phobia begins after a long illness or a change of home or school that allowed a prolonged absence from classes. Others dislike school because they have been teased, ridiculed, bullied, or punished for a poor performance, or for other reasons.

The reaction basically is one of fear; some actually develop physical symptoms such as tummyache, nausea, or headache. These youngsters should not be confused with those who feign illness just because they don't feel like going to school.

The tranquilizer helps the tot get back to class, but usually more than a pill is needed. Mother must be weaned away from her excessive dependence upon the child. The husband also helps by giving emotional support to the wife. The personality and attitudes of the parents play an important role in resolving this situation.

Dr. Gabriel D'Amato compared the results obtained with the tranquilizer with those of 11 children who were given regular psychiatric care without the use of drugs. There was considerable difference, especially in the ease with which the youngsters responded.

TESTS FOR TB

A. M. writes: Is there some definite test that will tell definitely yes or no as to whether a person has tuberculosis?

Yes. The tuberculin skin test and chest-X rays offer indirect evidence. Finding the causative organisms in the sputum or other discharges is positive evidence. The secretions can be injected into guinea pigs and a positive diagnosis is made when the animal develops tuberculosis.

President Wonders If He Went Too Far With Racial Programs

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—There's been a lot of soul-searching and politics-probing inside the White House regarding the race issue, with the President and his brother, the Attorney General, wondering whether they have stuck their necks out too far.

The suburban Philadelphia mob which tried to prevent a Negro family from moving into a new home outside the one-time "City of Brotherly Love," together with the rip-roaring support given Barry Goldwater, plus the political polls showing Negro bias strong in the North as well as the South—all have been carefully noted at the White House.

Noted also is the fact that anti-Kennedy feeling is so strong in the South that any Southern Senator or Congressman opposes the President on the test ban treatry, tax cuts or anything else gets a plus with the voters back home.

All of this was behind a quiet talk Justice Department aides had with Negro leaders last week. Just a few days after the Birmingham tragedy, Negro leaders were called in and told that the civil rights bill would have to be trimmed down if it was to pass Congress. Two trims were proposed:

1. Abandon the FEPC. Ever since the days of Franklin Roosevelt, civil rights leaders have been trying to set up a Fair Employment Practices Commission to prevent racial or religious discrimination in hiring workers. But the South has always blocked it. Southern Senators will do their best to block it today.

2. Knock out the "Mrs. Murphy's boarding house" provision which would integrate small, privately-owned businesses.

Regarding the latter, Sen. Everett Dirksen, R-Ill., the GOP leader, is flatly opposed and his support is needed to get enough votes to end a Southern filibuster through cloture. Dirksen and many Southern Senators backed cloture last year to end the Kefauver filibuster against American Telephone and Telegraph domination of the communications satellite corporation. They broke the filibuster.

Last month Kefauver was speaking against more money being voted to American Tel and Tel when he was stricken on the Senate floor and shortly thereafter died. However, Dirksen and several key Republicans are holding back against cloture on civil rights and the President figures their votes are essential.

This was the word passed on to Negro leaders at the Justice Department on the heels of the Birmingham tragedy.

Note—Biggest factor influencing the President is the tax-cut bill. Southern Senators know they have potent legislative blackmail. By talking for weeks against the civil rights bill they can block a tax cut until the end of the year, thereby making it impossible to reduce taxes in 1963.

JFK has gambled most of his economic program on a tax cut this year just as he gambled most of his program on a trade bill in 1962. He sacrificed other legislation to get the trade bill passed, following which de Gaulle made it useless by blocking British and U. S. membership in the Common Market. This year he is sacrificing other legislation, including civil rights, to pass the tax bill.

America's Conscience Fund

All sorts of people from all over America have dug into their pockets with typical American generosity to help rebuild the bombed-out Baptist Church in Birmingham and aid the bereaved families. They ranged from Harry Guggenheim of New York, the former ambassador to Cuba, to Peter Strauss, who staged a collection on WMCA in New York, to the Hyde Park Community Methodist Church in Cincinnati, to the First Presbyterian Church of Annandale, Va. Collections were also taken up in many churches all over the country.

Significantly, donations are not coming from the North alone. One of the most active money-raisers has been TV Station WBRC in Birmingham itself. R. T. Schlinkert, vice president, started a money-raising campaign immediately and got a fine response from the people of Birmingham.

America's Conscience Fund is chairmanned by Gov. Edmund Brown of California and Charles Taft of Cincinnati and includes a list of distinguished Americans.

Contributions can be sent to America's Conscience Fund, Washington, D. C., 20007.

School Dropouts

Ex-Sen. Bill Benton of Connecticut, the man who introduced the censure motion against Joe McCarthy, and who now is head of Encyclopedia Britannica and U. S. Ambassador to UNESCO, dropped in to see President Kennedy the other day.

"Tell me about Britannica Schools," JFK asked him out of the clear blue.

"Where did you hear about them?" Benton asked.

"From Hubert Humphrey," the President replied.

"Well, I'm going to make Hubert a millionaire like the Kennedys," replied Benton, "so he won't have to grub around to make $500 fees for speaking before druggists.

"The principle is very simple," Benton continued. "Britannica School is appealing to the great mass of students who have dropped out of high school and regret their mistake. We give them a course which will permit them to pass the College Board examinations. The other day we took an ad in the Chicago Tribune which brought us in $50,000 in tuition fees in a period of about six days."

Note—The President is intensely interested in trying to get youngsters who have dropped out of high school back to school again. He has been working with citizens' groups all over the country on the dropout program.

That's where Sal Maglie knocked his brains out and where the Giants swindled the Dodgers out of a pennant in 1951. Leo Durocher made pretty good sense when he was a Cardinal. He put on a Dodger uniform and someone told him to beware of the unforseen. "There ain't gonna be no unforeseen," he said.

I'm not certain, but I think the Dodgers are the only team ever to have postponed a game because of fog. Some of it, of course, was internal. In the old days, their announcer was worth the price of admission. One day he got on the loudspeaker to intone: "A child has been found lost." By the time the fans figured out what he meant, the Dodgers had dropped another one.

The Mets and their antics are but pale imitations of the old Dodgers. And the current Dodgers are a zircon imitation of the executive-image Yankees. Baseball isn't baseball anymore. It's big business. It's bookkeeping. It's percentages. The pitchers doze with the ball in their hands, while the batters dig shallow graves with their cleats, and hope the pitcher never throws it.

I'll take the nutty days when baseball and laughter were one...

The first women's club in the U. S. was organized in New Harmony, Ind. — Factographs. Sounds like an ideal place for that.

In Loestoft, England, burglars used too powerful an explosive, the blast destroying the safe and the money it contained. In fact, the entire job was a complete bust.

United Fund Names Tri-Towns Leaders

Campaign Goal Set At $12,150

WESTERNPORT — Tri-Towns area co-chairmen for the seventh County United Fund campaign have been appointed and wheels have been set in motion for reaching the district's 1963 CUF goal of $12,150.

Accepting appointments by Walter E. Dyck, general co-chairman for the yearly "campaign of good" in Allegany and Mineral counties, were Robert L. Smith, Piedmont manager of the Potomac Light and Power Company, and Dr. Robert W. Bess Jr., Piedmont physician.

Dr. Bess and Smith will lead efforts toward the area's goal and set up their organization for the Golden Gifts, Classified and Business divisions drive in the Piedmont, Westernport and Luke.

The Golden Gifts goal is $10,500; Classified, $1,250 and Business, $400. The goals were set after a careful study of this community's health, social service and youth needs by the Allocations Committee.

The CUF volunteer allocations group met with CUF's participating services in the Tri-Towns and Piedmont area to study their needs. Then CUF's executive committee took final action on setting the 1963 goal.

Dr. Bess commented that "the countless people helped every day of the year by CUF givers through their once-a-year gift provide all of us with good reasons to give big." He served previous CUF campaigns as a member of the Golden Gifts Division.

Smith, an employe of PL&PC since 1948, is a graduate of Frederick High School and the Maryland School of Accounting, Baltimore. He was assigned to his present post in January 1962, succeeding Wilbur S. Cather. He is vice president of the Piedmont Rotary Club and a member of Piedmont Presbyterian Church. Smith, his wife and their two daughters reside at 138 Church Street, Westernport.

Dr. Bess holds a degree from the Medical College of Virginia, Richmond. He completed his internship at Winchester Memorial Hospital. A graduate of Mercersburg Academy, he also holds AB, BS and MS degrees from West Virginia University. He is past president of the Piedmont Rotary Club and is serving as chairman of the Tri-Towns Community Council.

Dr. Bess, his wife and their four children reside on Horse Rock Road, Westernport.

Methodists Plan Workshop At Petersburg

PETERSBURG — A workshop on the new curriculum for children of the Methodist Church, Moorefield District, will be held October 22 in Petersburg Methodist Church from 2 to 4 p. m. and 7:30 to 9:30 p. m.

The new curriculum will be known as "Christian Studies for Methodist Children." It will include all children from birth to 12 years of age.

The workshop will be under the direction of Mrs. Mildred Young, conference director of children's work, and the following district directors: Mrs. E. E. Childers, Clarksburg; Mrs. E. N. Goode, Oak Hill, and Mrs. Paul Roach, Springfield.

An evening meal will be served to all those who make reservations with Mrs. Paul Roach, Springfield, by October 14.

The new curriculum will be put in use September 1, 1964.

Eight Students Finish Summer Work At PSC

KEYSER — A list of eight students who completed requirements for graduation from Potomac State College during the summer months has been released by Miss Helen C. Criner, registrar.

They included: Melvin E. Arnold and Michael V. Pratt, both of Kitzmiller, pre-education; Harold J. Mitchell, Franklin, agriculture; John F. Hamilton, Keyser, arts and sciences; Ronald L. Schwenninger, Cumberland; Terry C. Stanhagen, Keyser, and David W. Keller, Westernport, all in engineering; and Gerald L. Gould, New Haven, Conn., prelaw.

Miss Criner said that a total of 255 students attended the two six-weeks summer sessions.

Boys 4-H Club To Be Organized

FROSTBURG—Charles Babach, assistant county agent, will meet with boys ten to nineteen (10-19) years of age who are interested in joining a boys 4-H Club in the Frostburg area. The meeting will be held in the recreation room of Frostburg Public Library on Friday at 4 p.m. Parents are welcome to attend. For further information, call OV 9-8558, Eileen Morgan or OV 9-8914, James Morgan Jr.

Public Housing Project Data Is Received

Frostburg Plans 50 Units For Senior Citizens

FROSTBURG — William Sluss, executive director of the Frostburg Housing Authority, and S. Russ Minter, Cumberland architect, recently attended a conference in Philadelphia with Regional Housing Administration officials for the purpose of discussing a development program the authority had submitted.

Results of the conference were presented to members of the local board at its monthly meeting for consideration and action.

Members decided to instruct Sluss to revise its development program for re-submission. The revised development program will call for a 50-unit apartment building for senior citizens.

The program has been submitted and word of its approval is being awaited.

According to the 1960 census Frostburg had a population of almost 900 persons 62 years of age or older. Members of the Housing Authority felt that with this number of senior citizens in Frostburg the need of 50 housing units for them was of the utmost importance.

The design of the apartment building will include such features as no steps, all doors wide enough to accommodate wheel chairs, free use of hand rails and a large indoor recreation area complete with kitchen and lavatory facilities.

Clubs will be formed and a full schedule of activities will be available to all occupants who wish to participate.

PSC Honor Society Plans Convocation

KEYSER — Sigma Phi Omega Honor Society will present its annual "Know Your Organizations" convocation on Wednesday, October 2, at 11 a.m. in the auditorium of the Administration Building at Potomac State College.

Dr. Nancy M. Miller, faculty advisor, will supervise the program given as part of freshman orientation.

Miss Dinah Sue Wells, Keyser, president of the group, will preside. Short accounts of the history, purpose, and future plans of campus organizations will be discussed by representatives of various campus groups.

Each freshman attending will be given a roster of organizations and their respective officers.

Church Sponsors Supper Tonight

PIEDMONT—Piedmont Presbyterian Church will hold a family night fellowship supper at 6 p. m. today in the social hall.

Each family is asked to bring a covered dish. Rev. Raymond Gau, pastor, will be in charge of the program.

Enter Hospital

FROSTBURG — Recenly admitted to Miners Hospital were Michele Broadwater, Barton; Myrtle Rowan, Lonaconing and Brent Erskine, Sunnytown, Pa.

Former Home Ec Director Named To Pakistan Unit

KEYSER — Announcement has been made that Miss Ruth D. Noer, former director of the School of Home Economics at West Virginia University, has assumed the position of advisor for the division of home economics being established at Lahore, Pakistan, by the Rockefeller Foundation through Oklahoma State University.

Miss Noer, who is well-known in the Keyser area having visited the Potomac State College campus on a number of occasions, accepted her new appointment effective September 1. She directed the School of Home Economics at WVU for 22 years before retiring from that post on October 1, 1960, to return to teaching.

A native of Menominee, Mich., she spent most of her girlhood days in Wabine, Wis. She earned her bachelor's degree from the University of Wisconsin and her master's from the University of Minnesota. She also engaged post master's studies at the University of Chicago and Columbia University.

Miss Noer taught at a girls' school in St. Paul, Minn., as well as instructing at the University of Minnesota, before coming to WVU to teach home economics in 1925. In 1929, Miss Noer was appointed Dean of Women, a position she held until 1938.

She was director of the School of Home Economics from 1938 to 1960. During her tenure, 915 students were graduated with degrees in home economics and 154 received master of science degrees in the division.

She was cited by Gamma Sigma Delta with a special certificate of merit for distinguished service to West Virginia agriculture as well as to the schools and many students she served.

Minister Is Reappointed To Planning Commission

WESTERNPORT — The Mayor and Council this week re-appointed Rev. Henry G. Laube to the Westernport Planning Commission for a five-year term. His present two-year term recently expired.

Rev. Laube, pastor of First Baptist Church, is a member ex-officio of the Land Use and Building Citizens Advisory Committee.

Harry Reeves made application for a water and sewer tap, and building permit for a new home being constructed on Wood Street. He inquired about the most feasible location for the sewer line tie-in. Commissioners Robert Kalbaugh and L. C. Lambert will investigate.

This raised the question of numerous building contractors and home owners doing extensive construction work without first applying for the required permit. Occasionally, no provision is made for practical or approved tie-ins with municipal facilities.

The group decided to halt any future construction until the permit is issued.

Council decided to secure price bids for installation of 200 feet of re-inforced concrete sewer pipe on Central Avenue. The pipe was purchased at a cost of $7.05 per foot.

Mayor Ray L. Wilt stated that the recent wage increase for the town employes included paid holidays. Adjustment was made on a water bill for Robert Gerfin, who complained that his meter did not register properly. There was a discussion concerning a new police ordinance and obtaining radar equipment, but no action was taken.

Extensive construction work continues on Poplar Street, and it was disclosed that five poles are to be moved. This is preliminary work to make the street ready for hard-surfacing, a project earmarked for next summer

Enrollment At PSC Is 665

KEYSER — Present enrollment at Potomac State College stands at 665 with registration for fall semester scheduled to close at the end of this week, according to Miss Helen C. Criner, registrar.

Compared with last year's final figure of 689 the current figure, which could change by the end of the week, represents a drop of about three per cent.

A breakdown of figures shows 395 full-time freshmen (up from last year's 370) with 282 men and 113 women. The Sophomore Class numbers 254 compared with 274 last year, the group having 199 men and 55 women. Overall, men outnumber women 478 to 168 for a four-to-one ratio.

The total includes 16 special students in music, seven of whom were selected in accordance with a new plan on the basis of a music test administered through the department. Twenty-two took the test.

Prof. Anderson Serves As Judge

KEYSER—Prof. Orval J. Anderson, chairman of the English Department at Potomac State College, served this year for the third time as a member of the judging team for the annual National Council Teachers of English Achievement Awards Program.

With high school sophomores and juniors in the competition, winners' names are given national circulation among colleges, enabling colleges to recruit superior students in the fields of literature and language study.

Anderson read papers for West Virginia entrants this year. Last year he judged entries from American students studying in high schools abroad.

Sunshine Card Club Entertained

MT. SAVAGE — The Sunshine Card Club was entertained at the home of Mrs. Wilma Shaffer, Newton. Five hundred was played and refreshments served.

Mrs. Vivian Mullaney, Mrs. Hazel Often and Mrs. Hazel Schelbe were prize winners. Mrs. Leona Carter, Railroad Street will entertain the group next at her home.

PSC Faculty Plans Student Reception

KEYSER—The Potomac State College faculty will be host to the student body at a reception October 3, beginning at 8:30 p. m.

David G. Nuzum, director of student affairs, is general chairman of the program. He will be assisted by Miss Helen Criner, Dr. Nancy M. Miller and Kenneth Malone.

Receiving lines will form as students progress from the lounge of Friend Hall to Memorial Hall and the science building where refreshments will be served with members of Sigma Phi Omega Honor Society assisting.

Dancing will follow in the college gymnasium.

Midland Girl Is Beauty Finalist

MIDLAND—Miss JoRetha Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Jones, Big Lane, who is employed in the District Building of the Department of Highways and Traffic, Washington, D. C., was one of the four finalists chosen to be Miss Fire Prevention Week of Washington, D. C.

When the judges were unable to decide on the four finalists, the names were put in a hat and Miss Jones lost out in the drawing. The winner was given a week off from her work and the honor of appearing at different functions throughout the city.

Enters University

FROSTBURG — Dennis Lennox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Lennox, RD 2, Frostburg has entered John's Hopkins University. Lennox is a 1963 graduate of Beall High School.

New Town Hall Is Proposed At Piedmont

Would Combine With Fire House

PIEDMONT—A group of citizens met Monday night in the Piedmont Library to discuss the erection of a combined fire hall and community center. Mrs. Anna Stevenson, town councilwoman, acted as chairman.

Formal action was delayed until October 14 when interested residents and civic group representatives will attend another meeting in the library at 8 p. m. Officers will be elected and a building committee and board of directors named.

In discussing the need for such a project, it was pointed out that the addition to the original fire hall on Third Street a few years ago is not adequate to house added equipment.

Tentative plans call for the erection of a two-story building on the present site; raze the old part of the structure, and enlarge the building to accommodate two fire trucks, storage for additional equipment, lockers and showers on the first floor. The second floor will be used as a community center and include a kitchen.

Mayor Donald M. Mellor will design a plan, incorporating the proposed ideas, to present at the next meeting for approval.

Tri-Towns Fire Company 1, which was incorporated in February 1912, has a membership of 29 volunteer firemen. Officers include Elwood Bevans, president; Raymond Lee, chief; Harold Simpson, assistant chief; Carl Liller, vice president; James Racco, secretary; William Frantz, treasurer; Ronald Tasker, financial secretary, and Elmer Van Pelt, sergeant-at-arms.

At a recent mortgage burning ceremony, firemen cancelled a debt of $20,750 incurred five years ago with the purchase of a new fire truck. The principal of $18,500 included the cost of the truck at $15,500, an addition to the fire house for $2,000 and rescue equipment costing $1,000. The interest amounted to $2,250. The final installment on the mortgage was paid last June 24.

Money to pay off the debt was raised from personal donations, business people, coin cards, carnivals and other fund raising projects sponsored by the fire company.

The group attending the meeting felt that citizens of the community should assume this undertaking. It was estimated the total project will cost approximately $35,000.

Valuable Contributions Made To Keyser Library

KEYSER — Several valuable additions have been made to the Keyser-Mineral County Library through the generosity of patrons and interested townspeople.

Ervin L. Dayton, 141 State Street, professor of economics at Potomac State College and a lifelong resident of Keyser, has presented the library copies of some interesting independent research which he has done.

There is a typescript of "Uncle Richard's Flute", which traces the history of a rosewood flute which has been in the Thrush family since before the Civil War and Uncle Richard's eventful service with Co. I, 10th West Virginia Infantry. The other paper concerns James Henry Vernon, for whom Vernon Street in Keyser was named. Vernon was one of the few survivors of Pickett's Charge at Gettysburg.

Dealing with West Virginia history, a recent purchase by the library was George Moore's "A Banner in the Hills." Dr. Moore was professor of history at Fairmont College for many years and this history of the formation of West Virginia has the official approval of the state centennial commission.

In memory of Mrs. Fidessa Freiburger the book, "Signs and Symbols in Christian Art" was presented to the library by Mrs. Paul Blundon and Miss Pauline Gelwicks.

Warner T. Lowry, manager of the Potomac Light and Power Company in Keyser, has presented an almost complete file of the "Valley News Echo" for the reference room at the library. This is a monthly newspaper published by Potomac Edison giving a contemporary account of the Civil War in this area. Publication will cover the period until April 1965.

Mrs. David Young, whose husband has been attached to the Military Department at Potomac State College, donated an entire set of the Reader's Digest, Japanese edition, for the use of those in the area who are capable of reading and speaking that language.

Two Laymen Will Preach At Mt. Savage

MT. SAVAGE—Laymen of Mt. Savage Methodist Church will conduct services Sunday in the absence of Rev. William C. Harpold, pastor.

Lawrence T. Stowell will preach at 8:15 and 10:45 a. m., and Charles R. Goebel will preach at 7:30 p. m. Music will be furnished at 8:15 by the Chapel Choir, at 10:45 by the Senior Choir and at 7:30 by the Junior Choir and visiting singers.

Rev. and Mrs. Harpold and daughter, Lois, will be in Frederick County for a family reunion. Rev. Harpold will preach Sunday at Mountain View Methodist Church in Purdom at 10 a. m., and at the homecoming service at Koontz's Chapel Methodist Church at 3 p. m. Koontz's Chapel was closed for 21 years and Rev. Harpold reopened the church in July 1954 as part of the Urbana Circuit, of which he was then pastor.

Sunday night, Rev. Harpold will entertain the family gathering with colored slides and movies of his recent trip with his wife and daughter to Mexico, California and Canada.

Mayor Ray L. Wilt stated that the recent wage increase for the town employes included paid holidays. Adjustment was made on a water bill for Robert Gerfin, who complained that his meter did not register properly. There was a discussion concerning a new police ordinance and obtaining radar equipment, but no action was taken.

Extensive construction work continues on Poplar Street, and it was disclosed that five poles are to be moved. This is preliminary work to make the street ready for hard-surfacing, a project earmarked for next summer

Enrollment At PSC Is 665

KEYSER — Present enrollment at Potomac State College stands at 665 with registration for fall semester scheduled to close at the end of this week, according to Miss Helen C. Criner, registrar.

Compared with last year's final figure of 689 the current figure, which could change by the end of the week, represents a drop of about three per cent.

A breakdown of figures shows 395 full-time freshmen (up from last year's 370) with 282 men and 113 women. The Sophomore Class numbers 254 compared with 274 last year, the group having 199 men and 55 women. Overall, men outnumber women 478 to 168 for a four-to-one ratio.

The total includes 16 special students in music, seven of whom were selected in accordance with a new plan on the basis of a music test administered through the department. Twenty-two took the test.

Prof. Anderson Serves As Judge

KEYSER—Prof. Orval J. Anderson, chairman of the English Department at Potomac State College, served this year for the third time as a member of the judging team for the annual National Council Teachers of English Achievement Awards Program.

With high school sophomores and juniors in the competition, winners' names are given national circulation among colleges, enabling colleges to recruit superior students in the fields of literature and language study.

Anderson read papers for West Virginia entrants this year. Last year he judged entries from American students studying in high schools abroad.

Sunshine Card Club Entertained

MT. SAVAGE — The Sunshine Card Club was entertained at the home of Mrs. Wilma Shaffer, Newton. Five hundred was played and refreshments served.

Mrs. Vivian Mullaney, Mrs. Hazel Often and Mrs. Hazel Schelbe were prize winners. Mrs. Leona Carter, Railroad Street will entertain the group next at her home.

PSC Faculty Plans Student Reception

KEYSER—The Potomac State College faculty will be host to the student body at a reception October 3, beginning at 8:30 p. m.

David G. Nuzum, director of student affairs, is general chairman of the program. He will be assisted by Miss Helen Criner, Dr. Nancy M. Miller and Kenneth Malone.

Receiving lines will form as students progress from the lounge of Friend Hall to Memorial Hall and the science building where refreshments will be served with members of Sigma Phi Omega Honor Society assisting.

Dancing will follow in the college gymnasium.

Midland Girl Is Beauty Finalist

MIDLAND—Miss JoRetha Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Jones, Big Lane, who is employed in the District Building of the Department of Highways and Traffic, Washington, D. C., was one of the four finalists chosen to be Miss Fire Prevention Week of Washington, D. C.

When the judges were unable to decide on the four finalists, the names were put in a hat and Miss Jones lost out in the drawing. The winner was given a week off from her work and the honor of appearing at different functions throughout the city.

Enters University

FROSTBURG — Dennis Lennox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Lennox, RD 2, Frostburg has entered John's Hopkins University. Lennox is a 1963 graduate of Beall High School.

New Town Hall Is Proposed At Piedmont

Would Combine With Fire House

PIEDMONT—A group of citizens met Monday night in the Piedmont Library to discuss the erection of a combined fire hall and community center. Mrs. Anna Stevenson, town councilwoman, acted as chairman.

Formal action was delayed until October 14 when interested residents and civic group representatives will attend another meeting in the library at 8 p. m. Officers will be elected and a building committee and board of directors named.

In discussing the need for such a project, it was pointed out that the addition to the original fire hall on Third Street a few years ago is not adequate to house added equipment.

Tentative plans call for the erection of a two-story building on the present site; raze the old part of the structure, and enlarge the building to accommodate two fire trucks, storage for additional equipment, lockers and showers on the first floor. The second floor will be used as a community center and include a kitchen.

Mayor Donald M. Mellor will design a plan, incorporating the proposed ideas, to present at the next meeting for approval.

Tri-Towns Fire Company 1, which was incorporated in February 1912, has a membership of 29 volunteer firemen. Officers include Elwood Bevans, president; Raymond Lee, chief; Harold Simpson, assistant chief; Carl Liller, vice president; James Racco, secretary; William Frantz, treasurer; Ronald Tasker, financial secretary, and Elmer Van Pelt, sergeant-at-arms.

At a recent mortgage burning ceremony, firemen cancelled a debt of $20,750 incurred five years ago with the purchase of a new fire truck. The principal of $18,500 included the cost of the truck at $15,500, an addition to the fire house for $2,000 and rescue equipment costing $1,000. The interest amounted to $2,250. The final installment on the mortgage was paid last June 24.

Money to pay off the debt was raised from personal donations, business people, coin cards, carnivals and other fund raising projects sponsored by the fire company.

The group attending the meeting felt that citizens of the community should assume this undertaking. It was estimated the total project will cost approximately $35,000.

Water Company Meeting Called

FROSTBURG — The Welsh Hill-Wrights Water Company will meet October 2, in the City Hall at Frostburg at 7:15 p.m.

Important business must be transacted at this time and it is urgent that all members attend.

Valuable Contributions Made To Keyser Library

KEYSER — Several valuable additions have been made to the Keyser-Mineral County Library through the generosity of patrons and interested townspeople.

Ervin L. Dayton, 141 State Street, professor of economics at Potomac State College and a lifelong resident of Keyser, has presented the library copies of some interesting independent research which he has done.

There is a typescript of "Uncle Richard's Flute", which traces the history of a rosewood flute which has been in the Thrush family since before the Civil War and Uncle Richard's eventful service with Co. I, 10th West Virginia Infantry. The other paper concerns James Henry Vernon, for whom Vernon Street in Keyser was named. Vernon was one of the few survivors of Pickett's Charge at Gettysburg.

Dealing with West Virginia history, a recent purchase by the library was George Moore's "A Banner in the Hills." Dr. Moore was professor of history at Fairmont College for many years and this history of the formation of West Virginia has the official approval of the state centennial commission.

In memory of Mrs. Fidessa Freiburger the book, "Signs and Symbols in Christian Art" was presented to the library by Mrs. Paul Blundon and Miss Pauline Gelwicks.

Warner T. Lowry, manager of the Potomac Light and Power Company in Keyser, has presented an almost complete file of the "Valley News Echo" for the reference room at the library. This is a monthly newspaper published by Potomac Edison giving a contemporary account of the Civil War in this area. Publication will cover the period until April 1965.

Mrs. David Young, whose husband has been attached to the Military Department at Potomac State College, donated an entire set of the Reader's Digest, Japanese edition, for the use of those in the area who are capable of reading and speaking that language.

Two Laymen Will Preach At Mt. Savage

MT. SAVAGE—Laymen of Mt. Savage Methodist Church will conduct services Sunday in the absence of Rev. William C. Harpold, pastor.

Lawrence T. Stowell will preach at 8:15 and 10:45 a. m., and Charles R. Goebel will preach at 7:30 p. m. Music will be furnished at 8:15 by the Chapel Choir, at 10:45 by the Senior Choir and at 7:30 by the Junior Choir and visiting singers.

Rev. and Mrs. Harpold and daughter, Lois, will be in Frederick County for a family reunion. Rev. Harpold will preach Sunday at Mountain View Methodist Church in Purdom at 10 a. m., and at the homecoming service at Koontz's Chapel Methodist Church at 3 p. m. Koontz's Chapel was closed for 21 years and Rev. Harpold reopened the church in July 1954 as part of the Urbana Circuit, of which he was then pastor.

Sunday night, Rev. Harpold will entertain the family gathering with colored slides and movies of his recent trip with his wife and daughter to Mexico, California and Canada.

Scholarship Fund At PSC Is Established

First Grant Is Authorized

KEYSER — Shortly after the death of Dean K. S. McKee last spring, enthusiasm ran high at Potomac State College for the establishment of a scholarship fund which would bear his name

The following committee was appointed for the project: Prof. David G. Nuzum, chairman, Capt. Ernest Ackiss, Prof. Oscar Gustafson, Dr. Nancy M. Miller, Prof. Dudley Gordon, Student Body President-elect Ray McManis, David Felton, Donald Shaffer, Charles Homan and Jean Bonafield. The group decided upon the name "The Dean K. S. McKee Memorial Scholarship Fund."

Word had spread rapidly and, at the time of the committee's meeting, a total of $823 had been contributed by faculty, administration, Roth Military Honorary Society, students of Davis and Memorial halls, and friends of Dean McKee.

Additional amounts are being added, and anyone desiring to contribute may do so by giving or sending contributions to the college finance officer, John Raschella, custodian of the fund.

The committee decided to establish one scholarship of $150 for the current school year, a grant to be given to a sophomore who attended here last year as a freshman. The college scholarship committee has been named to select this recipient and all future ones on the basis of scholarship, citizenship and need.

The balance of the fund is to be invested to provide an income which will determine the amount of the annual grant perpetually.

Freshmen Hazing At FSC

"Hep, Two, Three, Four", sings out Beverly Earnest of Baltimore, a sophomore at Frostburg State College, as she marches a group of girls from Frost Hall to the dining hall for their evening meal at Frostburg State College. Many of these marching groups have been seen on the Frostburg campus this week as the Freshmen are "whipped into line" by the Sophomores, in typical college initiation tradition.

Billy Graham Films To Be Shown Monday

FROSTBURG — Evangelist Billy Graham addresses the generation growing up in the shadow of the atomic cloud in his newest feature motion picture, "Touch of Brass" which will be shown in Frostburg Monday, September 30, at 8 p.m. at Welsh Memorial Baptist Church, according to Rev. Demauth Blanton, pastor.

Scheduled with the dramatic feature, is a musical featurette, "To God The Glory," which features the talent and artistry of the Billy Graham platform team: Cliff Barrows, song leader and master of ceremonies; George Beverly Shea, internationally known bass baritone soloist; Tedd Smith and Don Hustad at piano and organ and the voices of the Chritianaires Choir.

A unique highlight is a "Sing Along" segment in which the audiences participates as Cliff Barrows conducts.

Hardy Co. GOP Gets New Chairman

MOOREFIELD — Cline Arnold Ludwick Jr. has been named chairman of the Hardy County Republican Executive Committee to replace Herman 'Jack' Sions, who resigned because of ill health. The action was taken last week when the executive committee met in Moorefield.

Mr. Sions, the "Mr. Republican" of Hardy County, has been chairman of the county committee for more than 35 years. The committte passed a resolution of thanks to Mr. Sions, who has earned the respect and affection of both Republicans and Democrats alike, for his many years of work in politics.

Ludwick, manager and owner of Ludwick Chevrolet, was a candidate for clerk of the courts in the last general election. He is active in civic affairs and his church.

Frostburg Firemen Answer Two Calls

FROSTBURG—The local volunteer fire company was called twice on Wednesday and was assisted on the second call by volunteers of Clarysville.

Firemen from here extinguished a brush fire in Eckhart after receiving a call at 12:22 p. m. In the other call at 8 p. m. the two fire companies team up to quench another brush fire near the Hoffman ballfield. There was no serious damage in either fire, the volunteers said.

Plan Hymn Sing

BARTON — An Old Fashioned Hymn Sing will be held at the First Presbyterian Church Sunday at 7:30 p. m. The public is invited.

Circle Visits Home

FROSTBURG — The Violet Popp Circle of Welsh Memorial Baptist Church visited the ladies of the County Home a recent evening. Each lady was provided with a treat after which members of the Circle conducted a devotional program.

WVEA To Hold Convention At PSC In Keyser

KEYSER — Potomac State College will be the scene of one of six regional conventions of the West Virginia Education Association October 10-11.

W. E. Michael, general chairman of the local committee, will be assisted by the following members of the college and Keyser High School staffs: Owen S. Schaeffer, assistant chairman; Jack Hartman and Frederick Pfeiffer, advertising; Miss Irene Brown and Mrs. Harriet Sheetz, registration; James T. Handlan and Lawrence Fout, exhibits, Mrs. Elizabeth Hanlin and Mrs. Ethel Baker, breakfasts and luncheons; Miss Margaret Rafter and Mrs. Wilma Schaeffer, information.

Ervin L. Dayton and W. A. Miers, housing; Paul Iverson and Virgil Hull, meeting places; Charles Whitehill and Nunzio Barbera, music; Dr. Allan Paine and Lester McDowell, signs and markers; David G. Nuzum and Robert Harman, ushers and guides; Dr. Allen Murphy and Junior Haines, transportation; Dr. Elizabeth Atwater and Frank Calemine, publicity; John Fox and Victor Marsh, stage arrangements.

A number of prominent speakers will participate, including Dr. Paul A. Miller, president of West Virginia University, who will give the principal address October 10.

The two-day session will feature group discussions of an educational nature. Teachers, along with key lay and educational leaders, will begin with 10 broad areas in which educational change appears necessary. Then they will attempt to apply specific new educational goals in each case.

Purpose of the educators' meetings is to help set new goals for West Virginia education.

WMU To Meet

FROSTBURG—The general meeting of the WMU of Welsh Memorial Baptist Church will be held today at 7:30 p. m. Miss Roseann Weber, Maryland BSU Summer Missionary will be the guest speaker.

Refreshments will be served by the Violet Popp Circle.

U.S. Grabs 2-0 Lead In Davis Cup Inter-Zone Semi-Finals

McKinley Beats Mike Sangster In 65 Minutes

Froehling Defeats Knight Of England, Doubles Set Today

By HENRY W. THORNBERRY
UPI Sports Writer

BOURNEMOUTH, England (UPI) — Wimbledon Champion Chuck McKinley and gangling Frank Froehling won their singles matches Thursday to give the United States a 2-0 lead over England in the Davis Cup Inter-Zone Tennis Semifinal and virtual passage to India for the next round.

McKinley took only 65 minutes to demolish big Mike Sangster, 7-5, 6-2, 7-5. Froehling, playing in his first Davis Cup match, rallied gamely to beat southpaw Billy Knight, 4-6, 8-6, 6-4, 6-4.

U. S. team captain Bob Kelleher of Los Angeles said: "We're sitting very pretty, I think. I don't like to forecast in matches such as these, but I feel we are almost there."

Kelleher said he was "particularly delighted" with Froehling's play. "Even when he was trailing 0-5 in the second set, I didn't worry — because he told me not to. He never stopped going, and the way he fought back gave me as much pleasure as the result."

Play Doubles Today

With McKinley and Dennis Ralston odds-on-favorites to beat Sangster and Bobby Wilson in Friday's doubles (starting at 9 a.m. EDT), the U. S. was set for a voyage next month to Madras or Bombay for the inter-zone final, the winner of which will meet defending champion Australia in Brisbane at Christmas.

McKinley took just a short spell to settle down against Sangster on the red shale hardcourt of the West Hants Lawn Tennis Club. He began to dominate the play from mid-way through the first set after he had broken back to level at 3-3. From then on Sangster succumbed to a stream of errors.

Sangster, 22, said afterwards that the stiff breeze and cold, damp conditions "bothered me all the time. I never felt comfortable — but conditions were just the same for Chuck."

Tossed In As Gamble

Froehling, tossed in as an inspired gamble by Kelleher when everybody expected him to field the more experienced Ralston, looked at one stage as though he was going to be swept off court. And Knight, his forehand working superbly, and his vollying supreme, broke in the 10th game to take the first set in 30 minutes.

Knight then produced a fantastic series of super-shots to break service in the second and fourth games of the second set for a 5-0 lead.

At this stage nobody would have given much given much for the American's chances. And then he got a break in the seventh game when Knight netted twice and dropped service to a backhand volley.

Knight fell heavily and cut his left knee in the next game and blood was pouring from the wound as the American broke again to make it 5-4.

The set was clinched on Froehling's service in the 14th game.

Froehling raced to a 5-2 lead in the third set, but Knight broke service in the eighth game on the American's netted errors to delay the inevitable. The vital break in the fourth set came in the fifth game, again on errors by the Englishman, and Froehling took the set and match when Knight hit out in the 10th game.

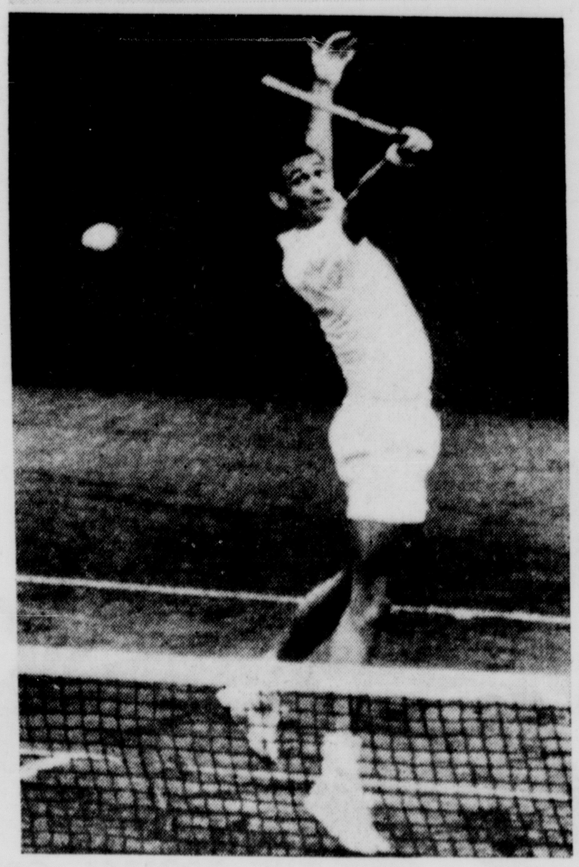

Froehling said, "For the first set and most of the second I didn't think I had a chance of winning. When I trailed 0-5 in the second set, I felt terrible. But when I won the next two games then I knew I could win. Knight had played wonderful tennis to that point, but I think he tired."

Captain Is Jeered

Both teams deprecated the action of the 3,000 spectators in jeering Colonel Duncan MacAuley, captain of the British team, because he didn't fuss around his players like Kelleher.

British coach George Worthington explained: "We were all hopping mad at the reaction of the crowd. We had agreed with Col. MacAuley that he should play as an inactive part on court and leave the rest to us."

VICTORS IN ENGLAND—Chuck McKinley, above, and Frank Froehling, below, are shown in action as they won at Bournemouth, England, yesterday to give the United States a 2-0 lead over England in the Davis Cup Interzone semi-finals. McKinley defeated Mike Sangster in straight sets, 7-5, 6-2, 7-5, and Froehling won over Billy Knight, 4-6, 8-6, 6-4, 6-4. A victory in the doubles today would give the U. S. a shot at India in the last hurdle before the challenge round in Australia, Dec. 26-28.

Steelers' Johnson Needs 82 Yards To Join 5,000 Class

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Fullback John Henry Johnson of the Pittsburgh Steelers will join a select class of National Football League players Sunday if he gains 82 yards against the St. Louis Cardinals.

Johnson needs the 82 yards for a career total of 5,000 yards. Only five NFL players have ever accomplished that feat. They are Joe Perry of the San Francisco 49ers and Baltimore Colts, Jim Brown of the Cleveland Browns, Steve Van Buren of the Philadelphia Eagles, Rick Casares of the Chicago Bears and Hugh Mc Elhenney of the 49ers and New York Giants.

The Steelers are nearly in top physical condition for Sunday's game. Only linebacker Bob Bob Schmitz is a doubtful starter against the undefeated Cardinals. If he is unable to play, his place will be taken by rookie Andy Russell of Missouri.

Cleveland Wins On Held's Homer

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Woody Held opened a 10th inning rally with his 17th home run Thursday night and the Cleveland Indians went on to take a 4-1 victory over the Kansas City Athletics.

Held's solo blast came off loser Moe Drabowsky and sent him to the Showers. The Indians pounced on his successor, Ted Bowsfield, for two more runs when Dick Davalillo reached base on a fielder's choice, Max Alvis singled and Fred Whitfield doubled.

Gary Bell, who relieved rookie starter Tommy John after six innings, picked up his eighth victory against five losses, but needed help in the bottom of the 10th from Ted Abernathy.

Drabowsky, who had retired nine batters in a row and struck out eight before Held's homer broke open the game, suffered his 13th loss in 20 decisions.

Carol Mann Leads

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — Carol Mann, a slender 6-foot-2 lady golfer without a professional tournament win to her credit, shot a 73 despite 108-degree heat Thursday to take the first round lead in the $9,000 Mickey Wright Invitational.

So intense was the heat Thursday that tournament officials cancelled Friday's round, and will complete the tournament in 54 instead of 72 holes. Play will resume Saturday.

Lombardi Says Baltimore Is Always Tough

Colts Have Copped 11 Of 21 Contests

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) — "They've always been a tough team for us."

Packer Coach Vince Lombardi took time out from his preparations for next Sunday's National Football League game here to look at the opponents for the press. And one glance at the series between the Green Bay Packers and Baltimore Colts substantiate's Lombardi's statement.

Green Bay and the Colts have met 21 times, with the Colts winning 11 of them. The Packers narrowed the margin last year with two victories — but both of the wins were close ones.

Lombardi said the Packers would all be ready to play physically and today's workout showed they were ready mentally.

Pads were worn in an hour and a quarter workout, with the blocking and running especially crisp.

Both Lombardi and defensive halfback Willie Wood had words of praise for Colt quarterback Johnny Unitas.

"He gets rid of the ball so quickly," said Wood. "He can find his receivers with his eyes closed . . . . and he can always spot the slightest flaw in the defensive secondary."

"He threw everything against the 49ers," said Lombardi after watching movies of the Colts' 20-14 victory last Sunday. "They stopped themselves a couple of times when they got in there or the score would have been higher."

Twin Cities Seek Liston-Clay Fight

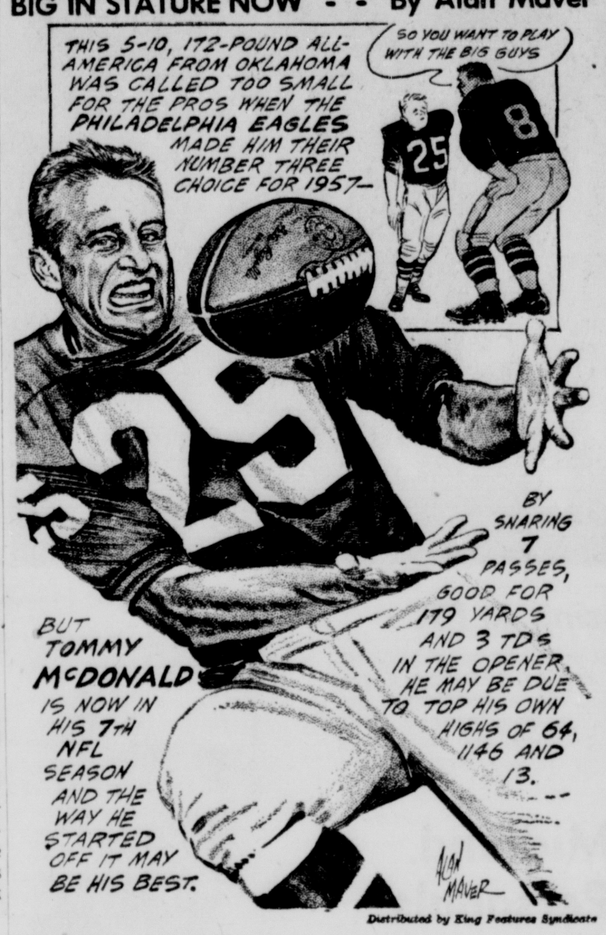

ST. PAUL (UPI) — The twin cities—Minneapolis and St. Paul—are going to make a joint effort to land a heavyweight championship fight between Sonny Liston and Cassius Clay, it was announced Thursday night.

George A. Barton, secretary of the Minnesota Athletic Commission, said John and Robert Nilon, Liston's promoters, would visit the twin cities "sometime within the next two or three weeks" to look over the facilities.

Corum Experimenting With Lineup For Boston U. Contest

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — The West Virginia University football team went through a brief workout in sweat clothes Thursday and will leave Friday for its game with Boston University.

Coach Gene Corum said Thursday he was still experimenting with lineup changes and may not decide on his starting eleven until right before game time.

Washington Gridder May Have Hepatitis

SEATTLE (AP)—Bill Siler, University of Washington first-string quarterback, has symptoms of hepatitis and may not play for the Huskies for several weeks, school officials announced Thursday.

Siler, a stocky senior who played in last weekend's loss to Air Force, was in isolation, pending laboratory tests.

Corum Experimenting With Lineup For Boston U. Contest

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — The West Virginia University football team went through a brief workout in sweat clothes Thursday and will leave Friday for its game with Boston University.

Coach Gene Corum said Thursday he was still experimenting with lineup changes and may not decide on his starting eleven until right before game time.

Washington Gridder May Have Hepatitis

SEATTLE (AP)—Bill Siler, University of Washington first-string quarterback, has symptoms of hepatitis and may not play for the Huskies for several weeks, school officials announced Thursday.

Siler, a stocky senior who played in last weekend's loss to Air Force, was in isolation, pending laboratory tests.

Room For Two No Subs Y'all Come

The new college football substitution rule, with its exceptions and exceptions to the exceptions, could cause considerable confusion this fall.

To assist the coaches, players and the fans most officials will use the signs shown above by linesman Bill Klein of Richmond, Va., to flash signals.

At left, Klein signals for two subs, the number allowed on first and fourth down. In the center Klein turns away all subs. At right, Klein gives the sign for an unlimited number of subs. This two-platoon method is permitted when the clock is stopped on second or third down.

Rams Sewell Injured, Put On Waiver List

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Guard Harley Sewell, obtained from the Detroit Lions for Ollie Matson, Thursday was placed on the injury waiver list and will be lost to the Los Angeles Rams for at least four weeks.

Under terms of the National Football League waiver rule, the Rams can re-sign him after four weeks. The move will permit adding someone to the roster to replace the disabled offensive guard a former Detroit star.

Sewell, onetime Texas ace, was injured in last week's loss to Washington.

The Rams later announced that Ken Kirk, a 230-pound linebacker with three years professional experience as a member of the Chicago Bears and Pittsburgh Steelers, had been signed. He is expected to play against the Cleveland Browns at least briefly Sunday.

Baltimore Colts Sign Craddock

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Colts announced Thursday they have signed fullback Nat Craddock, formerly of the New York Giants, to bring their National Football League squad up to full strength.

The Colts had been one man shy of their 37-man limit since they dropped quarterback Lamar McHan Tuesday. McHan has been picked up on waivers by the San Francisco 49ers.

Craddock, who the Colts say will be used as a tight back, is 22 years old and weighs in at 225 pounds. The Giants dropped the rookie from Parsons College earlier this year and he was signed by the Colts as a free agent, the Colt announcement said.

Hand Picks Yankees In Six Games

Sees Fall Classic As Duel Of Lefties

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—After picking the two pennant winners in April, as did at least 999 others, only a fool would press his luck. As at least one sports writer is notably lacking in gray matter, the temptation is too strong. The New York Yankees should beat the Los Angeles Dodgers. Let's say in six games.

This is going along with the chalk for the Yanks are the 7-5 favorites.

Duel Of Lefthanders

In years to come this series may be remembered, if it is remembered at all, as the duel of the left-handers. Three men figure to carry the starting pitching load for each club. In each case two of the three are lefties.

Sandy Koufax and Johnny Podres of the Dodgers, plus right-handed Don Drysdale, will start all the games for the National League champs. Whitey Ford and Al Downing, plus right-handed Jim Bouton, will do the same for the American League kings.

Strangely enough the Yankee team, always noted for its long ball hitters and brute strength, has no individual leaders in any batting departments. Mickey Mantle (.315) is the only .300 hitter. When you get down to pitching, Ford, Downing and Bouton are the club's 1-2-3.

The Dodgers have a potential league batting champ in Tommy Davis, the base stealing king in Maury Wills, the strikeout leader in Koufax and the best won-lost percentage among pitchers in relief man Ron Perranoski, another lefty.

Pitching Pairings

The pitching pairings probably will be: Ford vs. Koufax in No. 1; Downing vs. Podres in No. 2; Bouton vs. Drysdale in No. 3, and so on. Because of the off day for travel after the second and fifth games, three starters can handle the load.

New York does have more home run power (186-107 through Sept. 25), a tighter defense (109 errors to 157), and comparable pitching (18 shutouts to 24 by the Dodger staff). It also has a better record against lefties (39-20 to 21-17 for the Dodgers).

The fact that the Series opens in Yankee Stadium Wednesday and Thursday, gives the home club an edge. This park is made for left-handed hitters and the Yanks have more lefty thumpers who can hit the seats in switchers Mickey Mantle and Tom Tresh plus Roger Maris, Joe Pepitone, Yogi Berra, Johnny Blanchard and Tony Kubek. That is why you will see left-handed pitching in the Stadium. Mantle, incidentally, has hit .420 against lefties.

Flag Grid League Opens Tomorrow At Beall Stadium

More than 50 boys 12 years of age and under have been organized into four teams for the Frostburg Flag Football League, which begins its sixth season of play tomorrow morning at Beall High Stadium.

Tomorrow's opening games match the Giants against the Colts, and the Redskins versus the Steelers.

Organized by Beall High School football coach Jerry Calhoun, the league plays non-contact football. Each player wears a flag, which must be removed from the ball carrier before the play is dead.

League games, which will be officiated by members of the Beall varsity grid squad, are played on Saturday mornings. The championship playoffs are scheduled for November 9.

The schedule:

Sept. 28—Giants vs. Colts
Redskins vs. Steelers
Oct. 5—Giants vs. Steelers
Redskins vs. Colts
Oct. 12—Colts vs. Steelers
Giants vs. Redskins
Oct. 19—Giants vs. Colts
Redskins vs. Steelers
Oct. 26—Giants vs. Steelers
Redskins vs. Colts
Nov. 2—Colts vs. Steelers
Giants vs. Redskins
Nov. 9—Championship playoff game between top two teams.

Chateaugay Out Of International

Mongo Expected To Get Invitation

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — Chateaugay, winner of the Kentucky Derby and Belmont and runner-up in the Preakness, was removed Thursday by his owner as a possible entry in the Washington D.C. International Nov. 11.

John W. Galbreath advised Laurel sponsors of the $150,000 race that he did not want to race his 3-year-old against older horses in New York this fall.

Trainer Jim Conway concurred in the opinion, adding he wasn't partial to having Chateaugay race on the grass in the International.

Several members of the committee of turf writers who invite U.S. entries to the 1½ mile race said the withdrawal of Chateaugay helped make up their minds to ask Montpelier Farm's Mongo.

The 4-year-old Mongo recently won the $100,000 United Nations grass race at Atlantic City for the second straight year. The committee will meet next week to issue its invitation to a second American entry.

Mrs. Richard C. duPont has accepted a bid to race her 6-year-old Kelso for the third straight time in the International.

JoAnne Gunderson's Bid For British Golf Title Ends

NEWCASTLE, Ireland (AP)—JoAnne Gunderson's bid for the British women's amateur golf crown ended Thursday on the 16th green of the Royal County Down links when she bowed to France's Claudette Cros.

The 24-year-old three-time U.S. champion from Providence, R.I., bowed to Miss Cros 3 and 2 in their quarter-final match over the 6,458-yard rain and wind-swept course.

Miss Cros, runner-up for the French title, then lost to Philomena Garvey of Ireland 1-up in the semifinals. Miss Garvey, who defeated England's Sheila Armitage 2 and 1 in the quarter-finals, will meet French champion Brigitte Varangot in the 36-hole final Friday.

Miss Varangot reached the final round Thursday by first disposing of Mrs. J. M. Kaye of France 3 and 2 and then eliminating Monika Moller of Germany 1 up.

ANACORTES, Wash. (AP) — Claudia Lindor, national women's intercollegiate golf champion, said Thursday she will turn professional and enter the Mickey Wright invitational tourney this week at La Jolla, Calif.

Johns Hopkins Has Four-Way Players

BALTIMORE (AP) — Many college football coaches worry about finding players who can go what they call both ways — offense and defense.

At Johns Hopkins, Coach Wilson Fewster has many four-way players.

Not only must they play offense and defense, but they have to learn two positions.

"We have to tell the boys to learn not only everything about their own position, but everything about another," Fewster said.

The reason is lack of players. Johns Hopkins has only 34 for this, its 81st, intercollegiate football season.

Johns Hopkins Has Four-Way Players

BALTIMORE (AP) — Many college football coaches worry about finding players who can go what they call both ways — offense and defense.

At Johns Hopkins, Coach Wilson Fewster has many four-way players.

Not only must they play offense and defense, but they have to learn two positions.

"We have to tell the boys to learn not only everything about their own position, but everything about another," Fewster said.

The reason is lack of players. Johns Hopkins has only 34 for this, its 81st, intercollegiate football season.

Flag Grid League Opens Tomorrow At Beall Stadium

More than 50 boys 12 years of age and under have been organized into four teams for the Frostburg Flag Football League, which begins its sixth season of play tomorrow morning at Beall High Stadium.

Tomorrow's opening games match the Giants against the Colts, and the Redskins versus the Steelers.

Organized by Beall High School football coach Jerry Calhoun, the league plays non-contact football. Each player wears a flag, which must be removed from the ball carrier before the play is dead.

League games, which will be officiated by members of the Beall varsity grid squad, are played on Saturday mornings. The championship playoffs are scheduled for November 9.

The schedule:

Sept. 28—Giants vs. Colts
Redskins vs. Steelers
Oct. 5—Giants vs. Steelers
Redskins vs. Colts
Oct. 12—Colts vs. Steelers
Giants vs. Redskins
Oct. 19—Giants vs. Colts
Redskins vs. Steelers
Oct. 26—Giants vs. Steelers
Redskins vs. Colts
Nov. 2—Colts vs. Steelers
Giants vs. Redskins
Nov. 9—Championship playoff game between top two teams.

Keyser, Winner Of 13 Straight Games, Battles Allegany Tonight

Bedford Hosts LaSalle, Jackets Visit Ridgeley

Four PVC Contests On Tap; St. Francis At Southern High

Keyser and Allegany, two of the oldest rivals in the tri-state area, will provide the football fireworks at the local stadium tonight at 8 o'clock.

Coach Frederick "Tack" Clark, an Allegany alumnus, will be sending a Golden Tornado eleven against the Campers for the 21st consecutive year and if tonight's game is anything like the 1962 battle the fans are in for plenty of action. A year ago the Mineral countians whipped the Campers in a 33-28 thriller, their fourth win here in the last seven years. Clark's record against Allegany since 1943 is 6-13-1. This is his 21st year at Keyser and his teams have won 150, lost 56 and played five ties for the excellent winning mark of 73 per cent.

Keyser Cops 13 In Row

Keyser, West Virginia's 1962 Class AA champion, puts a 13-game winning streak on the line tonight. The Tornado's last defeat came in the opening game of the 1962 season at the hands of Martinsburg High School.

The Mineral countians are 3-0 for the current campaign and they defeated Martinsburg, 6-0, prior to the Campers' 14-7 reverse at the hands of Dick Harmison's Bulldogs.

Coach Ed Schwarz's team is 2-1 to date and its victories were scored over Bishop Guilfoyle of Altoona and North Hagerstown.

LaSalle Visits Bedford

LaSalle's Explorers (0-2) journey to Bedford tonight to meet Jim Woods' Bedford High School Bisons. These schools fought to a 7-7 tie here last year but prior to that the Bisons won nine out of ten from the locals. Against Pennsylvania opposition, Bedford is 2-1 this season.

Four Potomac Valley Conference games appear on today's slate. In afternoon action, Ridgeley High's Blackhawks entertain the Moorefield High Yellowjackets, Bruce meets Romney High's Pioneers for the first time on the gridiron, Franklin's Panthers host the Petersburg Vikings and Circleville's Indians and the West Virginia School for the Deaf, both winless, tangle at Romney.

Romney Seeks 4th Win

Romney and Beall, which plays Fort Hill here Saturday night, lead the P.V.C. parade with 2-0 records. Roger Parker's Pioneers are 3-0 overall and should made it four in a row over Bruce (1-2). Moorefield is winless and scoreless in three outings while Ridgeley has copped two out of three games.

Petersburg has lost only to Beall in four outings while Franklin posted its first win over the West Virginia School for the Deaf after dropping two games. Circleville is 0-3 and WVSD has lost its first two games of the campaign.

Trojans Visit Southern

Southern High School tackles St. Francis, of Morgantown, at Oakland tonight. The Highlanders suffered their initial loss at the hands of Beall last week (7-0) after wins over Moorefield at the West Virginia School for the Deaf.

Northern High School's Huskies (0-3) tackle a highly touted Kingwood High eleven this afternoon in Garrett county.

Three other Friday night games are on tap in nearby West Virginia and Western Maryland.

Two CVAL Games Listed

Berkeley Springs (0-3) entertains Harpers Ferry (2-0), and North Hagerstown is at Frederick and Martinsburg at South Hagerstown for Cumberland Valley Athletic League engagements. Only three games have been played thus far in the C.V.A.L. Fort Hill is 1-0, Allegany and Martinsburg 1-1, and North Hagerstown 0-1. South High's Rebels and the Frederick Cadets are playing their first league contests tonight.

Joyce Suffers Knee Injury In Drills

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—University of Maryland football coach Tom Nugent said Thursday his squad will be in near perfect physical shape when it visits Columbia, S.C., Saturday night for an Atlantic Coast Conference battle with South Carolina.

The sole absentee from Nugent's Terrapins will be guard Fred Joyce of Cumberland, Md. Joyce injured his knee in Wednesday's defensive drills.

Sophomore Dick Melcher, of Edgewater, Md., will replace Joyce. Nugent's other changes in the offensive lineup include shifting his backfield with senior Ernie Arrizzi of Barrington, N., as the swingback. Arrizzi supplants junior Len Chiaverini of Ambridge, Pa., who moves into the tailback slot.

Maryland went through a light-two-hour workout Thursday and will take Friday off before flying to Columbia Saturday.

MICKEY Mantle entered the 1963 World Series — his 10th — with a record of 41 strikeouts. He also has the most walks — 36.

SPORTS SPUTTERINGS

By Walter L. Johns, Central Press Sports Editor

ALL HE DOES is either win pennants or make a big bid for them and yet Walter Alston has to fight year after year to hold his managerial job.

He's just won another N. L. flag, his fourth in 10 years of managing the Dodgers, and if the club should blow the World Series to the Yankees the heat may be on again to fire Alston.

Walt Alston

Strangely, the "heat" comes from many sources, and when it cools, Mr. Alston is right back there in the Dodger dugout again as the manager.

• • •

WHEN HE came up to the big time, the critics were out in full force, for Alston was pretty much of an unknown. A minor league first baseman with a never-lived-down one-game and one at-bat appearance in the major leagues, Alston followed a pretty good act — the talkative Chuck Dressen, and a bigger one, Leo Durocher, before that.

Alston had been pretty much of a success as a minor league boss, in six different loops, and had done wonders with Montreal in the International League, finishing first twice and second once in three terms.

But nobody knew Alston as a major leaguer and most everyone thought this former Ohio schoolteacher wouldn't be around too long.

In his first season, as a $12,000-a-year big league manager, Alston's team was picked to win the pennant for it had won it two years running. He kept the club in contention until September 12, when the Dodgers trailed the Giants by three games. When it ended, the Dodgers were behind by five lengths.

The next campaign, however, Alston did what he was hired to do—win the pennant and World Series and he repeated the pennant again in 1956.

• • •

THE CRITICS were silenced for awhile, but when the Dodgers plummeted to seventh place in 1958, the wolves tore at him again.

Alston did another silence job in 1959, coming from seventh to win the flag in a playoff and all of a sudden Walt was back on top again and even was named Major League Manager of the Year.

The club fell to fourth in 1960, moved up to second in 1961 and then the roof caved in on him again last year when his Dodgers, with a comfortable lead, not only blew that but lost in a playoff for the N. L. title to the Giants.

Everyone said Alston would go for sure this time, especially with coach Leo Durocher standing and talking in the wings. But Alston survived.

• • •

THE 1963 SEASON had only begun when things started to pop again. Reports of dissension, reports that Alston would be fired for sure were printed, discussed and denied.

The club held on, Alston held on, and then the team almost blew it again. Almost.

• • •

FOR THE RECORD, this tall, quiet man who loves to play bridge and putter around his wood-working shop in his Ohio home now has completed 23 years of managing in pro baseball.

His record? Seven pennants, including four flags and two World's championships in the majors—and his teams have finished in the first division 19 times!

Warriors' Hannum Says Russell Is Most Valuable Pro Cager

Coach Declares Chamberlain Has Greatest Potential

By HAL WOOD
UPI Sports Writer

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (UPI) — "The most valuable player in professional basketball," says Alex Hannum, the outspoken new coach of the San Francisco Warriors, "is Bill Russell of the Boston Celtics.

This may come as a slap in the face to Wilt Chamberlain, star of Hannum's Warriors. And it may be that Alex is just applying a bit of psychology to Wilt the Stilt.

"But year-in-year-out," says Hannum, "I think that Russell is the most important factor on any one team. The Celtics had a good club when Russell joined them. But they weren't winning championships. Since he joined them, they have won six out of seven titles."

Hannum is here preparing his Warriors, including Wilt, for the 1963-64 campaign, following last year's disastrous start in San Francisco.

He has Chamberlain working like a rookie. Wilt, driving a block-long Bentley ($20,000), in keeping with his $62,000 per year salary, reported in to camp weighing 315 pounds.

Hannum worked him so hard that he lost 20 pounds in the first week of play. And if the coach has his say, Wilt may come out of the year as the league's most valuable player.

"I told him during a meeting the other day that his potential never has come close to being tapped," says Hannum. "There are so many things he could do that he doesn't."

Hannum was as shocked as the rest of the squad to find out the other day that Chamberlain is the fastest man on the squad.

"We had 70-foot races down the floor," says Hannum. "Wilt and Al Attles, who weighs only 180 pounds against Wilt's 300, tied during the group run. I asked them if they'd like to have a run-off to see who was the fastest. They both wanted to.

"Attles was out of the gate like a shot. But Wilt caught him and was winning going away at the finish. It's unbelievable that a man seven feet tall and weighing 300 pounds could be that fast."

In scrimmages Chamberlain has been a hand-off man this year. He has taken very few shots. And he has been trying to improve on his "hook" shots. In other words, to improve his all-around play and help the team at the same time.

What did he say when Hannum told him that he wasn't playing up to his potential?

"Nothing," says Hannum.

Taylor Phillips Sent To Minors

Chisox Buy Hicks, Sally Loop's MVP

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Chicago White Sox Thursday announced the outright release to Indianapolis of the International League of veteran lefthander Taylor Phillips.

The White Sox also announced purchase of the contract of outfielder Jim Hicks, the Class A Sally League's most valuable player this year.

Phillips, 30, joined the White Sox from Indianapolis at midseason. He was brought up to add another lefthander to the staff when Frank Baumann was hurt. Phillips worked only 14 innings and allowed 16 runs. He had a 0-0 record with the White Sox.

DeJohn-Chuvalo Winner Gets Crack At Clay

Heavies Meet At Louisville Tonight

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — A fight with top-ranking heavyweight challenger Cassius Clay is the prize for the winner of Friday night's nationally televised 10-round clash between hulking Mike DeJohn of Miami, Fla., and heavy-fisted George Chuvalo of Detroit.

Both DeJohn and Chuvalo yearn to get back into boxing's top ten rankings, and a decisive victory over Clay could do it for either one. Both are unbeaten this year, each having a modest knockout streak against little-known opponents.

The 6-foot-3-inch DeJohn, who rules an 8-5 favorite, has stiffened his last three foes. Chuvalo, a sturdy native of Toronto, Canada, has kayoed four straight foes. He'll be spotting DeJohn about two inches in height but may be slightly heavier.

Although Chuvalo is the underdog, the 26-year-old Canadian can boast that he's never been knocked off his feet in 22 pro fights. DeJohn, on the other hand, has been tapped into lullabye-land five times in a career that goes back 13 years.

DeJohn, who packs a potent left hook, holds a record for the quickest knockout in a nationally televised bout. He stopped Charlie Powell in 47 seconds of the first round four years ago, much to the consternation of the TV ring commentator, who was left with a lot of air time to fill.

Promoter Bill Ling said the contract for the Clay fight will be signed Saturday, with the match set for Louisville either Nov. 5 or Nov. 8. It will be the first home town fight for the Louisville Lip in nearly two years.

CLOUTS NO. 44—Willie McCovey took over the home run leadership of the National League yesterday when he clouted his 44th of the year as the San Francisco Giants trimmed the Phillies, 10-0. Prior to yesterday's game McCovey and Hank Aaron of the Milwaukee Braves were tied with 43 circuit wallops each.

McCovey Raps 44th As Giants Whip Phillies

Billy O'Dell Cops 14th Win, 10-0

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Willie McCovey clouted his 44th home run of the year Thursday in leading a 13-hit attack as the San Francisco Giants whitewashed the Philadelphia Phillies, 10-0.

Lefty Billy O'Dell pitched a three-hit shutout for the Giants as he collected his 14th win of the season against 10 losses. He struck out four and walked only one.

The Phillies got only one runner as far as second base — rookie Richie Allen on a double in the seventh inning.

The Giants scored six runs in the first inning off Philadelphia starter Dallas Green on five hits, a walk and two errors. They got four more in the third inning when McCovey cracked a 435-foot homer with two men aboard. Catcher Ed Bailey hit his 20th homer in the same inning.

Willie Mays, who was 4 for 4 Wednesday, was 0 for 5 Thursday and dropped back in the race for the batting championship. Orlando Cepeda had one hit in five times at bat.

ABC To Televise Olympic Trials

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Broadcasting Company announced Thursday it will televise exclusively the summer trials in 22 sports for the 1964 Olympic Games in Tokyo.

Most of the trials will be held in the New York area, in connection with next year's World's Fair.

The trials will be held over a period extending from April 4 to Sept. 20. The first round includes trials in track and field, swimming, basketball, boxing, wrestling and gymnastics.

Other sports are judo, rowing, fencing, weightlifting, water polo and various team sports.

Race Horses 'Sidetracked'

GRAY, Maine (AP)—A motorist asked a startled toll collector at the Gray interchange of the Maine Turnpike Thursday: "Is this the win or show window?"

Then he proceeded to explain he'd just passed about a dozen harness race horses that were running up and down the high-speed road at mile 70 in New Gloucester.

State troopers were sent to corral the animals, which apparently escaped from stables at the New Gloucester Fairgrounds.

Tryout Dates Set

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Tryouts for the U.S. Olympic hockey team will begin Oct. 27 at South St. Paul, Minn., and Boston, Mass.

Keyser, Winner Of 13 Straight Games, Battles Allegany Tonight

Bedford Hosts LaSalle, Jackets Visit Ridgeley

Four PVC Contests On Tap; St. Francis At Southern High

Keyser and Allegany, two of the oldest rivals in the tri-state area, will provide the football fireworks at the local stadium tonight at 8 o'clock.

Coach Frederick "Tack" Clark, an Allegany alumnus, will be sending a Golden Tornado eleven against the Campers for the 21st consecutive year and if tonight's game is anything like the 1962 battle the fans are in for plenty of action. A year ago the Mineral countians whipped the Campers in a 33-28 thriller, their fourth win here in the last seven years. Clark's record against Allegany since 1943 is 6-13-1. This is his 21st year at Keyser and his teams have won 150, lost 56 and played five ties for the excellent winning mark of 73 per cent.

Keyser Cops 13 In Row

Keyser, West Virginia's 1962 Class AA champion, puts a 13-game winning streak on the line tonight. The Tornado's last defeat came in the opening game of the 1962 season at the hands of Martinsburg High School.

The Mineral countians are 3-0 for the current campaign and they defeated Martinsburg, 6-0, prior to the Campers' 14-7 reverse at the hands of Dick Harmison's Bulldogs.

Coach Ed Schwarz's team is 2-1 to date and its victories were scored over Bishop Guilfoyle of Altoona and North Hagerstown.

LaSalle Visits Bedford

LaSalle's Explorers (0-2) journey to Bedford tonight to meet Jim Woods' Bedford High School Bisons. These schools fought to a 7-7 tie here last year but prior to that the Bisons won nine out of ten from the locals. Against Pennsylvania opposition, Bedford is 2-1 this season.

Four Potomac Valley Conference games appear on today's slate. In afternoon action, Ridgeley High's Blackhawks entertain the Moorefield High Yellowjackets, Bruce meets Romney High's Pioneers for the first time on the gridiron, Franklin's Panthers host the Petersburg Vikings and Circleville's Indians and the West Virginia School for the Deaf, both winless, tangle at Romney.

Romney Seeks 4th Win

Romney and Beall, which plays Fort Hill here Saturday night, lead the P.V.C. parade with 2-0 records. Roger Parker's Pioneers are 3-0 overall and should made it four in a row over Bruce (1-2). Moorefield is winless and scoreless in three outings while Ridgeley has copped two out of three games.

Petersburg has lost only to Beall in four outings while Franklin posted its first win over the West Virginia School for the Deaf after dropping two games. Circleville is 0-3 and WVSD has lost its first two games of the campaign.

Trojans Visit Southern

Southern High School tackles St. Francis, of Morgantown, at Oakland tonight. The Highlanders suffered their initial loss at the hands of Beall last week (7-0) after wins over Moorefield at the West Virginia School for the Deaf.

Northern High School's Huskies (0-3) tackle a highly touted Kingwood High eleven this afternoon in Garrett county.

Three other Friday night games are on tap in nearby West Virginia and Western Maryland.

Two CVAL Games Listed

Berkeley Springs (0-3) entertains Harpers Ferry (2-0), and North Hagerstown is at Frederick and Martinsburg at South Hagerstown for Cumberland Valley Athletic League engagements. Only three games have been played thus far in the C.V.A.L. Fort Hill is 1-0, Allegany and Martinsburg 1-1, and North Hagerstown 0-1. South High's Rebels and the Frederick Cadets are playing their first league contests tonight.

Joyce Suffers Knee Injury In Drills

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—University of Maryland football coach Tom Nugent said Thursday his squad will be in near perfect physical shape when it visits Columbia, S.C., Saturday night for an Atlantic Coast Conference battle with South Carolina.

The sole absentee from Nugent's Terrapins will be guard Fred Joyce of Cumberland, Md. Joyce injured his knee in Wednesday's defensive drills.

Sophomore Dick Melcher, of Edgewater, Md., will replace Joyce. Nugent's other changes in the offensive lineup include shifting his backfield with senior Ernie Arrizzi of Barrington, N., as the swingback. Arrizzi supplants junior Len Chiaverini of Ambridge, Pa., who moves into the tailback slot.

Maryland went through a light-two-hour workout Thursday and will take Friday off before flying to Columbia Saturday.

MICKEY Mantle entered the 1963 World Series — his 10th — with a record of 41 strikeouts. He also has the most walks — 36.

SPORTS SPUTTERINGS

By Walter L. Johns, Central Press Sports Editor

ALL HE DOES is either win pennants or make a big bid for them and yet Walter Alston has to fight year after year to hold his managerial job.

He's just won another N. L. flag, his fourth in 10 years of managing the Dodgers, and if the club should blow the World Series to the Yankees the heat may be on again to fire Alston.

Walt Alston

Strangely, the "heat" comes from many sources, and when it cools, Mr. Alston is right back there in the Dodger dugout again as the manager.

• • •

WHEN HE came up to the big time, the critics were out in full force, for Alston was pretty much of an unknown. A minor league first baseman with a never-lived-down one-game and one at-bat appearance in the major leagues, Alston followed a pretty good act — the talkative Chuck Dressen, and a bigger one, Leo Durocher, before that.

Alston had been pretty much of a success as a minor league boss, in six different loops, and had done wonders with Montreal in the International League, finishing first twice and second once in three terms.

But nobody knew Alston as a major leaguer and most everyone thought this former Ohio schoolteacher wouldn't be around too long.

In his first season, as a $12,000-a-year big league manager, Alston's team was picked to win the pennant for it had won it two years running. He kept the club in contention until September 12, when the Dodgers trailed the Giants by three games. When it ended, the Dodgers were behind by five lengths.

The next campaign, however, Alston did what he was hired to do—win the pennant and World Series and he repeated the pennant again in 1956.

• • •

THE CRITICS were silenced for awhile, but when the Dodgers plummeted to seventh place in 1958, the wolves tore at him again.

Alston did another silence job in 1959, coming from seventh to win the flag in a playoff and all of a sudden Walt was back on top again and even was named Major League Manager of the Year.

The club fell to fourth in 1960, moved up to second in 1961 and then the roof caved in on him again last year when his Dodgers, with a comfortable lead, not only blew that but lost in a playoff for the N. L. title to the Giants.

Everyone said Alston would go for sure this time, especially with coach Leo Durocher standing and talking in the wings. But Alston survived.

• • •

THE 1963 SEASON had only begun when things started to pop again. Reports of dissension, reports that Alston would be fired for sure were printed, discussed and denied.

The club held on, Alston held on, and then the team almost blew it again. Almost.

• • •

FOR THE RECORD, this tall, quiet man who loves to play bridge and putter around his wood-working shop in his Ohio home now has completed 23 years of managing in pro baseball.

His record? Seven pennants, including four flags and two World's championships in the majors—and his teams have finished in the first division 19 times!

Warriors' Hannum Says Russell Is Most Valuable Pro Cager

Coach Declares Chamberlain Has Greatest Potential

By HAL WOOD
UPI Sports Writer

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (UPI) — "The most valuable player in professional basketball," says Alex Hannum, the outspoken new coach of the San Francisco Warriors, "is Bill Russell of the Boston Celtics.

This may come as a slap in the face to Wilt Chamberlain, star of Hannum's Warriors. And it may be that Alex is just applying a bit of psychology to Wilt the Stilt.

"But year-in-year-out," says Hannum, "I think that Russell is the most important factor on any one team. The Celtics had a good club when Russell joined them. But they weren't winning championships. Since he joined them, they have won six out of seven titles."

Hannum is here preparing his Warriors, including Wilt, for the 1963-64 campaign, following last year's disastrous start in San Francisco.

He has Chamberlain working like a rookie. Wilt, driving a block-long Bentley ($20,000), in keeping with his $62,000 per year salary, reported in to camp weighing 315 pounds.

Hannum worked him so hard that he lost 20 pounds in the first week of play. And if the coach has his say, Wilt may come out of the year as the league's most valuable player.

"I told him during a meeting the other day that his potential never has come close to being tapped," says Hannum. "There are so many things he could do that he doesn't."

Hannum was as shocked as the rest of the squad to find out the other day that Chamberlain is the fastest man on the squad.

"We had 70-foot races down the floor," says Hannum. "Wilt and Al Attles, who weighs only 180 pounds against Wilt's 300, tied during the group run. I asked them if they'd like to have a run-off to see who was the fastest. They both wanted to.

"Attles was out of the gate like a shot. But Wilt caught him and was winning going away at the finish. It's unbelievable that a man seven feet tall and weighing 300 pounds could be that fast."

In scrimmages Chamberlain has been a hand-off man this year. He has taken very few shots. And he has been trying to improve on his "hook" shots. In other words, to improve his all-around play and help the team at the same time.

What did he say when Hannum told him that he wasn't playing up to his potential?

"Nothing," says Hannum.

Taylor Phillips Sent To Minors

Chisox Buy Hicks, Sally Loop's MVP

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Chicago White Sox Thursday announced the outright release to Indianapolis of the International League of veteran lefthander Taylor Phillips.

The White Sox also announced purchase of the contract of outfielder Jim Hicks, the Class A Sally League's most valuable player this year.

Phillips, 30, joined the White Sox from Indianapolis at midseason. He was brought up to add another lefthander to the staff when Frank Baumann was hurt. Phillips worked only 14 innings and allowed 16 runs. He had a 0-0 record with the White Sox.

DeJohn-Chuvalo Winner Gets Crack At Clay

Heavies Meet At Louisville Tonight

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — A fight with top-ranking heavyweight challenger Cassius Clay is the prize for the winner of Friday night's nationally televised 10-round clash between hulking Mike DeJohn of Miami, Fla., and heavy-fisted George Chuvalo of Detroit.

Both DeJohn and Chuvalo yearn to get back into boxing's top ten rankings, and a decisive victory over Clay could do it for either one. Both are unbeaten this year, each having a modest knockout streak against little-known opponents.

The 6-foot-3-inch DeJohn, who rules an 8-5 favorite, has stiffened his last three foes. Chuvalo, a sturdy native of Toronto, Canada, has kayoed four straight foes. He'll be spotting DeJohn about two inches in height but may be slightly heavier.

Although Chuvalo is the underdog, the 26-year-old Canadian can boast that he's never been knocked off his feet in 22 pro fights. DeJohn, on the other hand, has been tapped into lullabye-land five times in a career that goes back 13 years.

DeJohn, who packs a potent left hook, holds a record for the quickest knockout in a nationally televised bout. He stopped Charlie Powell in 47 seconds of the first round four years ago, much to the consternation of the TV ring commentator, who was left with a lot of air time to fill.

Promoter Bill Ling said the contract for the Clay fight will be signed Saturday, with the match set for Louisville either Nov. 5 or Nov. 8. It will be the first home town fight for the Louisville Lip in nearly two years.

CLOUTS NO. 44—Willie McCovey took over the home run leadership of the National League yesterday when he clouted his 44th of the year as the San Francisco Giants trimmed the Phillies, 10-0. Prior to yesterday's game McCovey and Hank Aaron of the Milwaukee Braves were tied with 43 circuit wallops each.

McCovey Raps 44th As Giants Whip Phillies

Billy O'Dell Cops 14th Win, 10-0

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Willie McCovey clouted his 44th home run of the year Thursday in leading a 13-hit attack as the San Francisco Giants whitewashed the Philadelphia Phillies, 10-0.

Lefty Billy O'Dell pitched a three-hit shutout for the Giants as he collected his 14th win of the season against 10 losses. He struck out four and walked only one.

The Phillies got only one runner as far as second base — rookie Richie Allen on a double in the seventh inning.

The Giants scored six runs in the first inning off Philadelphia starter Dallas Green on five hits, a walk and two errors. They got four more in the third inning when McCovey cracked a 435-foot homer with two men aboard. Catcher Ed Bailey hit his 20th homer in the same inning.

Willie Mays, who was 4 for 4 Wednesday, was 0 for 5 Thursday and dropped back in the race for the batting championship. Orlando Cepeda had one hit in five times at bat.

ABC To Televise Olympic Trials

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Broadcasting Company announced Thursday it will televise exclusively the summer trials in 22 sports for the 1964 Olympic Games in Tokyo.

Most of the trials will be held in the New York area, in connection with next year's World's Fair.

The trials will be held over a period extending from April 4 to Sept. 20. The first round includes trials in track and field, swimming, basketball, boxing, wrestling and gymnastics.

Other sports are judo, rowing, fencing, weightlifting, water polo and various team sports.

Race Horses 'Sidetracked'

GRAY, Maine (AP)—A motorist asked a startled toll collector at the Gray interchange of the Maine Turnpike Thursday: "Is this the win or show window?"

Then he proceeded to explain he'd just passed about a dozen harness race horses that were running up and down the high-speed road at mile 70 in New Gloucester.

State troopers were sent to corral the animals, which apparently escaped from stables at the New Gloucester Fairgrounds.

Tryout Dates Set

Doctor Reports Boxing Safest Contact Sport

Statistics Show Fewer Injuries

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Contrary to public opinion there are less serious injuries in boxing than in any other body contact sport, a Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission physician reports.

Dr. Alfred Ayelle Jr., medical examiner for the commission, backs up his contention with statistics over a 10-year period in an article in the September issue of the Journal of the Pennsylvania Medical Society.

A member of the staffs of Hahnemann and St. Agnes hospitals, Dr. Ayella says boxing's perils to life and physical well being are grossly exaggerated in the public mind.

Dr. Ayella, as a member of the Pennsylvania commission staff, has examined competitors of nearly every boxing show held in Philadelphia in the past decade including pre-fight physicals, and weighing in, and post fight examinations. He is the attending physician at ringside.

He offered the following statistics to prove that injuries of any significance are rare in boxing:

In 3,254 bouts in this time, between Sept. 1953, and March 31, 1963, there occurred one death resulting from combat injury.

Non-fatal injuries — cerebral contusions — 1: acute subdural hematomas—2; cerebral concussions necessitating hospitalization —10; detached retina—1; corneal abrasion—1; fractures—29 (jaw, nose, ribs, hands); shoulder dislocation—1; lacerations requiring medical attention—125; miscellaneous soft tissue i njuries—52; miscellaneous hand injuries—35; injuries to teeth — 4; perforated eardrums—3; intra-abdominal injuries—none.

Sandy Koufax Discussed By Roger Maris

Says AL Has Pizarro, Other Hard Throwers

NEW YORK (UPI) — Roger Maris shed the corset encasing his ailing back Thursday, went through an off-day workout with his New York Yankee team mates and discussed Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Maris decided that the corset he had been wearing restricted his maneuverability on the playing field. His back, he said, felt well enough so that he needed no more support than an elastic bandage around the midriff.

Some newsmen at the Yankee workout prodded Maris about the prospect of facing Koufax.

"Sure, he's a good pitcher," Maris conceded. "But we have a few hard throwers in our league too. Is Koufax any faster than Juan Pizarro (of the Chicago White Sox)?" he asked.

"He's not perfect," Maris added. "He has lost a few games, hasn't he?

"And I'll tell you another thing," he added. "If I should go 0-for-4 against him, he won't be the first pitcher ever to do it."

Prior to the workout, which was supervised by manager Ralph Houk, the Yankees held two separate meetings to discuss scouting reports about the Dodgers. The reports were supplied chiefly by Bill Skiff and Johnny Neun.

There was one minor casualty early in the workout. Mickey Mantle, warming up on the sidelines, threw a knuckleball that hit catcher Jake Gibbs in the nose. Gibbs' nose bled but the injury was not serious.

Houk said he planned to pitch Stan Williams against the Minnesota Twins Friday, Whitey Ford and Al Downing on Saturday, and Jim Bouton in Sunday's regular-season windup. Houk said the team would work out at the stadium next Monday and Tuesday.

Engine Trouble Plagues Ostich

Reaches Top Speed Of Only 354 MPH

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (UPI) — Engine trouble plagued Dr. Nathan Ostich once again Thursday in his quest for the world land speed record.

Ostich, a practicing physician from Los Angeles, was able to get a top speed of only 354 miles per hour in runs over western Utah's famed Bonneville Salt Flats.

The sturdy Californian, who has been gunning for the world record of 407 miles per hour set at Bonneville last month, simply couldn't get enough power out of his jet powered racer "Flying Caduceus."

He made two runs—one of 354 and the other 351 — both under speeds of 359 achieved Wednesday when the car first showed symptoms of engine trouble.

After the two disappointing runs Thursday, technical adviser Ray Brock had the red and black needle-nosed vehicle brought into the pit for another check.

Ostich, obviously disappointed by the car's performance, said he hoped for "better luck" tomorrow. "We'll try again tomorrow. It's just one of those things," said the doctor.

Idaho Court Opens Door To Pari-Mutuel Betting On Horses

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—The Idaho Supreme Court opened the door to legal pari-mutuel horse race betting Thursday. By a 4-1 decision it upheld constitutionality of a law passed by the 1963 legislature over the veto of Gov. Robert E. Smylie.

The decision ordered the governor to appoint a three-member racing commission to put the law into operation.

The governor, a Republican, indicated he would comply with the court's orders, but he announced he would ask the 1965 legislature to repeal the law.

Joe Hansen of Wendell, vice president of the horse breeders organization, said it would not be possible to start racing under the law until next spring.

The "A" Boys Lead — Decker Marks Stand — Joe Somma's Death — Mary Alice To Wed

By C. V. BURNS

NOTEWORTHY early season place-kicking performances have been turned in by Jim Alkire of Romney High's Pioneers, and Tony Amato of Ridgeley High's Blackhawks.

Alkire has split the uprights 12 times in 13 attempts and Amato has converted 11 of 12 tries in three games played to date.

The record for extra points in one season is held jointly by Fort Hill players. Don Decker booted 39 in 10 games in 1949 and Doug Metz duplicated the feat in 1957.

Metz, incidentally, wound up the 1957 season with 13 out of 13 and a total of 39 out of 49.

WHEN Decker played at the University of Maryland he established a record for total points credited to a Terp place-kicker.

In 1951-52 he place-kicked 63 points in 82 attempts and also booted two field goals for 69 tallies in 18 games.

Don made it four-for-four in the Sugar Bowl game of 1952 to windup with 73 in 19 games—67 out of 86 point tries and two field goals. This record is still on the books at College Park.

THE ALL-TIME football records of Allegany and Fort Hill each contain one 3-0 score, denoting that a field goal, something now rare in the high school sport, had won these games.

Back in 1926, Albert Wolfe booted the goal that gave Allegany a 3-0 decision over Keyser and in 1940 Billy Dean's three-pointer enabled the Sentinels to whip East Fairmont (W. Va.) High School.

JOSEPH S. SOMMA, 49, who died recently at Stapleton, Staten Island, N.Y., was a nationally known softball official and worked in several tournaments in Florida.

Somma, a detective attached to the St. George Precinct in New York, was a native of Ridgeley, W. Va., and a New York resident since childhood. In 1936 he reached the CYO boxing tournament finals in Madison Square Garden.

Joe's widow, Julia Rosso Somma, formerly of Ridgeley, is a sister of Mrs. Joseph Barley of Cumberland. Julia's mother still resides in Ridgeley.

In 1953, Somma was commended by the Police Commissioner for his part in solving two Staten Island muggings.

Salvatore "Sal" Somma, one-time New York U. grid star and coach at New Dorp High School (N.Y.) football teams for many years, and John Somma are brothers of Joe.

In the 1930s when the local Knights of Columbus sponsored amateur boxing shows it sent a team of boxers to appear in a show at Staten Island. Joe Somma represented Staten Island in that series of bouts.

MRS. ROBERT HUGHES, nee Barbara Diggs, who retired the second Old Export Bowl in 1961 in the CCC Invitational Golf Tournament, now plays out of Wilson, N. C.

When Barbara first played here she represented the Manor A. C., of Washington, D. C., and the year she won the bowl for keeps she was a member of the Hermitage Country Club, of Richmond, Va.

MARY ALICE SAWYER, Baltimore's 18-year-old golf star, who has appeared in several tournaments at the Cumberland Country Club, will marry Dick Canney, a pro golfer, of Baltimore, October 26.

The wedding will take place at Baltimore Cathedral.

The couple met two years ago when Canney took up pro duties at Clifton Park.

Miss Sawyer is the youngest player ever to win the Maryland State Women's Championship.

DO YOU KNOW that Dr. Harry Clifton "Curley" Byrd, former president of the University of Maryland and football coach of the Terps from 1912 to 1934 is credited with showing the football world the potentialities of the forward pass when he was quarterback at Georgetown in 1909.

"Four years later "metropolitan" sports writers gave credit to Knute Rockne and Gus Dorais," according to Morris Allison Bealle in his book "Kings of American Football."

Mains To Sue Detroit Lions

Will Seek $250,000 For Grid Injuries

DETROIT (UPI) — Gil Mains, the former Lions tackle whose career in the National Football League was brought to an abrupt halt in 1961, said Thursday he would file a $250,000 damage suit against the Detroit Football Co.

Mains was forced to quit football after a knee injury suffered in a game against the San Francisco 49ers here on Oct. 1, 1961.

His attorney, Edward T. Kelley said the suit would be filed in circuit court "either Friday or Saturday."

Three operations have been performed on the knee, and Mains contends that he is still crippled.

"Doctors tell me that eventually they will have to 'freeze' the knee, and my left leg will be permanently stiff," Mains said.

Lions officials said they had no comment on the suit. General Manager Edwin J. Anderson said "we have not seen the bill of complaint, and until our counsel has been able to study the charges, we cannot answer them."

Mains was charging downfield on a kickoff and his left leg gave under him and he was carried off the field on a stretcher.

Since his injury, Mains said he has spent half of his time in the hospital.

Bullets Nose Out Knicks, 127-125

SALISBURY (AP)—Baltimore's one-two punch of Walt Bellamy and Terry Dischinger led the Bullets to a 127-125 exhibition victory over the New York Knickerbockers Thursday night in Baltimore's debut into the National Basketball Association.

Bellamy scored 33 points while Dischinger racked up 28 in pacing the Bullet attack.

The Knicks dropped a 120-119 lead with 2:54 remaining in the game and never caught up. Barnie Cable sank his only shot of the game to put Baltimore on top. Rod Thorn clinched matters for the Bullets with two free throws with 20 seconds remaining.

A crowd of about 1,000 visited the Wicomico County Civic Center to watch the first professional basketball game ever played on Maryland's Eastern Shore and to watch both teams kick off their exhibition season.

Doctor Reports Boxing Safest Contact Sport

Statistics Show Fewer Injuries

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Contrary to public opinion there are less serious injuries in boxing than in any other body contact sport, a Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission physician reports.

Dr. Alfred Ayelle Jr., medical examiner for the commission, backs up his contention with statistics over a 10-year period in an article in the September issue of the Journal of the Pennsylvania Medical Society.

A member of the staffs of Hahnemann and St. Agnes hospitals, Dr. Ayella says boxing's perils to life and physical well being are grossly exaggerated in the public mind.

Dr. Ayella, as a member of the Pennsylvania commission staff, has examined competitors of nearly every boxing show held in Philadelphia in the past decade including pre-fight physicals, and weighing in, and post fight examinations. He is the attending physician at ringside.

He offered the following statistics to prove that injuries of any significance are rare in boxing:

In 3,254 bouts in this time, between Sept. 1953, and March 31, 1963, there occurred one death resulting from combat injury.

Non-fatal injuries — cerebral contusions — 1: acute subdural hematomas—2; cerebral concussions necessitating hospitalization —10; detached retina—1; corneal abrasion—1; fractures—29 (jaw, nose, ribs, hands); shoulder dislocation—1; lacerations requiring medical attention—125; miscellaneous soft tissue i njuries—52; miscellaneous hand injuries—35; injuries to teeth — 4; perforated eardrums—3; intra-abdominal injuries—none.

Sandy Koufax Discussed By Roger Maris

Says AL Has Pizarro, Other Hard Throwers

NEW YORK (UPI) — Roger Maris shed the corset encasing his ailing back Thursday, went through an off-day workout with his New York Yankee team mates and discussed Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Maris decided that the corset he had been wearing restricted his maneuverability on the playing field. His back, he said, felt well enough so that he needed no more support than an elastic bandage around the midriff.

Some newsmen at the Yankee workout prodded Maris about the prospect of facing Koufax.

"Sure, he's a good pitcher," Maris conceded. "But we have a few hard throwers in our league too. Is Koufax any faster than Juan Pizarro (of the Chicago White Sox)?" he asked.

"He's not perfect," Maris added. "He has lost a few games, hasn't he?

"And I'll tell you another thing," he added. "If I should go 0-for-4 against him, he won't be the first pitcher ever to do it."

Prior to the workout, which was supervised by manager Ralph Houk, the Yankees held two separate meetings to discuss scouting reports about the Dodgers. The reports were supplied chiefly by Bill Skiff and Johnny Neun.

There was one minor casualty early in the workout. Mickey Mantle, warming up on the sidelines, threw a knuckleball that hit catcher Jake Gibbs in the nose. Gibbs' nose bled but the injury was not serious.

Houk said he planned to pitch Stan Williams against the Minnesota Twins Friday, Whitey Ford and Al Downing on Saturday, and Jim Bouton in Sunday's regular-season windup. Houk said the team would work out at the stadium next Monday and Tuesday.

"Physically the club is in good shape," Houk said.

Yastrzemski, who is listed as a "special student" at the 1,700-pupil college, completed more than two years of study toward a business degree at Notre Dame before enrolling here.

Yastrzemski, currently batting .320 to top all American League hitters by 10 points, is reasonably assured of his first batting title with only two games remaining.

Yastrzemski, who owns a home in suburban Lynnfield, told college officials he could complete only one semester a year because of his baseball commitments. It was estimated he would need close to three semesters to complete degree requirements.

All Day Class Is Largest For Sunday's Horse Show

Paul Schmucker Is Ringmaster; Fairgo Program At 1 P.M.

The largest class in the Allegany Saddle Club's Horse Show which is to be held Sunday at the Cumberland Fair Grounds is the All Day Class.

Twenty-six horses are now entered in this class with many more expected the day of the show.

In this class the horse is shown at a walk and easiest gait only, no canter. Eastern or Western tack can be used. The horse will be judged on manners, performance and suitability to the rider.

An attractive jump course has been erected by the Hunt Course Committee which is headed by Miss Brenda Collins.

Jumps for the Green Hunter Class will be placed at approximately 3½ feet. This is not too dangerous but it is high enough to provide anxious moments for both horse and rider.

Paul Schmucker of Ligonier, Pa., is the ringmaster for Sunday's show. William Fritz, also of Ligonier, will be the announcer.

Robert Weinrich is in charge of building and grounds and Lee Welsh is in charge of tickets.

The program is made up of 17 classes and will get under way at 1 p.m. promptly.

Syracuse University's most one-sided football victory was a 144-0 lacing of Manhattan in 1904.

Announcing retirement

"THE MAN" RETIRES—After 22 years in the major leagues, Stanley Frank Musial is retiring with a book full of records and future Hall of Fame membership. Stan (The Man) will be 43 next November 20 and has been in baseball 25 years, starting as a pitcher for Williamson of the Mountain State League in 1938. He came up to the Cards at the end of the 1941 season and has been a star ever since. Musial this year added to his records which stood at 16 major league marks, 30 National League standards and nine All-Star game features. His all-time major league batting average is .333.

Scoring touchdowns on a pass, blocked punt and a 14-yard run in the second, third and fourth periods, respectively, the Bears of Mountaineer High School rolled to their fourth win of the football season Wednesday when they downed Terra Alta High School under the lights at Kingwood by the score of 19-0.

A 3-yard pass from Steve DiBacco to Ronald Stewart opened the scoring in the second quarter and George Arnold's pass to Stewart was good for the conversion.

Milton Evans, the Bears' classy 120-pound guard, recovered a blocked punt in the end zone for a TD in the third stanza and Joe Drenning scampered 14 yards for the final six-pointer in the last period.

Drenning averaged eight yards in 12 carries while Arnold picked up an average of seven yards in a like number of rushes. Evans and Tony James were outstanding on the line for the Bears.

Colts May Use Moore Against Packers Sunday

Lenny Practicing After Operation

BALTIMORE (AP) — Lenny Moore may be on the outside again in the offense of the Baltimore Colts. And as soon as Sunday at Green Bay.

Only 14 days after his appendix was removed, Moore is back running in practice. Coach Don Shula said Thursday it is possible the veteran will see limited action against the Packers in their National Football League contest.

If so, it will be as a split left end. Thus, Moore will return as a long range pass receiving threat.

After Moore came up with appendicitis, Raymond Berry, the left end star, suffered a shoulder dislocation last Sunday at San Francisco.

Alex Hawkins, a converted halfback, has been groomed as Berry's relief and along with Willie Richardson, a rookie from Jackson, Miss., will be relied upon mostly Sunday to handle the spot.

However, Moore is likely to start operating there as a regular replacement since Berry will be out for six to eight weeks.

Bob Boyd, veteran defensive back, will be ready after a month's inactivity due to a shoulder separation.

49ers Put Perry On Active List

'Joe The Jet' Back With Original Club

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Aging Joe Perry, a fullback for 11 years with the San Francisco 49ers, was reactivated Thursday by the winless National Football League club.

The 49ers also returned end Clyde Conner to the active list following his recovery from a broken collar bone.

Perry, 36, was claimed from the Baltimore Colts on waivers two weeks ago and had been working with the 49ers since then.

Joe the Jet, as he was known in his younger days, joined the 49ers of the old All America Conference in 1948 and dashed 47 yards for a touchdown the first time he got his hands on the ball.

He helped the 49ers to a 12-2 record that year. In the middle 1950's he became the first NFL player to rush for more than 1,000 yards in two consecutive seasons. In his 13 seasons Perry gained 8,280 yards on 1,713 carries—a 4.8 average.

He spent the last two years with Baltimore following a 49er trade. He must play in three games this season to become eligible for an NFL pension.

His and Conner's activation left the 49er roster still with 35 names — two short of the NFL limit.

The 49ers have unsuccessfully tried to add a quarterback to the roster in recent days. S n Etcheverry was tried and released.

Bettor Sues For Twin-Double Winnings Share

TOWSON, Md. (AP)—A Baltimore County man has laid a court claim to half of a twin-double ticket worth $10,941 at Charles Town race track.

John T. C. Hooper of Owings Mills, Md., filed suit Wednesday in Baltimore County Circuit Court asking that it order Philip Knatz of the county's Reisterstown area to pay him half the value of the ticket.

Hooper contends the two men went to the West Virginia track June 25, split a twin-double bet, and Knatz failed to give Hooper his share of the winning wager.

Shenandoah Planning Meet Oct. 14-Nov. 30

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — General Manager Robert G. Leavitt said Thursday Shenandoah Downs will conduct a late fall meeting at the request of the West Virginia Racing Commission.

The meet will begin Oct. 14 and close November 30, Leavitt said. He said the track has run similar meetings at the request of the commission for the past two years.

"This meeting should put nearly half a million dollars into the state treasury and will keep hundreds of horsemen employed during what otherwise would have been idle months," he said.

Ralph Guglielmi was obtained from the New York Giants but retired, and Lamar McHan was claimed from Baltimore but said he'll announce next week whether or not he is retiring.

Leading Prosecutor Says Carbo Influence Remains In Boxing

Bonomi Is Advocate Of Federal Control For Fistic Sport

By JACK CUDDY
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Attorney John G. Bonomi of New York, former special counsel to the Kefauver investigating committee, charged Thursday in a new documentary film that "many confederates and allies of Frankie Carbo still hold important positions in the boxing business."

Carbo, whom Bonomi called the "underworld czar of boxing," is serving 25 years in prison. He was convicted of trying to muscle in on the earnings of former Welterweight Champion Don Jordan.

In the documentary, made two weeks ago and shown for the first time Thursday at a live boxing forum in Jack Dempsey's Restaurant, Bonomi declared that Carbo and his associates dominated boxing from 1949 to 1961 and that many of them are still in the sport.

May Stimulate Action

Bonomi, an ardent advocate of federal control of boxing, did not elaborate on his charge of continued gangster influence in the sport. But some viewers wondered if Bonomi's words might stimulate congressional action toward a federal fight commissioner or commission.

In the same documentary, Senator Kenneth B. Keating of New York also advocated federal control after agreeing that hoodlums were still in the fight game. He stressed that since boxing is now conducted on a nation-wide basis through television, it needs a federal commissioner armed with the authorty to control it properly.

The documentary was made by the magazine "Reader's Digest" in conjunction with Jack Dempsey's article in the October issue of the Digest: "The Boxing Mess — And What To Do About It."

In Thursday's forum, Dempsey declared: "Boxing must have national control if it is to survive and avoid being outlawed." He had five other points in his program to save and improve the sport.

Others on the forum with Dempsey were ex-heavyweight champions Jim Braddock and Jersey Joe Walcott, ex-light heavyweight champions Tommy Loughran and Gus Lesnevich, ex-lightweight and welterweight king Barney Ross, referee Ruby Goldstein, boxing judge Bobby Dawson and Dr. Mal Stevens, chairman of the Medical Advisory Board of the New York State Athletic Commission.

One Office Best

Dempsey and Loughran advocated only one ring official, the referee, to save small-time promoters the expenses of two judges and "to provide better officiating," according to Jack, who said the referee is always in better position than the judges to see what's going on.

But Walcott and Ross disagreed. They wanted three judges and a voteless referee, who, they claimed, was always too busy policing the fight to remember who was winning "in a close one."

Musial Makes Bow As Vice President

ST. LOUIS (UPI — Stan (The Man) Musial, in a business suit, black hair slicked back, showed up Thursday for his first executive meeting as a vice-president to hobnob with St. Louis Cardinal baseball executives.

The 42-year-old Musial, veteran Cardinal outfielder, was elected Wednesday a vice - president by the Cardinal directors, and Musial didn't waste time in making an appearance at an executive council meeting involving the club's minor league farm system.

Musial returned with the team from Chicago where he took part in his final appearance there wearing No. 6 uniform. His final game at St. Louis will be played Sunday against the Cincinnati Reds. Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick will be among the visitors wishing Musial a final farewell as a player.

Musial announced his final baseball playing season last August.

"THE MAN" RETIRES—After 22 years in the major leagues, Stanley Frank Musial is retiring with a book full of records and future Hall of Fame membership. Stan (The Man) will be 43 next November 20 and has been in baseball 25 years, starting as a pitcher for Williamson of the Mountain State League in 1938. He came up to the Cards at the end of the 1941 season and has been a star ever since. Musial this year added to his records which stood at 16 major league marks, 30 National League standards and nine All-Star game features. His all-time major league batting average is .333.

Leading Prosecutor Says Carbo Influence Remains In Boxing

Bonomi Is Advocate Of Federal Control For Fistic Sport

By JACK CUDDY
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Attorney John G. Bonomi of New York, former special counsel to the Kefauver investigating committee, charged Thursday in a new documentary film that "many confederates and allies of Frankie Carbo still hold important positions in the boxing business."

Carbo, whom Bonomi called the "underworld czar of boxing," is serving 25 years in prison. He was convicted of trying to muscle in on the earnings of former Welterweight Champion Don Jordan.

In the documentary, made two weeks ago and shown for the first time Thursday at a live boxing forum in Jack Dempsey's Restaurant, Bonomi declared that Carbo and his associates dominated boxing from 1949 to 1961 and that many of them are still in the sport.

May Stimulate Action

Bonomi, an ardent advocate of federal control of boxing, did not elaborate on his charge of continued gangster influence in the sport. But some viewers wondered if Bonomi's words might stimulate congressional action toward a federal fight commissioner or commission.

In the same documentary, Senator Kenneth B. Keating of New York also advocated federal control after agreeing that hoodlums were still in the fight game. He stressed that since boxing is now conducted on a nation-wide basis through television, it needs a federal commissioner armed with the authorty to control it properly.

The documentary was made by the magazine "Reader's Digest" in conjunction with Jack Dempsey's article in the October issue of the Digest: "The Boxing Mess — And What To Do About It."

In Thursday's forum, Dempsey declared: "Boxing must have national control if it is to survive and avoid being outlawed." He had five other points in his program to save and improve the sport.

Others on the forum with Dempsey were ex-heavyweight champions Jim Braddock and Jersey Joe Walcott, ex-light heavyweight champions Tommy Loughran and Gus Lesnevich, ex-lightweight and welterweight king Barney Ross, referee Ruby Goldstein, boxing judge Bobby Dawson and Dr. Mal Stevens, chairman of the Medical Advisory Board of the New York State Athletic Commission.

One Office Best

Dempsey and Loughran advocated only one ring official, the referee, to save small-time promoters the expenses of two judges and "to provide better officiating," according to Jack, who said the referee is always in better position than the judges to see what's going on.

But Walcott and Ross disagreed. They wanted three judges and a voteless referee, who, they claimed, was always too busy policing the fight to remember who was winning "in a close one."

Musial Makes Bow As Vice President

ST. LOUIS (UPI — Stan (The Man) Musial, in a business suit, black hair slicked back, showed up Thursday for his first executive meeting as a vice-president to hobnob with St. Louis Cardinal baseball executives.

The 42-year-old Musial, veteran Cardinal outfielder, was elected Wednesday a vice - president by the Cardinal directors, and Musial didn't waste time in making an appearance at an executive council meeting involving the club's minor league farm system.

Musial returned with the team from Chicago where he took part in his final appearance there wearing No. 6 uniform. His final game at St. Louis will be played Sunday against the Cincinnati Reds. Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick will be among the visitors wishing Musial a final farewell as a player.

Musial announced his final baseball playing season last August.

Scoring touchdowns on a pass, blocked punt and a 14-yard run in the second, third and fourth periods, respectively, the Bears of Mountaineer High School rolled to their fourth win of the football season Wednesday when they downed Terra Alta High School under the lights at Kingwood by the score of 19-0.

A 3-yard pass from Steve DiBacco to Ronald Stewart opened the scoring in the second quarter and George Arnold's pass to Stewart was good for the conversion.

Milton Evans, the Bears' classy 120-pound guard, recovered a blocked punt in the end zone for a TD in the third stanza and Joe Drenning scampered 14 yards for the final six-pointer in the last period.

Drenning averaged eight yards in 12 carries while Arnold picked up an average of seven yards in a like number of rushes. Evans and Tony James were outstanding on the line for the Bears.

Colts May Use Moore Against Packers Sunday

Lenny Practicing After Operation

BALTIMORE (AP) — Lenny Moore may be on the outside again in the offense of the Baltimore Colts. And as soon as Sunday at Green Bay.

Only 14 days after his appendix was removed, Moore is back running in practice. Coach Don Shula said Thursday it is possible the veteran will see limited action against the Packers in their National Football League contest.

If so, it will be as a split left end. Thus, Moore will return as a long range pass receiving threat.

After Moore came up with appendicitis, Raymond Berry, the left end star, suffered a shoulder dislocation last Sunday at San Francisco.

Alex Hawkins, a converted halfback, has been groomed as Berry's relief and along with Willie Richardson, a rookie from Jackson, Miss., will be relied upon mostly Sunday to handle the spot.

However, Moore is likely to start operating there as a regular replacement since Berry will be out for six to eight weeks.

49ers Put Perry On Active List

'Joe The Jet' Back With Original Club

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Aging Joe Perry, a fullback for 11 years with the San Francisco 49ers, was reactivated Thursday by the winless National Football League club.

The 49ers also returned end Clyde Conner to the active list following his recovery from a broken collar bone.

Perry, 36, was claimed from the Baltimore Colts on waivers two weeks ago and had been working with the 49ers since then.

Joe the Jet, as he was known in his younger days, joined the 49ers of the old All America Conference in 1948 and dashed 47 yards for a touchdown the first time he got his hands on the ball.

He helped the 49ers to a 12-2 record that year. In the middle 1950's he became the first NFL player to rush for more than 1,000 yards in two consecutive seasons. In his 13 seasons Perry gained 8,280 yards on 1,713 carries—a 4.8 average.

He spent the last two years with Baltimore following a 49er trade. He must play in three games this season to become eligible for an NFL pension.

His and Conner's activation left the 49er roster still with 35 names — two short of the NFL limit.

The 49ers have unsuccessfully tried to add a quarterback to the roster in recent days. S n Etcheverry was tried and released. Ralph Guglielmi was obtained from the New York Giants but retired, and Lamar McHan was claimed from Baltimore but said he'll announce next week whether or not he is retiring.

Bettor Sues For Twin-Double Winnings Share

TOWSON, Md. (AP)—A Baltimore County man has laid a court claim to half of a twin-double ticket worth $10,941 at Charles Town race track.

John T. C. Hooper of Owings Mills, Md., filed suit Wednesday in Baltimore County Circuit Court asking that it order Philip Knatz of the county's Reisterstown area to pay him half the value of the ticket.

Hooper contends the two men went to the West Virginia track June 25, split a twin-double bet, and Knatz failed to give Hooper his share of the winning wager.

Shenandoah Planning Meet Oct. 14-Nov. 30

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — General Manager Robert G. Leavitt said Thursday Shenandoah Downs will conduct a late fall meeting at the request of the West Virginia Racing Commission.

The meet will begin Oct. 14 and close November 30, Leavitt said. He said the track has run similar meetings at the request of the commission for the past two years.

"This meeting should put nearly half a million dollars into the state treasury and will keep hundreds of horsemen employed during what otherwise would have been idle months," he said.

Card of Thanks

We wish to take this opportunity to thank all who were so kind during the illness and death of our Mother, Sister and Grandmother, Mrs. Nettie A. Spencer of Keyser.

The Family

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Ruth Lovell Brant, who died one year ago, September 27th, 1962.
Mother your children all shall keep
Your blessed memory as you sleep,
And when eternal day shall break
Greet you with love, as you awake.

Husband, children and grandchildren

We wish to take this opportunity to thank all who were so kind during the illness and death of our Mother, Sister and Grandmother, Mrs. Nettie A. Spencer of Keyser.

The Family

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Ruth Lovell Brant, who died one year ago, September 27th, 1962.
Mother your children all shall keep
Your blessed memory as you sleep,
And when eternal day shall break
Greet you with love, as you awake.

Chinese Rap Khrush

TOKYO (UPI) — The Chinese Communists accused Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev Thursday of aping Yugoslav President Tito in foreign and domestic affairs and predicted anew that the Russian people will oust Khrushchev from power.

In a 20,000-word article printed in the official Peking People's Daily and the theoretical organ Red Flag, the Chinese said Khrushchev "envies and wishes to emulate" Tito and "regards Tito as his teacher."

Modern supermarkets in Lancaster, Pa., provide hitching posts for the buggies of Amish farm families.

Chinese Rap Khrush

TOKYO (UPI) — The Chinese Communists accused Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev Thursday of aping Yugoslav President Tito in foreign and domestic affairs and predicted anew that the Russian people will oust Khrushchev from power.

In a 20,000-word article printed in the official Peking People's Daily and the theoretical organ Red Flag, the Chinese said Khrushchev "envies and wishes to emulate" Tito and "regards Tito as his teacher."

Hampshire Co. Jury Resumes In Murder Case

Jurors Return This Morning

A Hampshire County Circuit Court jury, unable to decide the fate of Galen Harding, 41, of Hoy, W. Va., after five hours of deliberation in a murder trial last night, was dismissed at 10 p.m. EST by Judge H. Gus Muntzing with instructions to return to the Court House at 9 a.m. EST today to resume deliberations.

Since the state has waived capital punishment in this case, under West Virginia law it was not necessary to keep the jurors together overnight. They were warned by Judge Muntzing not to discuss the case with anyone before returning to the jury room this morning.

Harding is charged in the death July 10 of Eugene C. Whetzel, 25, also of Hoy.

Eight Possible Verdicts

The jury with John R. Blue, Romney merchant as foreman, got the case about 4 p. m., was excused three hours later for dinner and reconvened at 8 p. m.

Judge Muntzing informed the jurors they could return one of eight verdicts: murder in the first or second degree, voluntary or involuntary manslaughter, attempt to commit murder in the first or second degree, assault and battery, or not guilty.

The accused man took the stand in his own defense and admitted shooting the first of three shots from a small calibre rifle in the direction of Whetzel.

He also confirmed basically the testimony given by his 14-year-old nephew during the nephew's trial earlier this week.

Nephew Acquitted

The nephew was acquitted of murder on Wednesday at the close of a three-day trial.

The fatal shooting occurred in a remote section of Hampshire County in the vicinity of a "gypsy camp" near Hoy.

City Ballet Gets Started

Bus Schedule Reduction Set Here Saturday

Only Celanese Run Planned Sundays

A new city bus schedule, marked by curtailed service on weekends, will be placed in effect Saturday by the Queen City Bus Lines.

The new schedule, which Lawrence L. Grim, president, attributed to lack of patronage, follows:

Sundays — all Sunday service will be discontinued except for trips to and from the Celanese plant.

Saturdays — hourly service on Bedford Road with the last bus leaving Baltimore Street at 5:10 p.m.; hourly service to Mapleside with the last bus leaving Baltimore Street at 5:50 p.m.; hourly service to Shriver Avenue and Pennsylvania Avenue with the last bus leaving for Shriver Avenue at 5:15 p.m. and for Pennsylvania Avenue at 5:45 p.m. There will be no change in the South Cumberland-Dingle schedule on Saturdays.

The schedule for Monday through Fridays follows:

Stops At 5:10 P.M.

Bedford Road area—No service after 5:10 p.m. except on Mondays and Thursdays, when a bus will leave Baltimore Street at 9:10 p.m. and leave State Line at 9:25 p.m.

Mapleside area—No service after 5:50 p.m. except on Mondays and Thursdays, when the last bus will leave Baltimore Street at 8:45 p.m.

Bowmans Addition — Buses will leave Baltimore Street Monday through Friday at 5:45, 7:20, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30 and 11:30 a.m. and 12:30, 2:05, and 5:10 p.m. On Saturdays, buses will leave Baltimore Street at 8:30 and 10:30 a.m. and 2:05 and 5:10 p.m.

Shriver Avenue—A bus will leave Baltimore Street each half hour, starting at 6:15 a.m., with the last bus leaving Baltimore Street at 5:15 p.m.

Pennsylvania Avenue — A bus will leave Baltimore Street every half hour starting at 6:15 a.m. and ending at 5:45 p.m.

Carpenters Addition — Three trips will be provided Monday through Saturday, leaving Baltimore Street at 8 a.m. and 1:30 and 4:30 p.m.

Baltimore Avenue — Buses will leave Baltimore Street at 6:15, 7:55, 8:50 and 11:15 a.m. and at 1:50 and 5:10 p.m. The 7:55 a.m. bus operates only on school days. All other trips operate Monday through Saturday.

Two Runs Set

North Centre Street — A bus will leave Baltimore Street at 8:40 a.m. and 5:10 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Patterson Avenue — Kelly. A bus will leave Baltimore Street at 7:40 and 8 a.m. and 2:30, 3:20 and 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday. Kelly plant only buses leave at 6:30 a.m. and 2:15 and 10:50 p.m.

Celanese shift buses will leave Baltimore Street Monday through Saturday at 6:30 and 6:50 a.m. and 2:30, 3:45 and 10:30 p.m.

Cresaptown — Buses will leave Baltimore Street every hour Monday through Saturday until 9 p.m. and the last bus will leave at 10:30 p.m.

On Sundays and holidays, a bus will leave Wiley Ford at 6:05 and 7:30 a.m. and 2:10, 3:35 and 10:10 p.m. It will leave Baltimore Street at 6:30 and 7:50 a.m. (and return to garage) and at 2:30 and 10:30 p.m. The same bus will leave the Celanese plant at 7:05 a.m. and at 3:05, 4:10 and 11:05 p.m.

This bus, Mr. Grim said, will leave Baltimore Street at 6:20 a.m. for the infirmary. It will also leave Baltimore Street at 9:40 p.m. for South Cumberland for the convenience of B & O workers.

ESCAPEE SOUGHT — James R. Walter, 24, of Flinstone, who escaped from Allegany County Jail Wednesday morning, last night was being sought in the Flinstone area after police received a tip he was in that section. Walter was seen Wednesday afternoon near Spring Gap, but eluded sheriff's deputies by swimming across the Potomac River.

Support Seen For Small Dams On Potomac

Washington Water Problem Aired

By FRANK E. TAYLOR

WASHINGTON (AP)—Plans for development of the Potomac River Basin drew support and some legal questioning Thursday in panel discussions.

Col. Roy S. Kelley, Baltimore District Army Engineer, told the 12th annual Commissioners' and Governors' Conference on Metropolitan Washington Problems that whatever is decided by the board of engineers will be a sound plan.

Kelley, who formulated the basin plan, said the thought has been advanced that the plan neglects the possibility that research may develop practical processes to help provide adequate supplies of good water in the Washington metropolitan area.

Most Feasible Plan

"But at this time, there are no cheaper, better alternatives" than the series of dams proposed, he added.

Brig. Gen. H. B. Holmes Jr., retired, former Virginia commissioner of water resources, raised legal questions concerning authorization of some of the proposed dams.

Of the 187 dams and reservoirs proposed in Virginia, he said, there has been found no authority under which 38 could be built.

Holmes told of the work of the Virginia Potomac River Committee headed by Gen. E. Walton Opie, publisher of the Staunton (Va.), Leader. He said he is convinced that no member has reached definite conclusions concerning their recommendations to Gov. Albertis S. Harrison Jr.

"Theirs is not an enviable task but we are all indebted to them," he said.

The Time Is Now

Holmes said perhaps a primary result from the Army Engineer proposals has been awakening of the people to take a good look at the problems.

Del. Hervey G. Machen of Prince Georges County, Md., and chairman of a legislative study committee on the Potomac, said development of the basin's water resources is needed to meet future needs.

"The time has come," he said, "when we can no longer disregard the warning of the Army Engineers on the water needs."

Gov. J. Millard Tawes of Maryland and Lt. Gov. Mills Godwin of Virginia attended the session of the conference at which Gov. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon made the principal address.

Hatfield said there should be more efforts toward encouraging local action on local matters in metropolitan areas.

Praise For Maryland

The Oregon governor had a word of praise for Virginia and Maryland.

"Gov. Harrison's Commonwealth has pioneered in far-seeing state legislation of local import," Hatfield said. "Annexation, city-county consolidation, and the present legislative study of local government seem to me to exemplify some of the constructive steps the states must take. . .

"Other state action should parallel that of Maryland, where Gov. Tawes was so instrumental in initiating a Baltimore Metropolitan Area Study Committee. I hope that the mandatory study commission required for the Portland metropolitan area by action of our legislature will find the same enthusiastic reception I am told is true in Baltimore."

Bowling Green Sewer Bond Bids Approved

3.40118 Per Cent Interest Offered

The Allegany County Sanitary Commission last night recommended acceptance of the private offer of the Philadelphia investment banking firm of Butcher and Sherrerd to buy the $840,000 Bowling Green District bonds at a net interest cost of 3.40118 per cent.

Joining with the Philadelphia firm in the bid were two Baltimore firms, Alex. Brown and Sons and Robert Garrett and Sons.

Commissioners Concur

All three county commissioners, Louis V. Shinnamon, Robert Little Ebert and Russell N. Carder, and their attorney, Gorman E. Getty, attended last night's session at the Court House and concurred in the sanitary commission's action.

Two resolutions recommended by the sanitary commission to sell the $840,000 bond issue will be submitted to the Board of County Commissioners this morning where formal action of acceptance is promised.

The firm of Butcher and Sherrerd has served as unofficial financial advisor to the sanitary commission on the Bowling Green project for the past several years at no cost to the county. In turn, the firm was offered the opportunity of submitting its private bid which the sanitary commission could have rejected last night.

Average annual debt service under the 30-year Bowling Green issue will be $46,156.67.

Submitted with the proposal last night was Butcher and Sherrerd's check for $16,800 being two per cent of the $840,000 principal as evidence of good faith to be applied against the purchase price.

Total interest to be paid over the 30-year life of the Bowling Green bond issue will be $544,700. Assessed valuation of the sanitary district is $3,945,630, with 66,000 assessable front feet and 618 connections.

The Bowling Green sewer project, serving Roberts Place, Bowling Green and Potomac Park, has been divided into two contracts.

Hout Construction Company and John I. Vandergrift Company, jointly, submitted the apparent low bid September 9 on the collecting sewers. On the first 24 items of the contract Hout-Vandegrift bid totaled $477,425.75.

On contract no. 2, interceptor sewers, sewage treatment plant and sewage ejector station, J. Ernest Wilson submitted the low back June 17 of $444,444.

Lynn Walker Heads Safety Engineers

Lynn Walker of the State Department of Labor and Industry was elected chairman of the Western Maryland Safety Engineering Society last night at its first meeting of the fall and winter season at the Shrine Club.

Named to serve with him are Brace Lee of Columbia Gas Company, secretary, and Walter B. Riley of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, vice chairman.

Speaker at the meeting was Clyde Ruddick of Pittsburgh, manager of safety for Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company.

Mr. Ruddick used as his subject "Jumping the Hurdles," and his address covered various facets of a modern safety program. Widely known in his field, he is a past chairman of the National Safety Council's food section; past chairman of the glass and ceramics section; past chairman of the Western Pennsylvania Society of Safety Engineers and was one of the first eight safety engineers elected to National Fellowship in the American Society of Safety Engineers.

Mr. Walker named chairmen of four committees last night, including W. Elmo Channel, membership; John J. Long, program; Vincent P. DelaGrange, projects; and Chester E. Moody, public relations.

The next meeting will be held at Ali Ghan Shrine Club October 17 instead of the usual fourth Thursday of the month, due to the National Safety Conference in Chicago, which will be attended by a number of the local members.

Collections Hit $115,237 During August

Three-Month Yield Above Last Year

Allegany County real estate, personal property and corporation tax collections in August totaled $115,237.76, according to County Tax Collector Francis G. Philpot.

August collections of county taxes fell $8,157.10 below the level of August 1962 when county taxes yielded $123,394.84.

Despite the drop last month, collections for the three discount months—June, July and August—aggregated $3,575,050.82. That total is a healthy $528,897.98 more than the $3,046,152.84 collected in the corresponding months of 1962.

92.3 Percent Collected

The three-month yield from June 1 through August 31 was 92.3 per cent of the $3,873,500 the county commissioners anticipated in the entire fiscal year when they set the tax rate at $2.05 on each $100 of assessed valuation back in early April. Last year the rate was $1.95 which should account for some of the difference in collections between the two years.

Last month, Mr. Philpot's office at the Court House also collected $23,541.10 in state taxes. Some $8,639.86 came from real estate and $14,901.24 for corporations.

The office at the Court House also collects taxes for four special taxing areas of the county. Some $1,057.57 was collected for LaVale. That brings the LaVale collections for three months to $14,901.75, some $901.75 more than was anticipated in the entire fiscal year to pay interest and principal on bonds for that community's water needs.

Cresaptown's collections for August were $249.05, bringing the three-month yield since June 1 to $3,740.53, just $519.47 shy of the $4,260 needed in the entire fiscal year for water maintenance there.

August collections for Potomac Park were $88.40, bringing the three-month total to $955.45, just $44.55 less than the $1,000 needed in the entire fiscal year for street lights and fire protection.

1,081 For Mt. Savage

Collections for Mt. Savage in August reached $62.36, bringing the total to $1,081.10 in three months, $478.90 short of the $1,560 needed in the entire fiscal year for street lights.

Not all of the money received in August in Mr. Philpot's office was in 1963 taxes. Some $6,468.11 in 1962 county real estate, personal property and corporation taxes was received in August. Collections on 1962 state taxes in August totaled $627.61 and a total of $53.66 was received in 1962 taxes for the four special taxing areas.

Monthly totals since June when the tax bills were mailed, with the 1962 total listed first in each case:

June — $2,803,842.42 and $3,322,755.22; July — $118,915.56 and $137,057.84 and August — $123,394.86 and $115,237.76.

September is the last month for county taxpayers to pay their 1963 county and state taxes without interest. Interest, at the rate of one-half per cent per month, starts October 1.

Career Day To Be Held November 11

Guidance counselors of the eight public high schools of Allegany County yesterday began making plans for the second annual career day for high school juniors and seniors at Fort Hill High School on Monday, November 11, according to Jack A. Petry, supervisor of high schools.

The first career day was held last fall at Allegany High School and attracted much favorable comment. Some 40 consultants participated. Five major local industries, 15 colleges and the armed forces had representatives last year.

The guidance counselors have ascertained that more than 1,500 high school juniors and seniors want another career day this year, Mr. Petry said. November 11 has been chosen as the date because that is the next date for a half-day school session.

Virtually all of the consultants who participated last year have volunteered their services again this year.

Guidance counselors who participated in yesterday's planning meeting for career day included John R. Snyder and Paul J. Cuba, both Allegany; Ralph P. Wimer and Mrs. Delores Chase Morgan, both Fort Hill; Miss Jane H. Grindel and John D. Kelly, both Beall; Mrs. Catherine M. McGiboney, Bruce; Raymond R. Pomeroy, Mt. Savage; James D. Preaskorn, Valley; Ronald Sheally, Oldtown, and Mrs. Margaret S. Atkinson, Flintstone.

Teachers Here Will Discuss New Methods

Arithmetic, Reading Sessions Arranged

New approaches to the teaching of reading and arithmetic will be studied by interested elementary school teachers of Allegany County starting next week, according to the three county supervisors of elementary education, Miss Margaret E. Doak, Miss Elizabeth I. Flake and Miss Mary E. Straw.

Dr. Mary Downing, an education consultant with Ginn and Company, will be in Allegany County next Wednesday through Friday to conduct a series of demonstrations and discussion meetings concerning the teaching of reading.

Meanwhile, plans have been completed for the remaining 15 hours of an arithmetic workshop. Dr. Eddie E. Sage, chairman of the Department of Education of the New York University College at Buffalo, will be at Parkside School for three five-hour sessions which will be held on October 5, October 12 and November 2.

Dr. Downing will conduct six meetings, each in a different school, during her three-day visit to this county. On Wednesday, from 9:15 to 11 a.m., she will meet with the 28 elementary school principals at Gephart School. Her topic will be "The Principal's Role In An In-Service Reading Program."

She then will have five demonstration and discussion meetings, each for a cross-section of teachers from a different grade. On Wednesday from 2:15 until 4:30 p.m. she will meet at Northeast School with fifth grade teachers.

Dr. Downing will be at West Side School from 9:30 until 11 a.m. October 3 to confer with a group of second grade teachers. From 2:15 until 4:30 p.m. October 3 she will be at Parkside School for a meeting with fourth grade teachers.

Finally, Dr. Downing will confer with third grade teachers at Beall Elementary School from 9:30 until 11 a.m. October 4 and the same day from 2:15 until 4:30 p.m. with sixth graders at Mt. Royal School.

More than 50 elementary school teachers participated in an arithmetic workshop in June. They and other interested teachers are expected to complete the workshop at Parkside starting October 5.

Dr. Sage, a former member of the faculty at what is now Frostburg State College, will conduct the sessions from 8:30 a. m. until 1:30 p. m. on the three designated Saturdays. He is the co-author of a new arithmetic series entitled "Modern Arithmetic Through Discovery."

Two hours of college credit will be given to those teachers who participated in the June workshop and who attend the three fall sessions. All teachers who are interested in broadening their understanding of modern arithmetic are invited to attend.

Heart Attack Is Cause Of Man's Death

A heart attack was blamed for the death of Clark Merrill Railey, 50, of Star Route, Oakland, who was found dead Wednesday about 11 p. m. at a tavern on Deep Creek Lake, the sheriff's office at Oakland reported.

Sheriff James E. Frantz said Railey had been trying to "fight another man in the tavern" but the latter avoided an altercation.

Sometime during the melee, the sheriff said, Railey evidently fell. When he arrived at the scene, Stone Tavern, the man was on the floor and was bleeding from the nose, the sheriff said.

Railey may have struck his head in his fall, according to the sheriff who said an autopsy was performed and death was blamed on a heart attack.

A native of Avilton Mr. Railey was a son of Charles and Edith (Merrill) Railey of Star Route, Oakland.

Mr. Railey was a veteran of World War II having served in Europe and was a member of the Carpenters and Joiners Union, Washington, and of Proctor-Kildow Post 71, American Legion, Oakland.

Besides his parents he is survived by a son, Larry Railey, Reedsville, W. Va.; three sisters, Mrs. Marjorie Hamill and Mrs. Helen Hinebaugh, both of Oakland and Mrs. Mary Ruth Bittinger, Baltimore.

Also surviving are four brothers, Earle and James Railey, both of Star Route, Oakland; Robert Railey, Camp Springs, and Charles Railey, Baltimore.

The body is at the Minnich Funeral Home in Oakland, where a service will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. with Rev. Charles P. Anderson of Deep Creek Baptist Church officiating. Interment will be in Garrett County Memorial Gardens.

Friends will be received at the funeral home from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m. today.

Urban Renewal Applications Clear Hurdle

Applications of the Cumberland Urban Renewal Agency for planning funds have been approved by the Philadelphia office of the Urban Renewal Administration, William F. DeMare, executive director, learned yesterday.

He was advised that the local projects have been approved by the Philadelphia office and sent to Washington for final approval, authorization and reservation of funds.

The applications, submitted July 10, were for a $133,147 allocation to cover the cost of preparing a general neighborhood renewal plan for the center of the city, and for $122,366 to cover the cost of making surveys and preparing definite plans for the proposed George Street urban renewal project.

The George Street project would be the first part of the proposed 10-year project for the general neighborhood renewal plan covering the central part of the city between the B&O and Western Maryland lines from the Narrows to Oldtown Road.

The proposed George Street project is one of five sections in which the center of the city project would be divided.

The second section would be the South Mechanic Street project, the third the North Centre Street project and the fourth and fifth the Centre, Valley, East and West sections.

Two Leap From Truck

Two Ohio men who jumped from the cab of a runaway tractor trailer yesterday on the Pennsylvania Turnpike near Allegheny Mountain were reported in "fair" condition last night at Bedford County Memorial Hospital.

They are Glen Couts, 25, of Newcomerstown, Ohio, and Paul Myers, also 25, of Port Washington, Ohio. The speed of the rig was estimated at 75 miles an hour when the two men leaped from the truck, authorities said.

The tractor trailer traveled off the eastbound berm into an embankment, according to police, who said the estimated damage to the tractor was $10,000 and about $3,000 damage to the trailer.

VFW To Begin Annual Drive For Members

Thomas B. Finan, attorney general of Maryland, will be guest speaker at a membership rally of Henry Hart Post 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars at the post home, 205 Union Street, October 17 at 7:30 p.m.

Mr. Finan will use as his subject, "Maryland Equal Accommodations Law and Its Application."

According to Vernon A. Crable, post commander, this is the annual rally to inaugurate the new membership year and to begin the annual membership campaign. A buffet supper will be served.

Commander Crable said that state and district officers have been invited and several expect to attend. Department of Maryland Commander Michael F. Bonadio will make an official meeting at this rally and will deliver a short talk on the workings and program of the VFW within the state.

Grass Fire Quenched

Firemen from Central station yesterday were called to the rear of 223 Hay Street where a grass fire was extinguished. The call was phoned in at 3:20 p. m.

Unitarians Meeting Here

The board of directors of the Maryland Area Council of Unitarian Universalist Societies will meet at the Fort Cumberland Hotel tomorrow.

Spencer D. Coleman Jr., president, a member of the Anne Arundel County Unitarian Church in Annapolis, said representatives from nine Maryland Unitarian churches and fellowships are expected to attend the meeting which will begin with a luncheon at noon.

Following the luncheon will be a business meeting presided over by Mr. Coleman. Representing the Cumberland Unitarian Fellowship will be Mrs. Gerald Daurelle and Harry Gilbert.

Tawes Asks U.S. Aid For Farmers

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes asked Thursday that farmers in 10 Maryland counties be allowed to purchase livestock feed at reduced rates through the federal government.

He requested the Secretary of Agriculture to approve such aid for Allegany, Baltimore, Calvert, Carroll, Charles, Frederick, Howard, Montgomery, St. Marys and Washington counties as a measure of drought relief.

Under the program, eligible producers are allowed to obtain grain through the Commodity Credit Corp. at 75 per cent of its support rate.

Tawes said the relief is badly needed now to stabilize the state's corn market and to prevent large scale liquidation of dairy and beef herds.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Houdersheldt, New London, Conn., announce the birth of a daughter there yesterday. The mother is the former Virginia Smith of Cumberland. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ellis F. Houdersheldt, Wiley Ford.

Hercsuth Pigeon Wins Race From Chillicothe

A pigeon designated as No. 1461 from the Oak Manor Loft of J. A. Hercsuth won the fifth young bird race of the Allegany Racing Pigeon Club, a 225-mile flight from Chillicothe, Ohio, to Cumberland.

Some 200 birds from 13 lofts were entered and 21 of them were clocked. Weather was clear with variable winds.

Mr. Hercsuth also had the second fastest bird in the 225-mile flight, one No. 1474. The Wing Ridge Loft of R. L. Spiker had the third and fourth fastest birds, No. 1214 and No. 1202. The fifth and sixth pigeons both came from the Galla Loft of C. O. Buskirk. They were No. 791 and No. 235.

Seventh place was pulled down by No. 7341 from the Town View Loft of Galen Beeman. In eighth place was Alfy from the Woodland Loft of I. Buskirk. In ninth place was Hazel from the Barnside Loft of Larry Shinnamon. Ten was City Slicker, also from the Woodland Loft.

The next race will be flown next Sunday from Chillicothe.

Digester Process Related By Miller

Details of the plan worked out for cleaning secondary digesters at the Cumberland Sewage Treatment Plant are outlined by William F. Miller, plant foreman, in the current issue of the Maryland Municipal News.

The article relates how plant personnel, aided by Street Department workers, installed recirculating lines and added enzymes which reduced deposits of greases and undigestible residues to a slurry which could be pumped through previously installed outlet lines.

Mr. Miller estimated costs of the operation will be about $2,000, including the cost of hauling away the residue, as opposed to commercial bids ranging from

Hearing Today In Shoplifting

A Richmond man who was arrested Wednesday in connection with two cases of shoplifting will be given a hearing today at 10 a.m. in Police Court.

Raymond Murray, who recently completed a 10-day sentence on a similar count, was charged in a warrant Wednesday with taking an electric iron from the S&H Green Stamp store, North Mechanic Street, and six uniforms from the G. C. Murphy Company.

Hampshire Co. Jury Resumes In Murder Case

Jurors Return This Morning

A Hampshire County Circuit Court jury, unable to decide the fate of Galen Harding, 41, of Hoy, W. Va., after five hours of deliberation in a murder trial last night, was dismissed at 10 p.m. EST by Judge H. Gus Muntzing with instructions to return to the Court House at 9 a.m. EST today to resume deliberations.

Since the state has waived capital punishment in this case, under West Virginia law it was not necessary to keep the jurors together overnight. They were warned by Judge Muntzing not to discuss the case with anyone before returning to the jury room this morning.

Harding is charged in the death July 10 of Eugene C. Whetzel, 25, also of Hoy.

Eight Possible Verdicts

The jury with John R. Blue, Romney merchant as foreman, got the case about 4 p. m., was excused three hours later for dinner and reconvened at 8 p. m.

Judge Muntzing informed the jurors they could return one of eight verdicts: murder in the first or second degree, voluntary or involuntary manslaughter, attempt to commit murder in the first or second degree, assault and battery, or not guilty.

The accused man took the stand in his own defense and admitted shooting the first of three shots from a small calibre rifle in the direction of Whetzel.

He also confirmed basically the testimony given by his 14-year-old nephew during the nephew's trial earlier this week.

Nephew Acquitted

The nephew was acquitted of murder on Wednesday at the close of a three-day trial.

The fatal shooting occurred in a remote section of Hampshire County in the vicinity of a "gypsy camp" near Hoy.

The nephew and uncle denied that they knew that the victim had been wounded when they left the scene after a verbal altercation.

City Ballet Gets Started

Bus Schedule Reduction Set Here Saturday

Only Celanese Run Planned Sundays

A new city bus schedule, marked by curtailed service on weekends, will be placed in effect Saturday by the Queen City Bus Lines.

The new schedule, which Lawrence L. Grim, president, attributed to lack of patronage, follows:

Sundays — all Sunday service will be discontinued except for trips to and from the Celanese plant.

Saturdays — hourly service on Bedford Road with the last bus leaving Baltimore Street at 5:10 p.m.; hourly service to Mapleside with the last bus leaving Baltimore Street at 5:50 p.m.; hourly service to Shriver Avenue and Pennsylvania Avenue with the last bus leaving for Shriver Avenue at 5:15 p.m. and for Pennsylvania Avenue at 5:45 p.m. There will be no change in the South Cumberland-Dingle schedule on Saturdays.

The schedule for Monday through Fridays follows:

Stops At 5:10 P.M.

Bedford Road area—No service after 5:10 p.m. except on Mondays and Thursdays, when a bus will leave Baltimore Street at 9:10 p.m. and leave State Line at 9:25 p.m.

Mapleside area—No service after 5:50 p.m. except on Mondays and Thursdays, when the last bus will leave Baltimore Street at 8:45 p.m.

Bowmans Addition — Buses will leave Baltimore Street Monday through Friday at 5:45, 7:20, 8:30, 9:30, 10:30 and 11:30 a.m. and 12:30, 2:05, and 5:10 p.m. On Saturdays, buses will leave Baltimore Street at 8:30 and 10:30 a.m. and 2:05 and 5:10 p.m.

Shriver Avenue—A bus will leave Baltimore Street each half hour, starting at 6:15 a.m., with the last bus leaving Baltimore Street at 5:15 p.m.

Pennsylvania Avenue — A bus will leave Baltimore Street every half hour starting at 6:15 a.m. and ending at 5:45 p.m.

Carpenters Addition — Three trips will be provided Monday through Saturday, leaving Baltimore Street at 8 a.m. and 1:30 and 4:30 p.m.

Baltimore Avenue — Buses will leave Baltimore Street at 6:15, 7:55, 8:50 and 11:15 a.m. and at 1:50 and 5:10 p.m. The 7:55 a.m. bus operates only on school days. All other trips operate Monday through Saturday.

Two Runs Set

North Centre Street — A bus will leave Baltimore Street at 8:40 a.m. and 5:10 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Patterson Avenue — Kelly. A bus will leave Baltimore Street at 7:40 and 8 a.m. and 2:30, 3:20 and 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday. Kelly plant only buses leave at 6:30 a.m. and 2:15 and 10:50 p.m.

Celanese shift buses will leave Baltimore Street Monday through Saturday at 6:30 and 6:50 a.m. and 2:30, 3:45 and 10:30 p.m.

Cresaptown — Buses will leave Baltimore Street every hour Monday through Saturday until 9 p.m. and the last bus will leave at 10:30 p.m.

On Sundays and holidays, a bus will leave Wiley Ford at 6:05 and 7:30 a.m. and 2:10, 3:35 and 10:10 p.m. It will leave Baltimore Street at 6:30 and 7:50 a.m. (and return to garage) and at 2:30 and 10:30 p.m. The same bus will leave the Celanese plant at 7:05 a.m. and at 3:05, 4:10 and 11:05 p.m.

This bus, Mr. Grim said, will leave Baltimore Street at 6:20 a.m. for the infirmary. It will also leave Baltimore Street at 9:40 p.m. for South Cumberland for the convenience of B & O workers.

ESCAPEE SOUGHT — James R. Walter, 24, of Flinstone, who escaped from Allegany County Jail Wednesday morning, last night was being sought in the Flinstone area after police received a tip he was in that section. Walter was seen Wednesday afternoon near Spring Gap, but eluded sheriff's deputies by swimming across the Potomac River.

Bowling Green Sewer Bond Bids Approved

3.40118 Per Cent Interest Offered

The Allegany County Sanitary Commission last night recommended acceptance of the private offer of the Philadelphia investment banking firm of Butcher and Sherrerd to buy the $840,000 Bowling Green District bonds at a net interest cost of 3.40118 per cent.

Joining with the Philadelphia firm in the bid were two Baltimore firms, Alex. Brown and Sons and Robert Garrett and Sons.

Commissioners Concur

All three county commissioners, Louis V. Shinnamon, Robert Little Ebert and Russell N. Carder, and their attorney, Gorman E. Getty, attended last night's session at the Court House and concurred in the sanitary commission's action.

Two resolutions recommended by the sanitary commission to sell the $840,000 bond issue will be submitted to the Board of County Commissioners this morning where formal action of acceptance is promised.

The firm of Butcher and Sherrerd has served as unofficial financial advisor to the sanitary commission on the Bowling Green project for the past several years at no cost to the county. In turn, the firm was offered the opportunity of submitting its private bid which the sanitary commission could have rejected last night.

Average annual debt service under the 30-year Bowling Green issue will be $46,156.67.

Submitted with the proposal last night was Butcher and Sherrerd's check for $16,800 being two per cent of the $840,000 principal as evidence of good faith to be applied against the purchase price.

Total interest to be paid over the 30-year life of the Bowling Green bond issue will be $544,700. Assessed valuation of the sanitary district is $3,945,630, with 66,000 assessable front feet and 618 connections.

The Bowling Green sewer project, serving Roberts Place, Bowling Green and Potomac Park, has been divided into two contracts.

Hout Construction Company and John I. Vandergrift Company, jointly, submitted the apparent low bid September 9 on the collecting sewers. On the first 24 items of the contract Hout-Vandegrift bid totaled $477,425.75.

On contract no. 2, interceptor sewers, sewage treatment plant and sewage ejector station, J. Ernest Wilson submitted the low back June 17 of $444,444.

Lynn Walker Heads Safety Engineers

Lynn Walker of the State Department of Labor and Industry was elected chairman of the Western Maryland Safety Engineering Society last night at its first meeting of the fall and winter season at the Shrine Club.

Named to serve with him are Brace Lee of Columbia Gas Company, secretary, and Walter B. Riley of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, vice chairman.

Speaker at the meeting was Clyde Ruddick of Pittsburgh, manager of safety for Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company.

Mr. Ruddick used as his subject "Jumping the Hurdles," and his address covered various facets of a modern safety program. Widely known in his field, he is a past chairman of the National Safety Council's food section; past chairman of the glass and ceramics section; past chairman of the Western Pennsylvania Society of Safety Engineers and was one of the first eight safety engineers elected to National Fellowship in the American Society of Safety Engineers.

Mr. Walker named chairmen of four committees last night, including W. Elmo Channel, membership; John J. Long, program; Vincent P. DelaGrange, projects; and Chester E. Moody, public relations.

The next meeting will be held at Ali Ghan Shrine Club October 17 instead of the usual fourth Thursday of the month, due to the National Safety Conference in Chicago, which will be attended by a number of the local members.

Collections Hit $115,237 During August

Three-Month Yield Above Last Year

Allegany County real estate, personal property and corporation tax collections in August totaled $115,237.76, according to County Tax Collector Francis G. Philpot.

August collections of county taxes fell $8,157.10 below the level of August 1962 when county taxes yielded $123,394.84.

Despite the drop last month, collections for the three discount months—June, July and August—aggregated $3,575,050.82. That total is a healthy $528,897.98 more than the $3,046,152.84 collected in the corresponding months of 1962.

92.3 Percent Collected

The three-month yield from June 1 through August 31 was 92.3 per cent of the $3,873,500 the county commissioners anticipated in the entire fiscal year when they set the tax rate at $2.05 on each $100 of assessed valuation back in early April. Last year the rate was $1.95 which should account for some of the difference in collections between the two years.

Last month, Mr. Philpot's office at the Court House also collected $23,541.10 in state taxes. Some $8,639.86 came from real estate and $14,901.24 for corporations.

The office at the Court House also collects taxes for four special taxing areas of the county. Some $1,057.57 was collected for LaVale. That brings the LaVale collections for three months to $14,901.75, some $901.75 more than was anticipated in the entire fiscal year to pay interest and principal on bonds for that community's water needs.

Cresaptown's collections for August were $249.05, bringing the three-month yield since June 1 to $3,740.53, just $519.47 shy of the $4,260 needed in the entire fiscal year for water maintenance there.

August collections for Potomac Park were $88.40, bringing the three-month total to $955.45, just $44.55 less than the $1,000 needed in the entire fiscal year for street lights and fire protection.

1,081 For Mt. Savage

Collections for Mt. Savage in August reached $62.36, bringing the total to $1,081.10 in three months, $478.90 short of the $1,560 needed in the entire fiscal year for street lights.

Not all of the money received in August in Mr. Philpot's office was in 1963 taxes. Some $6,468.11 in 1962 county real estate, personal property and corporation taxes was received in August. Collections on 1962 state taxes in August totaled $627.61 and a total of $53.66 was received in 1962 taxes for the four special taxing areas.

Monthly totals since June when the tax bills were mailed, with the 1962 total listed first in each case:

June — $2,803,842.42 and $3,322,755.22; July — $118,915.56 and $137,057.84 and August — $123,394.86 and $115,237.76.

September is the last month for county taxpayers to pay their 1963 county and state taxes without interest. Interest, at the rate of one-half per cent per month, starts October 1.

Career Day To Be Held November 11

Guidance counselors of the eight public high schools of Allegany County yesterday began making plans for the second annual career day for high school juniors and seniors at Fort Hill High School on Monday, November 11, according to Jack A. Petry, supervisor of high schools.

The first career day was held last fall at Allegany High School and attracted much favorable comment. Some 40 consultants participated. Five major local industries, 15 colleges and the armed forces had representatives last year.

The guidance counselors have ascertained that more than 1,500 high school juniors and seniors want another career day this year, Mr. Petry said. November 11 has been chosen as the date because that is the next date for a half-day school session.

Virtually all of the consultants who participated last year have volunteered their services again this year.

Guidance counselors who participated in yesterday's planning meeting for career day included John R. Snyder and Paul J. Cuba, both Allegany; Ralph P. Wimer and Mrs. Delores Chase Morgan, both Fort Hill; Miss Jane H. Grindel and John D. Kelly, both Beall; Mrs. Catherine M. McGiboney, Bruce; Raymond R. Pomeroy, Mt. Savage; James D. Preaskorn, Valley; Ronald Sheally, Oldtown, and Mrs. Margaret S. Atkinson, Flintstone.

Teachers Here Will Discuss New Methods

Arithmetic, Reading Sessions Arranged

New approaches to the teaching of reading and arithmetic will be studied by interested elementary school teachers of Allegany County starting next week, according to the three county supervisors of elementary education, Miss Margaret E. Doak, Miss Elizabeth I. Flake and Miss Mary E. Straw.

Dr. Mary Downing, an education consultant with Ginn and Company, will be in Allegany County next Wednesday through Friday to conduct a series of demonstrations and discussion meetings concerning the teaching of reading.

Meanwhile, plans have been completed for the remaining 15 hours of an arithmetic workshop. Dr. Eddie E. Sage, chairman of the Department of Education of the New York University College at Buffalo, will be at Parkside School for three five-hour sessions which will be held on October 5, October 12 and November 2.

Dr. Downing will conduct six meetings, each in a different school, during her three-day visit to this county. On Wednesday, from 9:15 to 11 a.m., she will meet with the 28 elementary school principals at Gephart School. Her topic will be "The Principal's Role In An In-Service Reading Program."

She then will have five demonstration and discussion meetings, each for a cross-section of teachers from a different grade. On Wednesday from 2:15 until 4:30 p.m. she will meet at Northeast School with fifth grade teachers.

Dr. Downing will be at West Side School from 9:30 until 11 a.m. October 3 to confer with a group of second grade teachers. From 2:15 until 4:30 p.m. October 3 she will be at Parkside School for a meeting with fourth grade teachers.

Finally, Dr. Downing will confer with third grade teachers at Beall Elementary School from 9:30 until 11 a.m. October 4 and the same day from 2:15 until 4:30 p.m. with sixth graders at Mt. Royal School.

More than 50 elementary school teachers participated in an arithmetic workshop in June. They and other interested teachers are expected to complete the workshop at Parkside starting October 5.

Dr. Sage, a former member of the faculty at what is now Frostburg State College, will conduct the sessions from 8:30 a. m. until 1:30 p. m. on the three designated Saturdays. He is the co-author of a new arithmetic series entitled "Modern Arithmetic Through Discovery."

Two hours of college credit will be given to those teachers who participated in the June workshop and who attend the three fall sessions. All teachers who are interested in broadening their understanding of modern arithmetic are invited to attend.

Support Seen For Small Dams On Potomac

Washington Water Problem Aired

By FRANK E. TAYLOR

WASHINGTON (AP)—Plans for development of the Potomac River Basin drew support and some legal questioning Thursday in panel discussions.

Col. Roy S. Kelley, Baltimore District Army Engineer, told the 12th annual Commissioners' and Governors' Conference on Metropolitan Washington Problems that whatever is decided by the board of engineers will be a sound plan.

Kelley, who formulated the basin plan, said the thought has been advanced that the plan neglects the possibility that research may develop practical processes to help provide adequate supplies of good water in the Washington metropolitan area.

Most Feasible Plan

"But at this time, there are no cheaper, better alternatives" than the series of dams proposed, he added.

Brig. Gen. H. B. Holmes Jr., retired, former Virginia commissioner of water resources, raised legal questions concerning authorization of some of the proposed dams.

Of the 187 dams and reservoirs proposed in Virginia, he said, there has been found no authority under which 38 could be built.

Holmes told of the work of the Virginia Potomac River Committee headed by Gen. E. Walton Opie, publisher of the Staunton (Va.), Leader. He said he is convinced that no member has reached definite conclusions concerning their recommendations to Gov. Albertis S. Harrison Jr.

"Theirs is not an enviable task but we are all indebted to them," he said.

The Time Is Now

Holmes said perhaps a primary result from the Army Engineer proposals has been awakening of the people to take a good look at the problems.

Del. Hervey G. Machen of Prince Georges County, Md., and chairman of a legislative study committee on the Potomac, said development of the basin's water resources is needed to meet future needs.

"The time has come," he said, "when we can no longer disregard the warning of the Army Engineers on the water needs."

Gov. J. Millard Tawes of Maryland and Lt. Gov. Mills Godwin of Virginia attended the session of the conference at which Gov. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon made the principal address.

Hatfield said there should be more efforts toward encouraging local action on local matters in metropolitan areas.

Praise For Maryland

The Oregon governor had a word of praise for Virginia and Maryland.

"Gov. Harrison's Commonwealth has pioneered in far-seeing state legislation of local import," Hatfield said. "Annexation, city-county consolidation, and the present legislative study of local government seem to me to exemplify some of the constructive steps the states must take. . .

"Other state action should parallel that of Maryland, where Gov. Tawes was so instrumental in initiating a Baltimore Metropolitan Area Study Committee. I hope that the mandatory study commission required for the Portland metropolitan area by action of our legislature will find the same enthusiastic reception I am told is true in Baltimore."

Urban Renewal Applications Clear Hurdle

Applications of the Cumberland Urban Renewal Agency for planning funds have been approved by the Philadelphia office of the Urban Renewal Administration, William F. DeMare, executive director, learned yesterday.

He was advised that the local projects have been approved by the Philadelphia office and sent to Washington for final approval, authorization and reservation of funds.

The applications, submitted July 10, were for a $133,147 allocation to cover the cost of preparing a general neighborhood renewal plan for the center of the city, and for $122,366 to cover the cost of making surveys and preparing definite plans for the proposed George Street urban renewal project.

The George Street project would be the first part of the proposed 10-year project for the general neighborhood renewal plan covering the central part of the city between the B&O and Western Maryland lines from the Narrows to Oldtown Road.

The proposed George Street project is one of five sections in which the center of the city project would be divided.

The second section would be the South Mechanic Street project, the third the North Centre Street project and the fourth and fifth the Centre, Valley, East and West sections.

Two Leap From Truck

Two Ohio men who jumped from the cab of a runaway tractor trailer yesterday on the Pennsylvania Turnpike near Allegheny Mountain were reported in "fair" condition last night at Bedford County Memorial Hospital.

They are Glen Couts, 25, of Newcomerstown, Ohio, and Paul Myers, also 25, of Port Washington, Ohio. The speed of the rig was estimated at 75 miles an hour when the two men leaped from the truck, authorities said.

The tractor trailer traveled off the eastbound berm into an embankment, according to police, who said the estimated damage to the tractor was $10,000 and about $3,000 damage to the trailer.

Tawes Asks U.S. Aid For Farmers

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes asked Thursday that farmers in 10 Maryland counties be allowed to purchase livestock feed at reduced rates through the federal government.

He requested the Secretary of Agriculture to approve such aid for Allegany, Baltimore, Calvert, Carroll, Charles, Frederick, Howard, Montgomery, St. Marys and Washington counties as a measure of drought relief.

Under the program, eligible producers are allowed to obtain grain through the Commodity Credit Corp. at 75 per cent of its support rate.

Tawes said the relief is badly needed now to stabilize the state's corn market and to prevent large scale liquidation of dairy and beef herds.

Following the luncheon will be a business meeting presided over by Mr. Coleman. Representing the Cumberland Unitarian Fellowship will be Mrs. Gerald Daurelle and Harry Gilbert.

Digester Process Related By Miller

Details of the plan worked out for cleaning secondary digesters at the Cumberland Sewage Treatment Plant are outlined by William F. Miller, plant foreman, in the current issue of the Maryland Municipal News.

The article relates how plant personnel, aided by Street Department workers, installed recirculating lines and added enzymes which reduced deposits of greases and undigestible residues to a slurry which could be pumped through previously installed outlet lines.

Mr. Miller estimated costs of the operation will be about $2,000, including the cost of hauling away the residue, as opposed to commercial bids ranging from

Heart Attack Is Cause Of Man's Death

A heart attack was blamed for the death of Clark Merrill Railey, 50, of Star Route, Oakland, who was found dead Wednesday about 11 p. m. at a tavern on Deep Creek Lake, the sheriff's office at Oakland reported.

Sheriff James E. Frantz said Railey had been trying to "fight another man in the tavern" but the latter avoided an altercation.

Sometime during the melee, the sheriff said, Railey evidently fell. When he arrived at the scene, Stone Tavern, the man was on the floor and was bleeding from the nose, the sheriff said.

Railey may have struck his head in his fall, according to the sheriff who said an autopsy was performed and death was blamed on a heart attack.

A native of Avilton Mr. Railey was a son of Charles and Edith (Merrill) Railey of Star Route, Oakland.

Mr. Railey was a veteran of World War II having served in Europe and was a member of the Carpenters and Joiners Union, Washington, and of Proctor-Kildow Post 71, American Legion, Oakland.

Besides his parents he is survived by a son, Larry Railey, Reedsville, W. Va.; three sisters, Mrs. Marjorie Hamill and Mrs. Helen Hinebaugh, both of Oakland and Mrs. Mary Ruth Bittinger, Baltimore.

Also surviving are four brothers, Earle and James Railey, both of Star Route, Oakland; Robert Railey, Camp Springs, and Charles Railey, Baltimore.

The body is at the Minnich Funeral Home in Oakland, where a service will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. with Rev. Charles P. Anderson of Deep Creek Baptist Church officiating. Interment will be in Garrett County Memorial Gardens.

Friends will be received at the funeral home from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m. today.

Hearing Today In Shoplifting

A Richmond man who was arrested Wednesday in connection with two cases of shoplifting will be given a hearing today at 10 a.m. in Police Court.

Raymond Murray, who recently completed a 10-day sentence on a similar count, was charged in a warrant Wednesday with taking an electric iron from the S&H Green Stamp store, North Mechanic Street, and six uniforms from the G. C. Murphy Company.
